

LABOR AIRS ITS TROUBLES

Central Union Takes Up Budget of Business in Special Session

DISCUSSES AK-SAR-BEN SITUATION

Action is Taken Against the Management of the Fall Carnival and Committee is Appointed to Seek Adjustment.

Central Labor union held a special meeting yesterday afternoon at the instance of members of the Building Trades council, for the purpose of considering the employment of nonunion labor by the Ak-Sar-Ben organizers.

Before the meeting was called to order the call was changed by the signers to bring any and all kinds of business up and this business occupied most of the session. Thirty-seven members, including the officers, were present.

The request of the council was read and the committee, through a spokesman, submitted to the union a resolution in which it asserted that at the beginning of the work on the street fair an effort was made to have it done under the "card system" of the Building Trades council.

George Kleffner stated that a resolution had been adopted by the board of governors to the effect that none but union labor should be employed on the street fair. A delegate from the Carpenter's union stated that no one could find the man responsible for the employment of nonunion men, as when one man was found he denied responsibility and referred to other men.

The delegate from the Electrical Workers stated that Gus Renz had absolutely refused to employ union electricians and had men from the New Thomson-Houston Electric Light company.

It was stated that Messrs. Fry and Metz had pledged themselves that none but union men should be employed after the unions had consented to permit the appropriation of $2,500 for street lighting to go through the city council without protest.

Delegate Jones, from the Building Trades council, said that he had seen Gus Renz and that of the twenty-five men employed at the Coliseum not one was a union man.

Renz, he said, stated that last year he had been imposed upon by members of the union, because they refused to work on Saturday afternoon; another reason he offered the employment of union carpenters was because he could use the men now employed at the Coliseum as carpenters.

Electrical Workers' Resolution. The secretary read a resolution from the Electrical Workers' union, reciting that the board of governors had adopted a resolution providing for the employment of union labor and had appointed a building committee which was employing nonunion workmen in every branch of the work, and submitting resolutions as follows:

Resolved, That in case of agreement can be made before the meeting of the Central Labor union of Omaha declare the Ak-Sar-Ben street fair an unfair to organized labor, and be it.

Resolved, That all organized labor be required to withdraw from any and all persons who patronize or participate in said street fair, and that such persons be definitely until each of the parties so offending have made satisfactory atonement to this body for their offenses.

It was decided to furnish the board of governors with a copy of the resolutions and that they be published, and that a committee be appointed to adjust matters.

The question was decided that in case a boycott on the street fair would not bring the desired results similar action would be taken against the individual members of the committee responsible for employing nonunion men.

A committee consisting of C. A. Robinson, Peter Green, Harry Easton, George Kleffner, George Smith, and Ben Maynard was appointed to join with the committee from the Building Trades council and the business agents of the building trades unions in bringing the matter before the merchants of the city and the board of governors.

Dips Into Politics. Then came the political end of the meeting. Fred Baumann, of the Walters' union, brought in a resolution as follows:

To the delegates attending the republican state convention, August 27 and 28, at Lincoln—Gentlemen: Whereas, the Dougan county delegation to your honorable body, on Friday, August 23, in caucus assembled, by an alleged unanimous vote, elected Judge W. W. Keyser for supreme judge, and

Whereas, the aforesaid W. W. Keyser has repeatedly gone on record as being in favor of government by injunction, having only recently taken the same course in an affiliated labor organization upon a flimsy protest; and

Whereas, Judge Keyser is so doing has proved himself to be a plant tool in the hands of those who would deprive us of the right of free speech and other privileges as are guaranteed us in the constitution of the United States and the state of Nebraska;

Whereas, We believe an injury to one is the concern of all and that the time is at hand when the sons of our state, should take an active part in the selection of those who are empowered to administer and enforce the laws of the state; and

Whereas, We believe that in the selection of Judge Keyser to a place on the highest tribunal of the state another link will be added to the chains with which it is sought to enslave free labor; and

Resolved, by the Central Labor union, representing organized labor of Omaha, That we ask all delegates attending your convention to vote against the nomination of W. W. Keyser and, be it further resolved, That we will use our best endeavors to elect for said nomination Judge W. W. Keyser for said nomination; and, if nominated, will attempt to defeat him at the polls on election day.

