They also witnessed a complete retrievel of yesterday's defeat at the hands of the Des Moines aggregation, for when the last man up had come and gone the score was 10 to 2, with the lowans at the short end of the stick.

At no time during the game did the visitors have even a glimpse of victory, for the locals led off with three scores in the St. Louis . first inning, and their lead, constantly increasing, was never threatened. But it wasn't the fault of Pitcher Glade, who did excellent work for the Hawkeyes in most respects. He struck out ten men and allowed but six hits. His weakness was pitching the ball into his opponents at the place. Five times did he send the sphere against various portions of divers first inping, and their lead, constantly in-Omahans, but Umpire Popkay thought that only two of the blows were good enough for a base, so the recklessness was not so the support rendered their star twirler by the lowaus was uncertain, and in many places lamentably poor. Eight errors were tallied against the nine, and Shortstop Thiel took four of them. Then several of these mistakes were rucial, Glade himself making a wild throw to first base in the third inning that let the runner circle the bases entire, and Catcher Connell missing the third strike on one occasion, inexcusably losing an out.

Omaha's Good Record. In contrast to this work, Omaha played a game that was almost errorless. Only one footle was made, and that by Captain Stewart. who butterfingered a grounder early in the game. Herman was in the box and proved very popular with the crowd. Seven hits were made off him, but they were so situated as to be inconsequenin about every instance.

It was double play day for Omaha. In the fourth inning, when Connell was standing on first base. Polchow put a grounder Stewart, and the ball quickly flew from there to Toman on the second bag and Then in the sixth the two men who scouted second base turned the thing around the other way. Toman took the grounder, right from Hines' bat, and tossed it to Stewart. The captain held it just long enough for Mr. Popkay to see that McVicker hadn't skated down from first in time, and then he lined it along to Colhoun, who caught the ball and then held it up for the inspection of Hines, who was racing to from the batter's box trying Toman was the conspicuous man yesterday, not only for his playing, but also on account of a little exhibition of grit and nervo. The other day over at Des Moines Letcher threw a ball in from right field towards the little shortstop. Toman wasn't looking and the sphere struck him in the looking and the sphere struck him in the breast. That started an abcess and it grew rapidly worse, until yesterday morning Toman decided to get it fixed. At 1 Frisk in the fifth inning. Dolah's work at abort was the feature. From the talk of the sports and the yards of blue and white ribbons that have disappeared from the notion counters, the game between Creighton and Minnesota this afternoon at the Young Men's Christion association park is going to be a mighty big affair. This will be the first time that the Gophers have ever played in Omaha, and this, combined with the popularity the Creighton aggregation has attained, means a great athletic event. Hammeral and Captain Freeman, whose pitching powers defeated Nebraska Saturday, will do the twirling for the Minnesotans and big Captain "Hony" Welch will do some of his terrific throwing for the social team. His arm has almost totally recovered from the hard luck of the Highland Park game and the Creighton backers are betting that the northerners will fall to connect with his slants and bendere. A great number of distinguished Omahans have been invited to attend this closing game of Creighton season, and among the honorary officials of today's game are: Count Creighton, President Dowling and Mayor Moores. Tolatol and the Scientists. OMAHA. June 2.—To the Editor of The Bee: Count Leo Tolstol has denounced Christian Science. Reports to this effect remind one of Tolstol's reply to the writ of excommunication from the Greek Orth-odox church, reported in The Bee of May Count Tolstoi defends himself ably, and this is not surprising, since he has the truth on his side in his fight for free speech and more liberality in the church, but the position he takes upon biblical history, especially his denial of the trinity and the immaculate conception of Jesus, shows to what extent this great scholar has failed to spiritually interpret scripture.

Though very wise and very learned, if he does not accept what is plainly taught in the scriptures, it does not follow that these teachings are faise.

In your issue of June 2 you report what Tolstoi has said about Christian Science. He calls it "a baneful revival of mediacyal ignorance," speaks of if as having "spirit apparitions," etc., "calculated to promote religious hysteria and encourage millions of weak-minded creatures to follow the despicable movement." Count Tolstoi defends himself ably, an of weak-minded creatures to follow the despicable movement."

Such an outburst of condemnation, coming from one so highly esteemed by Americans, causes deep regret to many thousands who have a widely differing opinion of Christian Science.

It is very evident Toistoi has not studied Christian Science as carefully as he has some other subjects and the Scientist is reminded that "the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God"—First Corinthians, ill. 18.

tainly did please the great crowd present. It has been a long time since so much genuine appreciation was expressed by applause for the hero and hisses for the villian, with pleasant laughter for the ingenue and sincere tears for the suffering heroine. The plot of the play is simple and the story is plainly told. It is by no means a one-part play, but gives each of the members of the company an opportunity to show sometime during the action. Mr. Ferris carries the brunt of the action as a simple, slow clodhopper who eventually becomes a man of affairs with a lot of money. His humor is of the right sort and his pathos is effective. Miss Hayward's part is hardly up to her capabilities, but she makes much of it. Ted Brackett has an extremely exciting role as the villian of the piece, but does his work with much grace and the easy swing of a finished actor. The others are happily cast, and the whole performance moves smoothly. "My Jim" will be the bill until At Krag's Park.

