S. F. 134, by Martin—Providing that whoever, from the time any ballots are cast until the time has expired for using them as evidence in any contest, shall destroy, attempt to destroy, in sight, or request another to destroy any ballot box or pollanother to destroy, in sight, or request another to destroy any ballot box or pollanother to destroy any ballot box or pollanother to destroy any ballot box or pollanother to destroy, in sight, or request another to destroy, in sight, or request his reasons for the decision:

Mr. Samuel Hunziker et al. Guide Rock, Neb.: Dear Sir-Yours regarding the trouble move agisting your district at hand snd noted. I take the following statements from your eleter: "The discot, J. H. Parsons, posted notices for the annual meeting, calling this meeting for 1 o'clock a. m. last Monday of June, 1901. When questioned regarding this unusual hour he state besides the State university, who have completed courses which place them on a parity with the University of Nebraska graduates, shall be entitled to first grade teachers' certificates.

S. F. 251, by McCargar—Providing for the appointment of state veterinarian and prescribing his dutie the 'a. m.' in the notice was a mistake and that the call was intended for the afternoon."

"The director, Mr. Parsons, and his six brothers-in-law assembled at the school meeting at about 2:30 a. m., electing officers and attending to other business usually transacted at the annual meeting."

"At 1 o'clock p. m., June 24, the remaining voters of the district, seventeen in number, assembled at the schoolhouse and proceeded to hold an annual meeting. The people who assembled for the afternoon meeting transacted all the business generally brought before the annual meeting and then adjourned."

Upon these statements, signed by yourself and six others, you ask: "Which is the legal meeting? Which set of officers are duly elected? Which do you recognize?" I answer that the afternoon meeting is the legal meeting. The officers elected at this meeting are duly and legally elected officers for your district. It is the afternoon meeting that this department recognizes as the one endorsed by more than 75 per cent of the people therein. One o'clock a. m. is such an unreasonable hour for an annual school meeting and so revolutionary to all custom and precedent that I do not consider it necessary to further discuss the question. Yours very truly.

W. K. FOWLER,
State Superintendent.

Independent Takes a Hand.

The latest contribution to the symposium on the declaration of John O. Yelser of Omaha that Nebraska has no legal governor comes from the recognized organ of the populist party, the Nebraska Independent. It admits that Mr. Yeiser's reasoning is 'lawyerlike," but it is unable to see any necessity for the election of a governor this year. The Independent says:

year. The Independent says:

John O. Yelser started out to have some fun with the redeemers and wrote an article declaring that Nebraska had no governor and that one must be elected this fall. Some of the brethren seemed to think that John was in earnest and have given a good deal of space to the discussion of the subject. Mr. Yelser made a lawyerlike argument in favor of his proposition and quoted section 107, chapter xxvi, of the Nebraska Statutes, which provides: "When a vacancy occurs in any state, judicial district, county, precinct, township or any public elective office thirty days prior to any general election it shall be filled thereat."

Mr. Yelser's citations are all correct, but, lawyerlike, he stopped when he might have made a further citation that would have put an entirely different look upon the affair. Section 16, article v, of the state constitution, rends this way: "In the case of the death, impeachment and notice thereof to the accused, failure to qualify, resignation, absence from the state or other disability of the governor, the powers, duties and emoluments of the office for the residue of the term, or until the disability shall be removed, shall devolve on the lieutenant governor."

How anybody can work out a necessity for the election of a governor this fall.

How anybody can work out a necessity for the election of a governor this fall under that section of the constitution is somewhat puzzling.

Jesse Rodgers in Bad Shape. After suffering a relapse, which nearly resulted fatally, Jesse Rodgers, the man shot by Kilroy at Raymond Wednesday afternoon, began to improve slightly this afternoon. His condition is still serious. but the physicians have hope that he will recover. Kilroy is still detained at the county jail.

The evening's exercises closed with an address by Miss Belle Kearney of Mississippi. Miss Kearney occupied the platform this forenoon for a short time. Rabbi Abram Simon of Omaha delivered his lecture, "Rubalyat of Omar Khayam."

The double quartet of Fiske jubilee ingers appeared on the platform for the first time this afternoon with a musical prelude of half an hour. Congressman E J. Burkett delivered an address on the subject of "Fraternity." He had been secured to speak for the Ancient Order of United Workmen and several hundred members of the order were present.

The afternoon exercises closed with the round table, conducted by Mrs. L. S. Corey of Lincoln.

WORK OF THE FEEBLE MINDED Closing Exercises of the Institute at Beatrice-Address of Welcome Made by Child.

BEATRICE, Neb., June 29 .- (Special.)-The closing exercises of the school department of the institute for the Feeble Minded were Friday night in the gymnasium rooms of the institution. The classes numbered sixty. A number of citizens drove out from the city and a large number of the parents of the inmates from all over the state were present. Miss Agnes Brady presided at the plane during the evening. The first number was the class song, "Wood Fairles," rendered by twenty boys and girls. The address of welcome by an 8-year-old child was well received. Mrs. Ida Armstrong's second grade dumbbell drill class executed a drill. Miss Smith's class gave a ring drill. RUSKIN, Neb., June 29 .- (Special.)-Two miles southwest of town last night a 2year-old son of Frank Davidson was injured by being run over by a loaded wagon. The wheel ran over the child's face, cutting the flesh from the right temple to the inner corner of the eye, thence downward irregularly to the mouth, Sixteen stitches were required to close the wound. The child's chances for recovery are few.

Record York County Harvest.

YORK, Neb., June 29 .- (Special.) -- The armers of York county are in the midst one of the largest harvests ever cut in the history of the county. The last week has been warm, high winds prevailing, which has ripened the winter wheat a week before it was expected to harvest it. There is a scarcity of hands and the implement men are rushed in trying to keep up with the orders for binders.

A large number of farmers are going to be unable to finish plowing their corn owing to the harvest season coming on so quickly. About 50 per cent of the cultivated acreage is in winter wheat. The kernels are large and plump and none shriveled. The average yield is estimated at twenty-five bushels. York county will have a bumper winter wheat crop. Oats are not as good as in years previous. Barley is fair and corn, while a little backward, has a good stand and looks well.

Contract for Pawnee Postoffice.

PAWNEE, Neb., June 29 .- (Special Telegram.)-The Postoffico department has accepted the proposition of J. R. Hot Weather Rushes Harvest. HASTINGS, Neb., June 29 - (Special.)-

During the last week the weather has been so hot that the winter wheat was ripened almost too rapidly. Many farmers in Adams county were compelled to put two or three binders in the field and work all day and nearly all night in order to get their wheat harvested before it got too ripe. The oats were affected, but the wheat was not damaged. Corn and alfalfa are looking well, but must have rain soon.

Great Searcity of Help.

UNION, Neb., June 29.-(Special.)-The harvest of fall wheat is under way. The crop is large and of good quality. There is great scarcity of help for harvesting throughout this section. One farmer who has a great deal of hay to cut wanted to hire eleven men and could not get one.

Edgar's Big Wheat Crop. EDGAR, Neb., June 29.—(Special.)— The wheat harvest in this vicinity will be finished in a few more days. The yield will exceed the most sanguine expectations of the farmers. It was thought, when harvest began, that the average would fall below fifteen bushels per acre. Now it is placed at twenty-five bushels per acre and some fields run as high as forty bushels. The crop will be much the largest ever harvested in this part of Nebraska.
