A Baking Hint.

In raising biscuit and cake in the oldfashioned way, with a home-made mixture of cream of tartar and sods, the housewife frequently finds there is left in the food either an acid or an alkali. When these substances are bought of absolute purity and scientifically mixed in exact proportions, as is done by the large baking powder makers, a pure leavening gas is pro duced. But this at home is an impossi bility. A chemist only can detect the adulterants or mix in exactly equivalent quantities. A little too much cream of tartar and there remains an acid residuum: a litle too much soda and there is an alkaline

There has recently been placed in the stores a cream of tartar substitute which is sold largely for cream of tartar itself. of this substitute, but the chemists know that it is made from burnt alum. So that housewives who think they are using the old-fashioned cream of tartar will very probably find that they are feeding their families upon that worst of all diet, alum-made biscuit and cake. Mrs. Ellen H. Richards, instructor is sanitary chemistry in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, says: "Baking powders prepared from soda and cream of tartar are, when put up in tin cans with the maker's name and label, much more reliable than any other form of bread-raising preparation." Mrs. Richards is right and our readers should profit by the hint.

Auditerium Committee Decide Against Any Further Delay.

DISCUSSION OF

Advisory Board, After a Lengthy Ses sion, Sustains Policy of Executive Committee-Various Opinions Expressed.

Work on the auditorium will begin at

This decision came yesterday afternoon at the close of a spirited conference. The auditorium executive and advisory committees met in adjoining rooms at the Commercial club yesterday to try to reach a conclusion as to whether or not building operations as contemplated in the plans drawn should begin as soon as practicable or the work should be delayed to raise funds for a more elaborate structure. About twenty members of the executive committee met first and after discussion of the new baby boy at the home of Harry S. Weller, suggested by the box of cigars that was passed, listened to reports of subscriptions. The amount reported was $775, of which $500 was from Rocheford & Gould. in announcing this subscription President Sanborn said that the firm assured him that if the low figure it proposed to submit secured for it the contract for the building it would increase its subscription $3,000, or $4,000 or $5,000.

Two Resolutions.

Two concurrent resolutions from the ways and means committee were submitted visory board for its adoption or rejection. The first recommended that the cost of the building without furnishings or cost of the grounds be not less than $125,000 nor more than $150,000, basing the amount upon the subscriptions raised to date and the bein the next eight months. On the plans presented the estimates were limited to $125,000, the resolution declared, in order to bring the cost certainly below $150,000. The second resolution was to the effect that in the judgment of the committee the best interests of the auditorium proposition will be served by an active canvass for subscriptions, and in connection therewith the prompt selection of an architec and the adoption of plans to the end that when the building committee is ready to report the subscription lists may be in such condition as will satisfy the most conservative members of either the active or advisory committee that the conditions are such as to make it a safe proposition.

Both were adopted without dissent, although after their passage Alfred Millard inquired whether the committee considered that it could let a contract for $150,000 without changing its articles of incorpora

J. F. Carpenter responded that it could and that under its articles it was lawful to let contracts for 20 per cent more than the amount actually collected.

Suggests Early Building.

Letters were read from John H. Harte, C. W. Partridge, Rocheford & Gould and Fisher & Lawrie to the effect that a period of scarcity of big work is imminent and that labor and material can be secured if the work is pushed on the auditorium to better advantage than if the work is de- WAY are some of the most beautiful places layed, while contractors were willing to in the world to spend a summer vacation, figure just as closely in their bids as if camping out or at the elegant summer the necessary money were all on hand, as hotels. Boating, fishing, beautiful lakes they had absolute confidence in the ability of the committee to raise the amount required.

The advisory board met in an adjoining room and in executive session so that members could speak their minds freely. There were present Mesars. E. E. Bruce, Herman Kountze, Euclid Martin, F. A. Nach, C. C. Belden, Edward Rosewater, C. F. Weller, G. M. Hitchcock and F. W. Kellogg, nine out of fifteen members.

There were submitted for the inspection and information of the committee copies of the auditorium financial statement to date, the subscription lists, lists of those who ought to subscribe but have not, the specifications to architects upon which the plans were drawn, a copy of the report of the committee of buildings and grounds upon those plans, the four sets of plans, articles of incorporation and bylaws and the two resolutions given above.

When the committee adjourned it was announced that it had adopted the resolution of the directory board. A resolution by Mr. Hitchcock was seconded by Mr. Rosewater approving the position of the board of directors and its work for the Auditorium. Another promised support and approval of the proposition of the board to continue raising subscriptions and fixed the amount that should be raised yet at $50,000.

Endorsed in General Way. The advisory committee endorsed in general way the proposition of the ex-
