The annual election of the Council Bluffs Woman's club will take place next Saturday afternoon. There are several candidates for the presidency and considerable electioneering is being done by them and their friends. The contest, it is said, over this office promises to be quite exciting. Mrs. Walter I. Smith, wife of Congressman Smith, is being prominently talked of for president and is said to have a large following. One faction in the club is urging Mrs. James McCabe to be a candidate, but up to this time she has declined. Miss Maude Smith is also being favorably mentioned as a candidate.

for Encampment-Regrets Over Company L.

Adjutant General Byers, who was in the city between trains on his way home to Des Moines, suggested to Captain Tinley that the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association or the Commercial committee act for the city in the matter of the contracts for the brigade encampment. The adjutant general explained that the state preferred to deal with some such organization when entering into contracts, and it would then have only one party to deal with. Adjutant General Byers also stated that the $1 000 which the city had agreed to subscribe must be in the bank by next week, at the latest. Of this amount $750 has been already paid in.

The adjutant general will be in Council Bluffs in about a week, when he expects to find the contract for the encampment grounds signed and everything in shape so that he can arrange for securing bids on the supplies that will be needed for the He will give out blank contracts. specifying the articles and the amount needed to the firms desiring to bid on sup-

At the previous inspection the company put up a splendid drill and I suppose that lack of interest in the work by the boys was responsible for the poor showing last night. The company ought to have done better, as its captain is one of the best officers in the Iowa National guard."

Captain Tinley, although disappointed over the showing made by the company, was offering any excuses yesterday. He had expected the boys would fall down below the grade obtained last year, as the attendance recently at drill had been anything but satisfactory. He looks for better things now, as he believes the boys will take a renewed interest and that by the time the brigade encampment comes around the company will be back to its former

TWO CHURCHES ARE CROWDED

Grand Army Men and Woman's Relief The memorial services held last night by the Anti-Cigarette league, will meet the ministers of the city this morning at the public, and the Woman's Relief corps, at last night at the Second Presbyterian St. Francis Xavier's church, and those held by the Union Veteran Legion at the First St. Francis Xavier's church presented a rations and drapings. On each side of the pews were decorated with bunting in the national colors. An immense flag floated over the main entrance.

The musical program was opened with the rendition of "The Star-Spangled Banner" by Miss Lange and the choir, followed by Tenting on the Old Camp Ground," sung by James Mulqueen, with the choir joining in the chorus. A double quartet consisting of Mrs. Covalt, Miss Wright, Miss Porterfield, Mrs. Mullis, altos; Herbert Deming. J. Mulqueen, tenors; C. B. Aitchison, J. H Simms, bassos, rendered Barnaby's "Now the Day is Over." At the close of the services the congregation sang "America." Father Smyth, in his address, paid an eloquent tribute to the old soldiers and the flag which they had fought for, and he admonished his audience to hand it down unsullied to their children and children's children.

Fifty men of the congregation, headed by band, escorted the old soldiers and the hall to the church.

At the First Christian church the servces of the Union Veteran legion were under the direction of W. H. Spera, colonel of Following the usual custom, vacant chairs, draped and with the names of the deceased members, were placed in front of the pulpit. Following the reading of the roll of honor by Adjutant Scott Rice a brief address was made by Judge Carson, who, referred to the fact that members of the legion were rapidly passing away and that it was right that their memories should be revered. Colonel W. S. Paulson paid a tribute to the noble and unselfish sacrifices. Their presence was an inspiration to the men and their the men in the field.

to the rising generation. Congressman Walter I. Smith, in his address, compared the causes leading up to the revolutionary war and the war of the rebellion. He said it was not to abolish slavery that caused the war of 1861, but to preserve the union. The evolution of public sentiment, however, in the whirlwind of strife, made slavery the cause of the strife and that its abolishment alone could preserve the union. It was this sentiment that drove the men of the north to be soldiers of human liberty. "It would have availed little if the reunited parts of the union had to be pinned together by bayonets," he said. "The union is now cemented by common bonds of feeling, as was evidenced in the war with Spain, when sons of soldiers of the confederate and union armies fought side by side under Old Glory."

