MISS HARLAN FINDS A WAY

Shows How Determination in a Young Woman Can Win Over a Board of Education.

There is an interesting story back of the appointment of Miss Nannie Hardin as principal of the Bloomer school, which shows that all a young woman needs is grit and a plucky determination to get on in the world to realize her ambitions. When Miss Sims, through ill health, was forced to ask the Board of Education to transfer her from the Bloomer school to the Hill school, which meant a sacrifice of salary, the board selected Miss Sue Badollet, principal of the Madison avenue school, to succeed her. This was in accordance with the practice of the board to promote a principal from one school to another as opportunity afforded itself. The promotion of Miss Badollet was agreed upon at a secret meeting of the board in President Hess' office, when the assignment of teachers to the several buildings was decided upon. Chairman Sargent of the committee on teachers, acting on the agreement of the board, officially notified Miss Badollet of her appointment as principal of the Bloomer school. School Director Macrae, member of the teachers' committee, was not present at this meeting, being at Cedar Rapids. Two days after Miss Badollet had been appointed Miss Nannie Hardin, who had been years in the Bloomer school, decided she wanted to be principal. She so told Chairman Sargent, who informed her that Miss Badollet had already been appointed. Nothing daunted, Miss Hardin wrote to Member Macrae and his supporters, Director Macrae, in ignorance that his committee had already appointed Miss Badollet, promised Miss Hardin his support. Then Miss Hardin went to work in real earnest. She informed the committee on teachers that unless she was appointed principal of the Bloomer school she would resign, claiming that she was entitled to the position in view of the fact that she had taught there thirteen years and the children attending there were as dear to her as if they were her own. She also notified all the members of the board that if Miss Badollet was appointed principal over her she would not teach under her. Chairman Sargent, with the consent of the other members of the board, offered Miss Hardin the principalship of three other schools, but she wanted nothing but the Bloomer school. Then politics entered into the controversy. The teachers at the Bloomer school all started on election on behalf of Miss Hardin. Petitions from the patrons of the school were secured and presented to the members of the board by the dozen. The ministers of the several churches in the vicinity took up the fight on her behalf and the pressure became so strong that another meeting of the board had to be held. This was the crisis. The pressure on behalf of Miss Hardin was so strong that all the members of the board, with the exception of Chairman Sargent, elected a committee on teachers, backed down and Miss Badollet was ignored. Miss Hardin was selected as the principal of the Bloomer school and her friends were established. Sargent remained faithful to his promise to Miss Badollet that she would succeed Miss Sims.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, June 29.—(Special.)—The second part of the annual report of the auditor of state on insurance, embracing the report on life insurance business, has been printed and is ready for distribution. The report shows that a number of new Iowa companies were organized during the last year and a number of new outside companies were admitted to do business. Two new level premium companies of Des Moines, with a capital of $100,000 and of $400,000 respectively, were organized; one local assessment company was organized, the stipulated premium company, with capital of $50,000, with headquarters in Des Moines; an accident association, with headquarters at Cedar Falls, and six fraternal beneficiary companies. There are now authorized to do business in this state companies as follows: Level premium companies: Joint stock Iowa companies, 4; mutual Iowa companies, 12. Stipulated premium companies: Iowa companies, 1; non-Iowa companies, 1. Assessment associations: Iowa, 1; non-Iowa, 10; Iowa accident associations, 6; non-Iowa accident associations, 1. Fraternal: Iowa, 17; non-Iowa, 37.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION

The republican county convention in Wright county today instructed a delegation of delegates to the state convention in Winneshiek county, endorsed Trevisan for governor and Kiemme for lieutenant governor. The executive committee of the Shiloh monument association met today. The members are Colonel G. L. Godfrey, Des Moines; John Hayes, Red Oak; Colonel W. B. West, Washington; E. H. Soper, Emmetsburg. The Shiloh committee has accepted plans for the monuments to be erected on the battlefield to the memory of the Iowa soldiers who died there, but there are many details to be attended to before the contracts are let for the construction of the monuments. The commission is most concerned with the question of inscriptions of the regimental and company monuments. The adjutant general is having an investigation made to show the death list of the regiments at Shiloh and the names of all who fell there. These names may be placed on the monuments or on the central monument to be erected for all Iowa troops there.

SHILOH MONUMENT COMMISSION.

The following recommendations have been submitted by the committee on law reform, to be acted on at this meeting: That such statutory amendment and legislation be enacted as will provide for a jury of twelve jurors in a trial of civil cases. That judges of the district courts be required by statute to make the city of Des Moines their permanent place of residence during their term of office. That the salaries of the district judges be raised to the sum of $4,000 per year. That trial judges be empowered to limit the time to be used by each party in argument to the jury in all civil cases. That the statute providing for the giving of bonds by guardians be so amended as to make the rule the same in cases of sales of real estate as in cases of sales of personal property. The adoption of a safe, judicious and efficient primary election law. That the statute so amended as to give to the judges of the supreme court of Iowa the right to hear and determine the preparation and publication of the Iowa reports, including the letting of all contracts for the printing of the same, and enforcement of the same. And also providing for the supreme court reporter shall conform to the requirements of the said judges relative to the preparation of manuscripts of such reports. That the salary of the supreme court reporter be increased to $10,000 per year. The committee further recommends that a committee be appointed at this session of the State Board of Control to consider the following matters, upon which it shall report at the next annual meeting: Whether the present method of trial in equity cases should be changed so as to require witnesses to testify in open court in law cases. Should the method of selecting jurors be changed? May not the present almost unlimited right of amendment be abridged with advantage to the practice and without injury to litigants? Should there be a statutory limit to the amount of costs that the losing party pay? What changes should there be in the law in relation to procuring and examining medical experts as witnesses? What further provision is needed for the temporary appointment and pay of trial judges who act in place of the regular judges in cases of sickness or disability of the latter?

SHILOH MONUMENT COMMISSION.

The executive committee of the Iowa State Firemen's association has decided that the next meeting will be held in Marshalltown, August 27-30 next. Marshalltown will donate $2,000 for cash prizes and pay about $1,000 in expenses of the meeting. The program has not yet been prepared. In view of the failure of the tournament at Carroll, owing to continued wet weather, it is expected there will be a larger attendance than usual at the state tournament.

POLICE OFFICER REINSTATED

Thomas Callaghan is Sent Back to His Beat by the Mayor, Entirely Exonerated.

Officer Thomas Callaghan has been reinstated on the police force and will resume duty this morning. Mayor Jennings has declared that he will not be brow-beaten or influenced by any man or set of men. Officer Callaghan will resume his beat this morning entirely exonerated of all charges against him. Mayor Jennings, in deciding yesterday that Officer Callaghan was innocent of any wrongdoing, expressed the opinion that Chief Albro had been somewhat hasty in suspending his subordinate
