PRESIDENT BURT'S OUTING

Chief Executive of Union Pacific is Expected Home Scoa.

COMPLETES HIS OVERLAND INSPECTION

Private Car Goes to 'Frisco to Carry Mr. Burt Back to Omaha-Work Progresses on the Los Angeles Extension.

President Horace G. Burt is expected home this week from his trip across the Los Angeles extension of the Union Pacific system. The dispatches Saturday located him in San Francisco and his private car, No. 100, is in the west to bring him home It is expected, however, that he will stop over in Salt Lake City for a short conference with the officials of the Oregon Short Line, under whose immediate direction the line is being buth. Apparently the trip was made according to original plans, for President Burt went south over the line from Salt Lake City as for as the rails extend, a short distance south of Uvada. There he took the trail in company with Kilpatrick Bros. of Heatrice, who have been large contractors for the Union Pacific, making the remainder of the trip by wagon.

Information concerning the inspection party is meagre at headquarters, several of the officials affirming that nothing has been heard from them from the time they left civilization or the end of the constructed railroad. Late last week came the dispatches from Los Angeles that President Burt and the Kilpatricks had arrived there, having left their team when they struck the Santa Fe, near Barstow.

Trackinging Progresses.

Information from Salt Lake City is to the effect that tracklaying on the extension has now reached a point twenty miles south of Uvada. The surveyors will start in this the whiffletrees are fastened to the tongue week on the cross sectioning of the line below Clover Junction, an indication that of a licensed engineer to get them off. Then the plans for the work must have found the tongue itself is held to the wagon by a favor in the eyes of the president, who cer- single bolt. Should the threads on the tainly went over the route at the instance of the owners of the systm. President Burt has crossed a rough country and his friends here expect to see the an alarm. The ladders are eight feet in effects of the trip in his personal appear-In fact he has been quoted as saying that he would like to lose about twenty pounds of avolrdupois on the trip, as he the children in the neighborhood to play was getting too stout for comfort. A surveyor who worked on the map which is being followed in the present work, recently described the country through which the road will pass as a hard one.

The plats show three distinct summits which must be crossed. The soil is made up test one, and the wagon rides easily, and largely of soft rock and loose dirt, while the road will pass close to large beds of answer the purpose. Chief Etter proposes salt, soda and sliver ore. The engineer denied the statement which has been generally circulated that when Clover Junction was passed it would be comparatively easy work. He said that the characteristics of the country are such that it will be hard work building the lower end of the line.

South Omaha News.

At 6:20 o'clock last night the remains of Herbert J. Orange arrived in South Omaha and were placed in charge of Undertaker George H. Brewer. The haste with which the remains were laid to rest at Springfield caused considerable unfavorable comment

Investigation shows that Orange was walking south on the Union Pacific tracks in order to join a fishing party, and just below Avery he heard a train whistle. The train was No. 101, the Union Pacific fast mail. He stepped to the wrong track and was probably instantly killed the moment he was hit by the engine.

This accident occurred shortly after 9 o'clock Saturday morning, but the fact was not reported to the headquarters of the police in South Omaha until after midnight. As the accident occurred in Sarpy county the officials there were apprised of the fact and took charge of the remains. The body was interred at Springfield without giving any friends or relatives a chance to identify the remains, and the consequence was that a disinterment was necessary.

In relating the circumstances Dr. Betts of Bellevue, the county coroner, said: "Herbert Orange was killed by a train at Avery Saturday morning. I found the body between the tracks, about 500 yards west of Avery. In searching the body I found a memorandum book containing the names of a number of people, but I did not find his name. The initials on his collar were J. O. B., but I found later that it was his brother's collar he had on. Rev. Crambiett of the Christian church of South Omaha called on me and from his identification I am sat isfled that the body is the remains of young Orange. After looking over the ground and reception to Jacob Jaskalek, the recently viewing the remains I ordered the county undertaker, Frank Comp of Springfield, to come and get the body. Comp secured the body and removed it to Springfied, where it was interred."

