

TAKES MONEY TO A CORPSE

Purchaser of Dairyman's Stock Finds Him a Suicide.

DEPENDENCY OVER LOSS OF TRADE

Albert Bruschweiler Cuts His Throat at His Farm House on the Elk-horn Road, Eight Miles from Omaha.

Albert Bruschweiler, a dairyman eight miles northwest of Omaha on the Elk-horn road, ended his life by cutting his throat with a razor Friday afternoon, because dependent over financial reverses. The body was found in the hayloft of Bruschweiler's barn by Edward Glue, a neighbor, who notified coroner Swanson. The coroner went to the scene, conducted an inquest and brought the body to the morgue late last night.

Bruschweiler lived alone and operated a small dairy. Recently, it is said by neighbors, he had experienced trouble with some of his best customers on account of criticisms of his milk and had lost patronage. He worried about this a great deal and finally decided to dispose of part of his herd. A sale was made to Edward Glue, who came to Omaha yesterday afternoon to get the money to make the payment.

When Glue returned he went to Bruschweiler's place and, after a search, found the body in the hayloft. The bloody razor with which the deed was done was still clutched in the right hand. A series of deep grooves on the left wrist showed Bruschweiler's last attempt at self-destruction and a gaping wound stretched across the throat from ear to ear.

An inquest was called at once and the jury came to a verdict in keeping with the evident facts, that Bruschweiler came to his death by his own hand. Burial will be today or tomorrow.

Little is known of Bruschweiler's antecedents by his neighbors, as he talked seldom of himself or his affairs. He came to this country from Switzerland and it is not believed he has a relative here. He was 29 years old. His stock and property were placed in charge of a neighbor by coroner Swanson awaiting a settlement of the estate.

THIRTY-TWO ACQUIRE ANTLERS

Elks Initiate Large Class Into the Mysteries of the Best People on Earth.

Over 700 members of the order of Elks assembled at the rooms of the local lodge last night to confer the obligations and explain the mysteries to a class of thirty-two candidates. After the text had been applied in the demonstration of fortitude of the novitiates refreshments were served to a gathering that filled the parlors. Just as the exemplification of the ritual was completed the Bellstedt concert closed and Director Bellstedt and his men repaired by invitation to the stinking quarters of the antlered fraternity. A social session followed the formal ceremony, during which selections were played by Bellstedt's band, alternating with other entertaining diversions. There was a recitation by George Cronk, a piano solo by Mr. Campbell of Victor, Colo., a violin solo by Mr. Nettleton of Tabor, Ia., songs by Jo Barton and Lew Dale and a recitation, "Old Glory," by Edna Lee Estelle.

Sub-committees were designated and work has already begun on canvassing the business section of the city for candidates who are willing to brave the terrors of King Ak-Sar-Ben's den.

Regular reports were received and bills were audited in the amount of $11,000.

EVERY CREW A POSSIBILITY

Organization of Six Colleges Make Continuing Showing on the Poughkeepsie Course.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—Uncertainty over every race to be rowed over the Poughkeepsie course on Tuesday next is an interesting feature tonight. Those who are counted as experts in the picking of winners are hesitating over suggesting a favorite. Six crews in the varsity race make it difficult to determine the winner and when the experts saw the last arrivals, Syracuse, row over the course this evening and later saw the doughty Wisconsin out on the water the problem became harder.

In the four-oared class the uncertainty is still greater. Pennsylvania's coach has been devoting most of his time to his crew and they are sure over at the Pennsylvania headquarters that their crew will go to the front. Georgetown university has pulled over the course in fast time and the impression that the big crew of the light blue or the white, of the better crew of Cornell will pull ahead in the race has furnished a shock. Cornell has always furnished an uncertainty, but Coach Odea is confident.

If there is any value in the outside course where the current flows a little the strongest, Georgetown got it with Cornell next, in the varsity race, while the Pennsylvania crew, which has not been marked down a winner, gets away inshore, with Syracuse next.

Columbia, Wisconsin and Cornell are next to expect. In the four-oared, with three entries, Cornell got the outside position, with Pennsylvania next to the shore and Columbia in the middle. In the freshman race Cornell is next to the west shore and Syracuse has the outside, or favorite position, with Columbia and Pennsylvania sandwiched.

The committee decided tonight that, despite the fact that all the entries for the single shell race but one had withdrawn, that one should be allowed to row. He is Clinton Goodwin of the class of 1902 of Syracuse university, and he is to row over the course in a shell loaned him by John M. Francis of Cornell, who declined to row without the full sanction of his college.

