

KILLED BY SWITCH ENGINE

Fred Swanson of Ashland Meets Instant Death on the Track.

BEHEADED BY UNION PACIFIC WHEELS

John E. Smith, a Fellow Laborer on the Twenty-Fourth Street Viaduct.

Fred Swanson of Ashland, who for two weeks has been in Omaha working on the Twenty-fourth street viaduct, was killed a few minutes after 6 o'clock Friday night by being run down by Milwaukee switch engine No. 37 at Twenty-sixth street and Union Pacific tracks.

In company with two fellow laborers named Oscar Peterson and John E. Smith, Swanson was going home from his work at 9:15, walking south on Twenty-sixth street, arriving at the intersection of the Union Pacific tracks at Twenty-sixth street and westbound passenger train to pass and then started across, Swanson a few feet in advance of the others. Their interest had been so absorbed in the passenger train that they had not noticed a switch engine approaching from the west. Swanson was struck by it and knocked down, the truck passing over his neck and severing his head from his body.

First Annual Commencement of Omaha College of Pharmacy is Celebrated.

The first annual commencement of the Omaha College of Pharmacy was held last night at the Creighton Medical college, at which six students were graduated. The college is a comparatively new institution, but has a large roll of students who are taking the two years' course. The exercises last night opened with an address on behalf of the faculty by Edmund Thorp, Ph. G., followed by the valedictory address by C. E. Sheffrey. The principal address of the evening was made by Rev. F. H. Sanderson, D. D., pastor of the First Methodist church of Fremont. The subject of Mr. Sanderson's address was "Our Golden Age." He said, in part:

"Some people are always living in and speaking of 'the good old days of the past,' but these back numbers are never aboard the train, nor do they feel the rumble of its progress. They resemble the ancients, who placed the golden age in the earliest period of human history. They believed in evolution inverted. 'Modern ancients,' who live only in the halcyon and rose-colored period of their imagination, see nothing good in the present and prognosticate no good for the future. The clock of time has stopped for them and they realize Douglas Jerard's conserve, who had so great respect for the old moon that he would not look at the new one."

CAPTAIN A. W. PERRY RETURNS

Shows Effects of Philippine Campaign, but Expects Temperate Zone to Restore His Health.

Captain A. W. Perry, formerly stationed in this city, who is now on his way from the Philippines to Fort Hancock, where he will be stationed with the Eleventh cavalry, is stopping at the Omaha club, recuperating from the effects of his campaign in the tropics. The captain would hardly be recognized by his former acquaintances, as when he sailed on his trip he weighed 185 pounds, but has become a convalescent from illness, weighing 105 pounds, and has permitted a beard to grow to such an extent that it has become a feature of his face. The captain is feeling in excellent spirits and will only require a sufficient long stay in the temperate zone to bring him back to his former vigor. Captain Perry was among those who first went to the Philippines connected with the quartermaster's department. He remained there until June, when he left Manila for the United States.

SEASON'S FIRST PAVING JOB

Will be North Twenty-Fourth Street, but Material Not Yet Determined.

From present appearances North Twenty-fourth will be the first of the streets in this city to be improved this season and that street will probably be paved with brick. For several weeks two petitions have been in circulation regarding the street. One circulated by the brick contractors is to have their product designated as the material to be used. The other petition, under the signature of M. D. Starr, president of the council, is for repaving, saying nothing of the material to be used.

GENERAL BATES SATISFIED

New Commander Thinks There Will Be No Change in Departmental Headquarters.

General John C. Bates, who has been appointed commander of the Department of the Missouri, is in St. Louis visiting relatives. Upon the expiration of his four months' leave of absence he will come to Omaha to take charge of the Department of the Missouri. In a St. Louis paper the general is quoted as saying that he knows of no organized movement to remove the headquarters of the Department of the Missouri to St. Louis or elsewhere. When he was in St. Louis before, he says, several influential citizens suggested to him that they would like to see such a removal made, but he knew of no particularly strong military reason for changing the present arrangement. If such a move were made he thought it would likely be the result of political influences and in the event there would be republican Iowa and Nebraska arrayed against democratic Missouri, though there are strong republican influences in St. Louis, which might accomplish much in such a movement.

TOPOGRAPHY IS TO BLAME

Too Many Altitudinous Hills and Deep Ravines Lead to Clothes Line Disturbance.