Blg crowds attended Krug park yesterday. The Morris Bros.' dog and pony circus drew two large audiences. Diamond, the little Arabian thoroughbred, and Tough, the clever and smallest wrestling pony in the world, scored hits with everybody. The little animals are cute and pretty and seem to have enlisted almost universal affection. The Lorenze concert band gave two good changes of program. The band is one of the favorite features and best drawing cards at the park It is composed of first-class art ists, some of whom have played with Sousa Libretti and the late Patrick Gilmore. A special and unique feature will be offered Saturday. The monkeys will be given a Christmas tree. It is funny to watch the lit tle creatures when they are turned into their quarters with the Xmas tree laden with such things as are calculated to bring joy to the heart of the monkeys. Many okes are sprung on the monkeys, numerous devices being arranged for this

GRACE CAMERON IN OMAHA Well Known Soprano Comes for Brief Vacation at Her Old Home.

Grace Cameron, the well-known Omaha soprano, is visiting in the city and will remain here for a few days. She and her husband will spend a part of the summer in the Black Hills and Mrs. Cameron will then go east to resume her operatic work Mrs. Cameron was prominently identified two years ago with the Bostonians. Last season she sang the role of Daphene, the soubrette part in "Foxy Quiller," and she has been re-engaged by Klaw & Erlanger to sing the same role until next Christmas when a new opera is to be produced. Frank Perley has offered Mrs. Cameron

Alice Nielseo's parts in the "Singing Girl" and "Fortune Teller." Mrs. Cam eron will accept the offer in case Mr. Erlanger will release her from her contract with the "Foxy Quiller" company. Last season the "Foxy Quiller" compan played the entire season in the far east but it will spend a part of the coming season in the west.

AMERICAN MOWERS COMMON Ouffy's

Are to Be feen in Many Hay Fields of West France.

Products of Yankee Skill Are Onsting Every Other Nation and Setting a Sen Pace, Say the Consuls.

WASHINGTON, June 2 .- In the series of extracts from the forthcoming volume 2

of Commercial Relations, dealing with United States trade in France, Consul Brittain of Nantes notes the development of the trade in American machinery in western France. During the past season, he snys, about 800 reapers, mowers and horse hay rakes arrived at that port. American mowers give good satisfaction, and the increased prices asked for farm labor will stimulate the sale of such machinery in the future. The American mower was a common sight in the bay fields last summer. In regard to the advantage gained by exhibiting machines, the consul says: "Last month a representative of a New England factory made an exhibition of meat choppers in one of the Nantes stores. and during the afternoon about twenty of various sizes were sold. The Nantes house has since sold more than 200 of these machines. If some company were to make an exhibit of wringers, and show their working, I am satisfied it would be found a profitable enterprise. There are no wringers sold or offered for sale here, with the exception of a few heavy English machines.

Consul Covert of Lyons, says:

Consul Covert of Lyons, says:

The houses of this district which some years ago furnished fine French hardware to the United States have almost lost that trade within the last two decades, and they are enabled to hold their own market here only by a protective tariff. American stoves, haschurners and smaller heating stoves, find a steady market here, the French make being unable to replace them. At Every County Fair.

American saws and other wood-cutting instruments are pronounced the best in the world, because Americans are the greatest wood-using people. American wrenches are seen in some stores, but the German article is the most common, on account of its cheapness. Agricultural implements of American pattern and bearing an American name are met with at every county fair, and are highly prized. They are often made in France, on account of the high teriff duty. Farmers tell me that they prefer to buy the Ohlo harvesting and haying machines, even at increased cost.

Consul Tourgee of Bordeaux says:

The fastest time made by any railway, it

The fastest time made by any railway, it is said, is on the road between this city and Bayonne, where a run of 133 miles is made every day in 128 minutes. It is quite to the credit of American mechanics that the honor of making this run is accorded to American locomotives. The consul notes, as a curious fact, that one of the chief exports from Bordeaux to the United States consists of preserved forms of alimentary products, which are grown in the greatest abundance in the United States and are often of much superior quality. Prominent among these are canned or bottled peas and string beans. There is not a particle of difference be-tween them and the products of American gardens, continued Mr. Tourgee, except that the French beans and peas are of the smallest variettes and are put up while they are but half matured and very soft; also, they are packed with great attention to artistic effect. The cans are not filled by machinery, and the vegetables are not handled with a scoop shovel; everything is done by hand, and the wages of the girls who do this work, depend as much on the appearance of the bottles as on the number filled.

HOME FROM A CONFERENCE

Bishop Scannell Returns from Dubuque, Where He Met Arch-

Bishop Scannell returned Sunday morning from Dubuque, where with Bishop Cosgrove of the diocese of Davenport, he attended conference with Archbishop Keane, who eaves for a trip to Europe this morning. The bishop would say nothing of the subjects discussed in conference or of the conclusions reached.

The archdiocese of Dubuque consists of the dioceses of Davenport, Omaha and Cheyenne, and at this conference the majority of the suffrigans were present, it being understood that Bishop Lennahan of Cheyenne was forced to remain away from Dubuque on account of his health. There was a rumor current at Dubuque that the conference was called to discuss matters to be presented to the college of the propaganda by Archbishop Keane during his visit to Europe, but it is said that the archbishop will not visit Rome while abroad, his journey ending in Ireland, where he will deliver the dedication sermon at a chapel recently built in his native village.

SERMON IN SIGN LANGUAGE Special Sanday Services for the Deaf at Trinity Cathe.

An interested congregation of deaf people attended the religious services conducted for them at Tribity cathedral yesterday afternoon. Rev. J. H. McCloud of Louis, Mo., delivered the sermon in sign language of the deaf and held the closest attention of his spectators throughout his finger talk. In everything save the mere physical expression of his ideas the speaker's manner of delivery coincides with that of any vocal orator. Of dignified bearing and serious mien, the preacher carried his address through ca-dences of thought and sequence which were plainly apparent to those uninformed in the lore. A large number of deaf children were present and a feature of the afternoon was the carnest manner in which they followed the sermon. Later these little ones participated in hymns by