Dr. Betts was asked the question if that was not a hasty movement on his part, especially as there was no identification up to that time, and he replied: "There was no identification and I could not possibly have waited until the news got out."

When asked about an inquest, the coroner replied: "The reason for not holding ar inquest was that there was no suspicion of unlawful means of death and the statutes provide that an inquest shall be held only when there is suspicion of unlawful means of death. I regret the early burial by the undertaker, but I had no means to prevent it. We have had differences over this mathim to hold a body until the customary time the building and advertise for contracts. clapses, but he has declined to do so, giving as his reason that he has no means of preserving corpses."

Continuing, Dr. Betts said: "As I understand it, the train stopped and a flagman was sent back and everything possible was done, but the man was dead." describing the injuries Dr. Betts said that the right leg was broken and there was also a compound fracture of the same limb. The left leg was dislocated and the same was the condition of the right shoulder. The back of the head was practically crushed. After being struck by the en gine Orange was thrown on the track and his face and breast badly scratched. These injuries were trivial, however, as compared with the fracture at the base of the brain. Funeral services will be held at W. D. Godfrey. On Tuesday the remains the First Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock will be taken to Plattsmouth for interment.

In an interview County Undertaker Frank Comp at Springfield said that he obtained possession of the body at about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon and that he did no know whether an inquest had been held cr not. All he knew was that he was directed to secure the remains and inter them. Further, Mr. Comp said that he had no means of keeping a body and thereinstituting an investigation into the methods pursued by certain county officials in garpy county, and it is understood that this can be done by securing the aid of the district court.

societies, four uniformed bands and 100 little girls and young women, clad in dainty white, St. John's society of St. Mary's Behemian Catholic church yesterday afternoon began the ceremonies of dedication of its handsome new silk flag. The South Omaha societies at 1:30 p. m. formed at St. Mary's church, Twenty-third and U streets, and marched to Twentyfourth and J streets to meet the visiting societies from Omaha. This was the order of parade then formed: First Division—Band and societies asso-iated with St. Wenceslaus Bohemian Catholic church of Omaha, which are St. John, St. Wenceslaus, St. James, St. Cyrille

John, St. Wenceslaus, St. James, St. Cyrine and St. Prokop.
Second Division—Band and societies associated with St. Joseph's Catholic church of Omaha, which includes St. Peter's and St. Paul's societies.

Third Division—Band and societies associated with the Polish Church of the Immaculate Conception of Omaha and St. Prancis' Polish Catholic church of this city.

Fourth Division-Franck's band, the hemian Turners and the associate societies of St. James. St. Peter, St. Paul and St. John of St. Mary's Bohemian Catholic hurch of this city, and 100 girls and young women, all prettily dressed in white. The parade marched to the church. where the dedicatory exercises began with addresses by Mrs. Katherine Matcha and M. Davit, concluding with the celebration of mass in the church, with Rev. Father John Vranek of Omaha as celebrant, assisted by Rev. Anton Bednars of this city. So great was the crowd that the mass was repeated that all might have the priv-lege of attending. From the church the parade marched to Franck's hall at Twentiern and S streets, where the balance of the afternoon was spent with music, addresses, refreshments and sociability. President John Prusha of the society presided.

Alterations Seeded.

While then w hose wagon purchased for the fire hall in the old Second ward is according to specifications and has been acepted by the council, some changes will be needed before it can be placed in service. The wagon was built to order and the fault, if there is any, rests with the officials who looked over the plans. In the first place in such a manner as to require the services screw wear, which they will do, the team would be gone and the wagon wrecked, in case the accident occurred while answering length and will reach to the top of some coal sheds here. Chief Etter said that he thought he would take the ladders home for with, as he considered them useless on the wagon. The tool box, which was specified in the contract, is almost large enough to hold a small sized monkey-wrench and is not big enough to carry two hitching straps for the team. One run has been made, a aside from the defects mentioned will to have a number of alterations made before the wagon is placed in service.