A neighborhood quarrel, locally known as the Cross-Heppburn feud, is to be aired in the justice courts. The families of Miron Cross and C. W. Heppburn live side by side in the rugged purlieus of East Dorcas street, where the ground is so rough and the bluffs so steep that the goats take to go around the block in order to call on their next door neighbor. It is to this broken topography that the feud owes its existence. Although the Cross and Heppburn homes are less than five feet apart, the Cross roof overtops that of Heppburn by at least twenty feet and the Heppburn chimney pours its volume of smoke into the Cross parlor.

Mrs. Cross says she offered to buy enough stovepipe to carry the vapor into an upper stratum of air, at which Mrs. Heppburn took offense and ever since then has been burning old shoes, feathers, bones and other ill-smelling refuse in her cookstove, to the end that Mrs. Cross had to board up her parlor windows. Then came the bottle and brick-throwing stage of the difficulty, and finally the acute, or personal assault stage.

Mr. Thompson's announcement came as a surprise and brought a protest from the large crowd of republican voters who attended the meeting. Mr. Thompson was assured that he would have the support of his home ward and was urged to reconsider his decision, but stated that he believed that his action was the best for his own interests and for the interests of his party.

CIRCUS DAY A SUCCESS

Glorious Era of Red Lemonade, Toy Balloons and Other Things.

STREET PARADE IS A WINNER

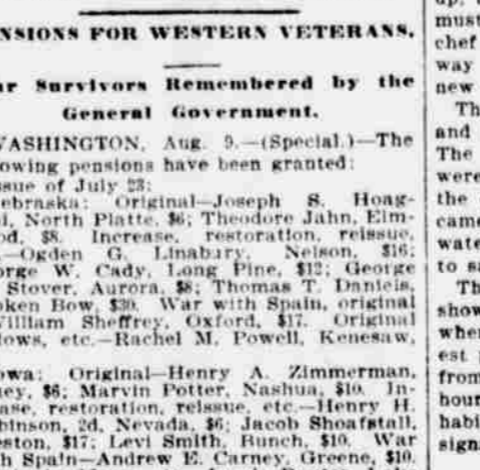

Main News the Early Morning Start of the Tented City, but Clouds Break Away and Sun Adds Luster to the Day's Trappings.

Rain which commenced at 2 a. m. and continued steadily until after 7 interfered with the arrangements of the small boy who had planned to sleep on the lawn or in the haymow so that he might be up and doing at the first peep of dawn on circus day. It also had something to do with a two-hour delay in getting the circus paraphernalia upon the grounds at Twentieth and Paul streets. But the small boy, as well as his larger brother, braved the elements to see the ever new and interesting spectacle, while the showmen did their work so well that when parade time came the lost hours had been made up.

BRADSTREET'S TRADE REVIEW

Aggregate Business the Country Over Is of Good Volume, Despite Labor Troubles.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say: Despite some irregularity, due to the recurrence of corn damage reports from the eastern surplus producing states and the normal launching of the much heralded general steel workers' strike, the aggregate business the country over seems to be of a good and in most sections of unimpaired volume for this season of the year.

Cereal prices have been rather irregular, but the main tendency has been upward, partly because of renewed crop damage reports of corn, as 'frosts' already have begun to be sighted by nervous crop estimators. The main strength of wheat lies in the continued heavy export business. The clearances this week were enormous and far in excess of any previous week on record. Hog products weakened early in the week in sympathy with the corn market, but steadied later, although however, reaching the early low. The world's statistical position of lard is a very strong one. New features are seen in the iron and steel trade. The strike is still the great central feature, around which revolve high imported prices for plates, bars and sheet and tinne plates. Black sheets will be imported in great quantities. Structural material not affected by the strike, is in very heavy demand and producers are being urged to speed up their work.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you eat.

What is worth doing at all is worth doing well. If you are going to use something to help digest your food, use a preparation that will digest completely everything you eat. A great many people take pepsin in some form, after eating; but pepsin simply aids the digestion of eggs, meats and other albuminous foods and doesn't help the digestion of fats and starchy foods.

We usually eat more than meat, cheese and eggs; in fact we have to eat freely of grains, potatoes and other starchy foods if we supply the variety of nourishment necessary to maintain the various tissues of the body. But these are the things most people who suffer from dyspepsia can't digest. And so we would suggest that when you take anything to help digestion, take what will digest every kind of food. There is only one preparation known that does this, and that is Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It contains all the digestants and completely digests what you eat. No other preparation does this. It can't help but do you good.
