Indian Comes to Court, but Cannot Keep Sober Enough to Testify.

HE IS SENT TO JAIL TO BRACE UP

Red Man's Ingovernable Appetite for Things Alcoholic is Revealed on Arrest of an Omaha Lad for Purnishing Liquor.

An amusing incident resulted from the arrest of young Howard Hall, an Omaha boy, Wednesday on the charge of supplying tederal court. The boy was taken before graceful art of declamation. Commissioner Anderson in the afternoon for examination. His father accompanied Marshal Jim Alien was quite sure that he was at fault. Police Officers Sauer and Fahey related how, last Friday morning, they had seen young Hall talking to some Indians down on Capitol avenue near the government building, and that Hall had subsequently gone away with one of the Indians, who is due time turned up drunk.

One of the Indians mixed up in the case is Frank Leaming. He is a type of the Omaha tribe in appearance, and is a typical Indian of all tribes, in that he has an ungovernable appetite for whisky. Leaming was one of the aborigines to whom Hall was seen talking and is the same with whom he is said to have gone away. He had been brought down to Omaha as a witness in a case which came up last Friday, and when the case was called, Leaming was too drunk to testify, wherefore, Deputy Marshal Allen says, the government failed to convict a culprit on several of the counts charged against him for selling liquor to Indians. Leaming was arrested for drunkenness and lay in the city jail for several days. He was out again vesterday, however, but when he was wanted as a witness in the case against young Hall, he was again found too drunk to testify.

Byen Like Balls of Fire.

As he sat in the court while the hearing was going on he looked very much like a piece of animated bronze statuary except that he was reasonably well dressed and wore a dreamy, leering expression with flaming eyes. Howard Frost, an intelligent redskin, told the story of how young Hall led Frank away, and how when he returned, he had a bottle of whisky. Then David Wells, another Indian, took the stand and by means of a few gutturals and grunts, which were interpreted by Frost, told the court of Leaming's meeting with Hall, and how when Leaming came back from his stroll with Hall he had a bottle of whisky, from which the witness was given a generous swig or two. That's what I wanted to bring out," ejaculated Deputy Marshal Allen, who was conducting the campaign for information by means of a shower of questions. There was a happy light in the deputy's eyes as he said this that boded no good to the besotted redman.

"Come up here, Leaming." flercely commanded Commissioner Anderson. The culprit nonchalantly staggered around a table and took his place in the chair in front of the frowning court. He sighed deeply now and then with the weight of the overpowering jag that was crushing his spirits.

The bronze statue that posed as a culprit was not cast down by the court' stern rebuke in the least. In fact, he did not seem to know that he was the subject of the conversation, and when Deputy Allen sternly commanded him to come along and begin his term of servitude in the county jail, Learning did it as if it were a matter of course.

It will be some time before the companionable redskin will be permitted to return to his native haunts, and when he does he will probably go back sober. Howard Hall was discharged with stern lecture by the court, which the father did not evidently seem to appreciate, owing to the slight conclusiveness of the testimony that the boy had furnished the Indians the whisky.

Considerable is being written in an uptown sheet about the adoption of the plat of Spring Lake park addition, as submitted by Ed Johnston, Martin and Dworak seem to think that they have a grievance against Johnston because the city council was reorganized and they were left off of some of the important committees. City Notifies School oBard.

In accordance with a resolution adopted by the city council at the instigation of the Board to pay $189 as a portion of the expense of the school election last April. What prompted Miller to come to long enough to write the motion he did is a mystery, but what is more surprising is the matter is now one of record. Never in the history of the city has the school district been called upon to pay any portion of the expense of an election, but it appears that Miller deals.

Floth suggested that they return and give Fee some finishing touches. The three boys went back to where the drunken man lay and Floth struck and kicked him several head, either of which would have been sufficient to cause death. He was left in an unconscious condition and the next morning a street car conductor on his way to work discovered the dead body.

ARRANGING SPECIAL NIGHTS

Each Fraternal Organization to Hav Its Own Night at Bellstedt Concerts.

The musical festival committee, having sent out invitations to the several fraternal organizations of the city to name a night apiece that they would have for their own during the Belistedt concerts, is receiving favorable responses. The dates asked for are being considered by the committee and arranged so that none will conflict.

It is important for all these fraterna orders to know that on each special evening the Belistedt band will open and close its program with the hymn or ode that has been adopted for lodge use by the organization present on that particular evening. Ten minutes will be allowed on each of these evenings for each organization to put forward some favorite orator to present the especial advantages of his own order to the public. All organizations that have not selected their evening should communicate at once with Anton Hospe, chairman of the musical festival com
