FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 12.—The Fall River cotton manufacturers this afternoon at a meeting for the purpose of discussing the question of wage reduction unanimously voted to reduce wages 10 per cent, to go into effect September 1. An agreement will be drawn up for signature and will be passed by the executive committee of the association. It will require a representation of 100,000 spindles to make an agreement to reduce wages operative. At the meeting and voting there were representatives of nearly 150,000 spindles. TROUBLE BECAUSE WIFE LEAVES OMAHA. Mrs. Leverton Denies Husband's Accusation and Says She Forsook Him Because of Cruelty—Adds She'll Never Return.

John W. Leverton of 2313 California street, a former member of the Omaha police force, assaulted Henry C. Kirkpatrick with a policeman's club and revolver in St. Joseph, Mo., yesterday, badly injuring him about the head and face. Leverton accused him of being away with his wife, but Mrs. Leverton and Kirkpatrick both deny it. Kirkpatrick is a carpenter and has a wife and five children living at 2513 North Twenty-seventh street. He says he is in St. Joseph looking for employment.

Leverton's explanation of his attack, said his wife left Omaha August 1 in company with Kirkpatrick and drove to a small town in Iowa, where they took a train for St. Joseph. Kirkpatrick denied having left Omaha in company with Mrs. Leverton, but said he knew the woman was in St. Joseph. He agreed to accompany her to the hotel where she left her in an effort to be reunited to her. According to her story she left Omaha August 1 and went to Atchison, where her mother, Mrs. Sarah Moss, resides, and in whose charge she had left her son.

After the assault, Leverton's club and pistol were confiscated by the police, but no arrests were made. He was appealed to the officers for protection, saying she would never return to Omaha or live with her husband. It is learned in Omaha that a woman, whom the neighbors describe as "the pretty woman in black," went to the Leverton home in Omaha two weeks ago and remained for a few days. Then both Mrs. Leverton and the woman left on the same day, taking Mrs. Leverton's 5-year-old son with them. While the woman was in Mrs. Leverton's company it is said they passed Leverton on the street and he turned his head away and refused to speak to them. He was not seen about the house after the arrival of the woman. About this time Leverton's friends noticed that he appeared dejected and down-hearted, but he vouchsafed no explanation.

Always Seemed to Be Devoled. It became noised around the neighborhood that the pair had quarreled and parted, but the story was not generally believed, as they had always appeared to be a devoted couple. It was Mrs. Leverton's daily custom to walk to the street car with her husband and little son and every indication pointed to a happy married life. As far as known to friends and neighbors Leverton was anything but cruel to his wife and the real cause of their separation is a matter of conjecture among them. Mrs. Leverton has a sister, Mrs. W. C. Fisher, president of the board of the city hospital, who would attract attention anywhere.

Leverton's St. Joseph escapade is no surprise to his former associates on the police force and others who know him, as he has the reputation of being quick to draw conclusions and to fight for what he believes to be right. He was on the police force several years, resigning two years ago on the advice of his physician because of falling eyesight. Since he left the force he has been employed by various coal companies as a teamster. He is said to be fairly well-to-do, owning valuable city and farm property.

It is learned that the present Mrs. Leverton is a second wife, the first having got a divorce, said to be on grounds of drunkenness and cruelty.

DR. DOTY AND MOSQUITOES. Letter in His Interesting Experiments. NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Dr. Ayvah H. Doty, health officer of this port, who has been lately carrying on a warfare against mosquitoes, for the purpose of securing on Staten Island, today issued a statement concerning these operations, which have been prosecuted with a view to determining definitely, if possible, whether the malarial fever parasite is transmitted from one person to another by the female of the anopheles species of mosquito.

Dr. Doty, at the New York quarantine laboratory, has been carrying on his investigations for a year past. He first selected a low-lying district, in which were many stagnant pools and on which were 100 small houses. Inspection showed that at least 20 per cent of the inhabitants were suffering with acute or chronic forms of malaria. Samples of water from the pools and cisterns, cesspools and barrels disclosed larvae of the mosquito. Large glass tubes were distributed among the houses for the purpose of securing the mosquitoes which infested the neighborhood and among those collected were found the anopheles, or malarial mosquitoes.

In one of the houses a little girl 7 years old was found suffering from acute malaria. Dr. Doty was allowed by the mother to secure a drop of blood from the lobe of the ear. A bacteriological examination of this was made in the laboratory and the parasite found. In the meantime some of the anopheles was dissected to discover, if possible, the presence of the parasite. Many tests have been made at the laboratory to ascertain the value of different agents believed to be destructive to the mosquito larvae. It was a surprise, says Dr. Doty, to find that a solution of bichloride of mercury (1-2000) sufficiently strong to kill all micro-organisms, as germs affected the larvae slowly, some being alive at the expiration of twenty-four hours. The doctor says it would be unsafe under any condition to use this dangerous agent in ponds, etc., which are fully exposed and, this may also be said of carbolic acid and other agents experimented with.

Dr. Doty next describes the apparatus he used in spreading the oil, the latter being floated to the bottom of the ponds, from which it rose to the top, bringing with it quantities of the larvae for the purpose of being examined by saying: "The result of this investigation, a scientific point has been of great interest. First, because it has shown the intimate relation between the mosquito and malarial fever, second, because it was revealed that the mosquito is not identified with this investigation the true breeding places of the mosquito, which I am quite sure are not generally known; third, it has shown that petroleum oil will surely and promptly destroy mosquito larvae and that the experiment indicates it is the only agent which can be depended upon for this purpose."