The Wisconsin varsity eight left their boathouse at a few minutes before 6 o'clock this morning. Their coach, Andrew Cornell, following on the yacht, Walls, Wales, Thru of the crew, Stroke McComb, Lewis, No. 3, and Jordan No. 4, were rather out of condition, having been slightly ill during the day. Still, they took their accustomed seats and were then not to row hard. They paddled up the river five miles and a half and returned to their boat. They are the heaviest crew on the river, averaging 168¹/₂, and they have a reach that is almost phenomenal. Their boat keeps a fairly even keel and checks but slightly. Steam may be expected at the Bendon wharf when they get under full headway at their maximum stroke of 35. They did not row above 30 today. The Pennsylvania's varsity went a four-mile over the course. There was no attempt at fast time. The freshmen accompanied the varsity as far as the bridge, when they turned and went to the boathouse. Georgetown came along a mile behind Syracuse and both crews rowed about the same distance. Cornell did light work.

DANUBE IS THE FAVORITE

Gottschalk's "Last Hope" Ranks Next in the Popular Call at Bellstedt Performance.

Another large crowd of enthusiasts assembled at the pavilion Friday and witnessed its appreciation of the Bellstedt band performance by persistent concertgoers at the close of each number on the printed program. The responses were graciously given. Fully 4,000 people were on the grounds. It was cool in the brilliant enclosure and the audience remained until late. The music was out. The selections had been made in response to requests. Strauss' "Beautiful Blue Danube" had been asked for by thirty-four lovers of music, twenty-nine had desired Gottschalk's nocturne, "Last Hope," fourteen the waltz's accoutrements, "William Tell." A like number suggested "Home, Sweet Home," twenty-seven called for "The Brownie," twelve for Greig's "Peer Gynt, Suite No. 1," and twenty-two for the flute and horn serenade by Chavre and DeMare.

The latter was a selection which will be given by a number in the audience and several large floral tributes were sent up by the two clever performers when they had finished.

At the concert this afternoon there will be one descriptive selection, "In a Clock Store," and the audience will be invited to join in whistling "The Tale of the Kangaroo." Chavre will render one of his piccolo solos and the music throughout will be of the most popular variety. The band will perform in the evening, which will be the 24th by this band in Omaha, will comprise exclusively popular selections, and immediately thereafter the band will take its departure for Kansas City.

COST OF DAWSON CONVICTION

George O'Brien Condemned to Die After Hundred-Thousand-Dollar Trial in Alaska.

SEATTLE, June 29.—Word was brought by the steamer City of Seattle that George O'Brien, who killed Lynn Relfe, Fred Clayton and Lawrence Olson on the Yukon river trail in December, 1898, has been found guilty of murder in the first degree and has been sentenced to be hanged in Dawson on August 23. The expenses of the trial are estimated at $100,000.

The City of Seattle had 175 Dawson passengers and a large amount of treasure. There was no bank or company gold. It was all personal treasure. T. S. Lippy brought out $112,000. Pursor Parmelee had sacks and bags of gold in his safe which he estimates at $75,000. Many of the passengers had gold in their state rooms of which they would make no estimate.

USES KNIVES WITH EFFECT

Pursued Negro Cuts His Way to Temporary Freedom and Two Victims Die.

PANTHER, W. Va., June 28.—The attempt of a mob to lynch a negro today at Jager, five miles south of here, resulted in the killing of two of the would-be lynchers.

The negro, Peter Price, was accused of insulting a white woman. He was pursued by a crowd of men and sought refuge in a small room in the rear of a saloon. The mob battered down the door and as they entered the room Price threw himself at them with the ferocity of a tiger with a knife in each hand. In cutting his way out he killed George Hooks and F. M. McGran and seriously cut Charles Davis. As Price struck down these men the others fell back and the negro made his escape through an open window. Several members of the mob brought revolvers into play, but they succeeded in inflicting only two slight flesh wounds.

South Omaha News

Hon. B. E. Wilcox, local representative of the American Bond and Trust company, received word yesterday that the bonds of most of the city officials had been accepted by the company and were now on file with the city clerk. Those who have not yet filed bonds in this company are: Police Judge King, City Attorney Lambert, City Engineer Beal and Building Inspector D. M. Clegg. All of these officials are, however, under personal bonds which hold good until the surety company acts upon their applications.

