Just pause for a moment and consider what "Pap" Rourke and his family have been up against since the season began. First of all, they have been playing on foreign fields, and that's a big handicap in itself. But looming up so prominently that this handicap is nearly lost in the shadow is the series of accidents that has come to the Omaha catchers. Eddie Lauzon was the first unfortunate. He had his hand battered all out of shape in the second hand battered all out of shape in the second game with Denver. That left the backstop work all to young Phil Glade and the lad playing his first season of professional ball at that. It's no wonder he lost his norve in contemplation of such responsibility. Out in Colorado Springs Glade had one of his talons broken and it was only fallo boy the winner. bility. Out in Colorado Springs Glade had by the exercise of splendid fortitude that he was able to stick in the game.

Buckley, the grand old patriarch, joined the team at St. Joseph and essayed to do the backstop work under conditions that militated strongly against him. He had scarcely any practice and it was out of the question for him to accomplish his ordinary performance. Added to it all, Buckley was chiropodized by a Kansas City runner while trying to prevent the Missourian from pass-

Rift in the Cloud.

But there is a rift in this cloud which has hung so darkly over the backstop department of the Rourke aggregation. Gonding, one of the stars in the American league during the days when Jimmy Manning rathe Kansas City team, is now on the Omah catching staff and took part in his first game yesterday. President Rouke has bee after Gonding for a long time-ever since he got control of the Omaha franchise, in fact. The new catcher is not much of sticker, but his defects in that direction are more than made up by his splendie backstop work. In 1899 Gonding led the American league catchers in his work be hind the bat, with a percentage of .983. Hi nelding percentage in 1900 was .943.

Either Coons or Graham will pitch the opening game here. Both of these twirler arrived from Kansas City and have been putting in their time to good advantage since their return. With the tremendous incentive which the Omahas will have to win the first game, it's almost a cinch that they will be able to turn the trick, and Myron McKibben's collection of Saints might just as well resign themselves to the Certain There Must Be Something fate that awaits them.

Omaha will be represented at the lowa state bowling tournament which is now in progress at Des Moines. The following local bowlers leave this morning in response to the cordial invitation extended them by the officers of the lowa Bowlers' association: F. J. "We do not expect to beat the lowar champions," said W. H. Emery, who will exptain the Omaha team. "Omaha didn't afrange to attend the tournament until a few days ago and it was impossible to form a team composed or the best bowlers in the city. The men who are going over are all fairly good tengin players, but they have never been handed together in a team and their attendance is more for the purpose of getting acquainted with the lowar bowlers and laying the foundation for some thaire interstate tournament.

"If the Boone team carries off the lowar championship? It will cause most of the local bewlers to believe that we have better players here than there are ever in lowa. The Boone team visited Omaha ast winter and proved to be easy money for three of the local teams—the Kring Parks, Gate Citys and Omahas beating them easily. Still it is probable that the Boone team has improved consinerably since its visit to Omaha and it might make any of the crack teams of this city lump to beat it at this time."

Quarters for the Boys.

The decision of the directors to cut up the auditorium and put in a game room, reading room and parlor on the east, and locker and bathrooms on the west side gave the association for the first time a well-arranged and splendidly-furnished suite of rooms for the use of the boys. It also leaves a small hall, seating 250, available for boys' Sunday meetings, boys' receptions and other purposes. For the furnishing of these rooms the association is indebted to the women of the various churches and to the small band of faithful friends who brought this about. Two receptions for working boys were attended by 500. Two receptions for schoolboys were attended by 600. Nine gymnasium classes per week were conducted for the elementaries, intermediates and working boys. Thirty-one Sunday afternoon meetings were held, with a total attendance of 2,379, an average of 76, an increase of 35 per cent over the previous year. The cost of the improvements and furnishing was $900. December 1 Albert Goldsmith, a graduate of the junior department, was engaged to look after the boys' department.

The gymnasium has been kept at a high standard as to conduct and care and improved by needed apparatus, mats, etc. The last has been one of the most popular years the gymnasium has had and the interest and attendance has been gratifying During the year, there were 953 classes. with a total attendance of 25,628, an inincrease over the previous year of 36 per ical examinations were made and twentyseven entertainments were attended by over 4,000. Forty-two basket ball teams were organized among the various classes of men and boys and regular schedules followed. This game has gained a great hold among the gymnasium men and is especially popular with the business men. At Twenty-fifth street and Ames avenue the athletic park was open from May to September. Base ball, tennis and track and field athletics were sources of enjoyment to the members. Although the park has been a financial failure, the association has decided to continue it another season, with the hope that the use of the privileges on the part of the members will Mary justify it being made a permanent feature. During the year gospel meetings for men were held every Sunday afternoon with an average attendance of 140. Five bible classes for men were conducted with an enrollment of seventy-eight and a total attendance of 561, average attendance of thirty-five at the seventy-eight sessions. Twenty-one noon meetings were held, with a total attendance of 329. Seven special noon meetings had an attendance of 876.

The Volunteer league held monthly meetings and raised $575 for the missionary work of the international committee. Twenty young men were referred to pastors for church membership. In the employment bureau 250 men asked aid in finding work and 120 calls were re-