In concluding he referred to the fact that in the fifteen years of the organization of the local encampment of the Union Vet-

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, May 26 .- (Special.) -- There were nine republican county conventions held in Iowa last week and there will be a dozen this week. Thus far Cummins has about 275 delegates instructed or conceded to him, while Harriman has thirty-one instructed, and Herriott has fifteen. There are about fifty delegates selected uninstructed. During the week insturctions for Cummins were given in Dickinson, Ida, Stoux, Carroll and Plymouth counties, all in the northwestern part of the state. Poweshiek, in the Sixth district, also instructed for Cummins. Taylor and Humboldt selected uninstructed delegations. Guthrie started the boom for John Herriott by authorizing him to select his delegates, which he has not yet done. During the present week Dallas, Winnebago, Buena Vista, Lyon and Palo Alto will instruct for Mr. Cummins. Hancock will select a Harriman delegation. In Page, Grundy, Marshall, Kossuth, Wayne and Hardin there may be no instructions on governor, but instructions particularly in Hardin Page and Wayne on supreme Judge. Nearly one-third of the delegates will have been Decoration day:

Carroll county senatorial contest the Greene county friends of Hon. B. F. Osborn of Rippey are insisting upon his candidacy for the office and he has consented to allow the use of his name. Republicans to this locality, while many believe Mr. Garst had the best of the fight in Carroll, think that a new man should be nominated and thus do away with the danger of defeat at the polls, this district being nominally close. Mr. Osborn was former regent of the State university. He has been a warm supporter of Mr. Garst since early in the campaign and, while not desiring to antagronize the senator's interest, is willing to sarcifice his personal ideas for harmony in the republican ranks. The senatorial for convention will be in this city July 9.

The Iowa law which makes it an oftense or anyone to have in his possession any imitation butter, colored yellow like butter, has been declared unconstitutional by Judge Blair in court in Delaware county. The grand jury, at the instance of the state dairy commission, had James G. Cousins, the postmaster of Earlville, indicted for "knowingly having in his possession for use in his family an imitation butter, the same being a substance colored and disguised to resemble yellow butter, as a substitute for butter, the said substance being in packages plainly marked oleomar garine and duly stamped with the United States revenue stamps." To this indictment the defendant demurred and the court sustained the demurrer and discharged Mr. Cousins. The case will be appealed and the validity of the law finally tested by the anti-compact law, which prohibits agreements among insurance companies as to rates or other matters. Under the lowa law it is illegal for two or more insurance men to get together and discuss rates or a division of business, and it is impossible for them to employ inspectors or ratemakers or work together in any way. The state is being thoroughly organized by the insurance agents and they expect to be able to secure repeal of the obnoxious law at the next session of the legislature. The headquarters of the association formed for this purpose is in this city.

lown's Riches.

Reports of assessors from two western Iowa counties show that the state is gaining in wealth. Outside and not including the railroads, the total wealth of Mills county, both personal and real, according to the assessors' figures, is $16,458,664, Farming lands is the largest item-some 264,562 acres of taxable land is given : valuation of $11,092,908, or an average of about $42 an acre. This is $2 an acre more than the value placed on lands two years ago. The personal property of Mills county foots up to $3,721,876, showing an increase of $250,000 over last year. Of this sum Mills county's live stock forms a good share, her cattle and horses being worth about $1,400,000. The report from Audubon county is equally gratifying. The asses sors' books show an increase in the actual value of real estate of $1,470,614 over 1900 and, in personal property of $427,602, not including railroad, telegraph, telephone and express companies' property, in round numbers. The 275,244 acres of farm land was assessed at $10,769,572, a trifle over $39.12 per acre. This is the actual farm acreage not including roads, school houses and