This bonding company cannot, it is stated, consider the bonds of City Treasurer Koutsky or Deputy Treasurer Gustafson until the city has complied with the provisions of the new charter, which compel the city to designate a depository. In line with the charter the council must advertise for bids from banks for city deposits. South Omaha has three national banks and it may be that no bids will be received in answer to the advertisement, when, in fact, the city seldom has any money to speak of on hand. Bids are to be made on the basis of a certain per cent of interest on daily balances. For a month or two there might be quite a balance and then the treasurer would issue a call for warrants and nearly the entire fund be withdrawn. Bankers say that if a certain sum were to be deposited for a stipulated length of time the bids might be worth noting, but under the present system, with no sinking fund and a continual overlap, there is not much to be expected of the bond market.

Some of the local ministers in the city are entering complaints about the proposed ball fight. When the protest was made the reverend gentlemen were assured by the management of the fair that no harm would come to any of the Mexicans or to the bull. One of the incidents of yesterday was the withdrawal of Miss Eunice Enzor from the race for queen of the carnival. Dr. Enzor said that his daughter was not strong enough to participate in the affair and had requested her to withdraw her name. Arrangements have been made to place ballot boxes for voting purposes in the downtown drug stores, where votes for queen of the carnival may be filed. Ralph Dunbar, who is managing this portion of the show, expects to see considerable competition and looks for a lively race before the closing of the ballot boxes on the night of July 6.

Amphitheater Completed.

The amphitheater at Twenty-fifth and O streets, where the Street Fair company will hold entertainment of various sorts, has been completed. According to the estimate of the structural architect the seating capacity will be about 8,000. The flower parade will be held in the ring, as well as the coronation of the carnival queen. The city is entering complaints about the proposed ball fight.

Sanctity of Labor.

Contractors and others are complaining about the sanctity of labor. Men cannot be found to perform work and no idle men are to be found on the street. Great demand is now, as well as teamsters and ordinary laborers. Dealers in material are compelled to skimp every day for teams and there is a steady hunt for carpenters and masons. At the packing houses work is progressing nicely and very few employees of great institutions are found idle. Good prices are being paid for labor by contractors and the packers are, of course, paying the scale of wages agreed upon some time ago.

Magie City Gossip.

Dr. C. W. Johnson of Chicago is visiting friends in the city. Real estate dealers report business just a little bit slack just at this time. Councilman August Miller leaves for Iowa today to stay until Monday. Manager Renner was busy yesterday making out contracts for concessions. Several religious societies are holding tent meetings in the city. The horse sales at the stock yards this week attracted a great deal of attention. Major Cross, inspector of weights and measures, is making his annual inspection. Grading at the east end of Missouri avenue for a road to the river is to commence shortly.

A petition for the grading of Twenty-seventh street from B to G street is being circulated.

W. S. Babcock has returned from Lake Washington, Minn., where he spent a couple of weeks fishing.

It is reported that Cudahy will appeal from the assessment as returned by the Board of Review.

The demand for the removal of the drays from Twenty-fifth and N street continues, but Mayor Kelly has so far declined to make a decision in the matter.

Mrs. W. H. Hayes of Toledo, Ia., and Mrs. J. B. Purinton of Neola, Ia., are the guests of Judge and Mrs. F. A. Agnew, Twenty-third and N streets.

John Flynn, one of the letter carriers at the postoffice, has gone to Wisconsin to spend his vacation.

Miss Eunice Enzor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Enzor, has withdrawn from the carnival queen contest.

A number of vagrants were before Judge King yesterday and they were given an hour in which to leave the city.

Since the flushing the streets downtown are in first-class condition and Mayor Kelly proposes to keep them so during the fair.

KANSAS MINERS SATISFIED

Those in Fourteenth District Granted About All They Demanded of Operators.

KANSAS CITY, June 29.—Coal miners and operators of Kansas, in district 14, today agreed upon a scale of wages and upon other points at issue. The miners say they have secured most of what they contended for. The price to be paid for getting out a ton of coal is the same as last year, 65 cents. They make a gain, however, in a reduction of the price to be charged them by the operators for blacksmithing work, as to blasting powder, there were mutual concessions.

The Missouri miners and operators and those of Leavenworth county, Kansas, are still in conference. John Mitchell, national president of the United Mine Workers, will remain in Kansas City until a definite result is reached.