Corcoran Returns. John Corcoran, the young man whom the police allege is bandy with his pen, and who deliberately walked out of the court room a day or two ago after being bound over for forgery, is again in custody. After Corcoran made his escape his friends saw that he had made a mistake and he was advised to return and surrender himself. This he did and he is now at liberty after furnishing a bond in the sum of $500, which holds him to appear in the district court when called

This poor service is especially noticeable during the rush hours of the day and after dark.

Street Fair Managers Busy.

The managers of the Street Fair company have ordered 2,500 lapel buttons to be used in advertising the fair. The design will be unique, and it is thought that there will be quite a demand for the buttons, especially as they will be given away. Ac cording to the reports of the subscription committees, there is now $7,500 in sight and the fair will more than likely be success. The entertainment committee is kept busy listing applications for concessions and a big time is predicted here for the first half of July.

Workmen Reception.

Tuesday evening the local Ancient Order of United Workmen lodges will tender a elected grand master workman of the state. Among the distinguished guests will be George M. Murdock, grand foreman, Nebraska City; S. R. Barton, grand recorder, Aurora; Frank J. Morgan, grand receiver. Plattsmouth, and others. A big delegation will come down from Omaha and will be met by an escort and band at Twenty-fourth and J streets, where a procession will be formed. The reception will be held in the Workmen hall, Twenty-sixth and N streets.

School Board Tonight. At an adjourned meeting of the Board o Education to be held tonight some decisive steps will doubtless be taken in regard to erection of the proposed High school

James S. McNally, American Consul General, Stope in Omaha.

WILL SPEND A VACATION AT HOME

Mr. McNally Talks Entertainingly of Affairs in Gostemala and Says that Country Offers Many Opportunities for Industry.

Hon. James S. McNally, American consul general at Guatemala, is in the city and will be here for two or three days. He is on his way to his home in Pittsburg and expects to remain in the United States for three or four months. He has been in Omaha before and stopped to renew recollections and acquaintances in this city. On his way east from San Francisco he fell in at Ogden with E. M. Coffin, a Lincoln banker, who was with him in Omaha yesterday, Mr. McNally was formerly consul general at Bogota, but for the last year and a half has been representing this government at Guatemala.

"I am surprised to note," said he discussing the country in which he is located, "that a great many people in the United States seem to consider Guatemala as a disturbing element among the republies of the south, and that the people there are subject to the frequent disturbances so common in Spanish-Central American countries, but nothing could be further from the truth. Guatemala is in a state of the utmost tranquillity. The new president, Manual Estrada Cabiera, is young, energetic, progressive, and favors the encouragement of foreign investment in the resources of that country. ## DISPOSES OF CASES RAPIDLY LEAGUE HAS A BIRTHDAY

Judge Duffe Speaks of Work Being Accomplished by Supreme Court Commission.

Judge E. R. Duffle, who presides over division No. 3, says that the supreme court commission is disposing of about eighty cases at a sitting. These cases are referred to the supreme court and the opinthe opinions of the court.

The procedure adopted by the commission is similar to that in the supreme court, all the members of a division hearing the referring it to one member to write an So far in division No. 3 only one case has been sent to the supreme court in which the opinions of the commissioners were divided, and in this case the division was along the line of procedure and not of opinions will be submitted to the court, one from the majority and the other from the dissenting member

At the rate of eighty cases at a sitting and two sittings a month, it would require about two years for the supreme court docket to be cleared were no other cases filed, but in the opinion of Judge Duffle the commission cannot maintain this rate, as many of the cases disposed of have been where appeals were taken solely for the purpose of gaining time and the appellants made no appearance when the cases were called. So far it is estimated 20 per cent of the cases before the commission have been of this character and the majority of these have been foreclosure cases from Douglas county, the trials being had four or five years ago.

Some of the people interested in the matter think that there will not be so many appeals now that the court is in shape to pass upon them in a short time, but again it is suggested that many cases have not been appealed on account of the delay it would entail, and that one class will balance the other so that the number of cases carried up each year will be practically the