Resolved, That our delegates to the approaching convention of the State Society of Labor and Industry of Nebraska, and the sending organized labor of the entire state, be instructed to use all honorable means to have these resolutions adopted by said convention; and, be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished each and every delegate attending your convention for consideration.

A point of order was raised on the resolution by A. H. Groves, which point was sustained, and the resolutions were then adopted without division, after it was stated that similar resolutions had been adopted by the Omaha Typographical union.

The meeting then adjourned.

Story of a Lawsuit. The adoption of the above resolution by the Central Labor union is the result of a lawsuit now pending in the district court of Douglas county wherein Fred Baumann was introduced to the resolutions yesterday and other members of the Walters' union were defendants in an action brought by Harry J. Steen to restrain the union from actively carrying on a boycott against a restaurant managed by the plaintiff. According to the affidavits filed in the case the Walters' union declared the boycott and issued a number of cards and circulars declaring the restaurant unfair and stationing numbers of men near the restaurant who gave these cards to prospective patrons of the house. It was further alleged that the parties defendant had laid hands upon persons passing; had interfered with the conduct of the business by threatening and intimidating the employees of the house; had followed women therein employed to their homes with threats and abuse, and had attempted to deprive the plaintiff of the right to conduct his business peaceably.

LOSES HIS TEETH IN PARK

Ludicrous Predicament of a Young Man with Gold Molars to His Credit.

A tall young man with a worried look and tightly closed lips groped about in the gravel and grass at Krug's park yesterday afternoon, evidently in search of something not very large, but of value.

People at the surrounding tables felt to guessing what it might be. Sum surmised that it was a lodge pin; women that it was a lock containing a picture of some other man's face. Finally the head waiter undertook to find out. Approaching the young man he whispered over the latter's collar, "Lost something?" The hunter nodded in assent.

"Something valuable?" Another nod. Then they strolled about together, each with his eyes focused on the gravel.

"Wasn't your watch, was it?" the waiter ventured.

"No."

"Glasses?"

"No."

"Pocketbook?"

"Lord, no."

The man with the apron took courage, as men always do when their men grow exclamatory, and said: "Well, I'd like to know—er, that is, I might help you if I knew what it was."

"You bet I mean it, and if I don't find 'em pretty soon, they'll have to play slow music for a pair of my friends down town tomorrow. The two of 'em got too gay with me one here last night and they little joke will just put me eighteen jolly big bucks to the bad if I can't find what I am looking for here. We had a table over there and I got to feeling kind of confidential and took off two gold crowns that felt loose, just to show these guys what a crown looks like on the inside. Just then a couple of girls that they knew went by and these boys didn't do a thing but say 'Oh, see the queens! Queens, have a pair of crowns on us.' And they threw my pair at 'em. It was pretty busy with a fingerbow! just then and didn't get next to what it meant to me to lose those teeth. But I thought it out some better when I woke up this morning and now—well, if I don't find them, there's going to be something doing down at Swan-son's."

LABOR MEETING IN OMAHA

State Organization Will Hold Its Second Annual Session Here Next Week.

One week from today the State Society of Labor and Industry will hold its second annual session in Omaha. This society is the result of the efforts of several labor leaders to devise a plan whereby they might secure from the legislature of Nebraska the passage of laws which they considered of interest to the working people of the state.

The society is modeled closely after the plan of a society which has been in successful operation in Colorado for several years and is said by labor leaders to have accomplished much in the way of securing more equitable labor laws in that state.

It takes no part in partisan politics, but one of its principal objects is to preserve the record of every member of the legislature and other state and county officer on questions involving the rights of labor. Its first work in this line was done at Lincoln during the last session of the legislature and one of the most interesting parts of the present session will be when the committee makes its report showing the estimation in which the different members of the last session are held.

Every trade union, labor organization, railroad brotherhood and labor union in the state is entitled to three members in the convention upon the payment of 10 cents per capita for each member.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

City Treasurer and Tax Commissioner Party Complete Delinquent Tax List.

STATEMENT OF SPECIALS YET TO COME

Increase of Clerical Force Will Be Necessary to Put Finishing Touches on the Work—Magic City News.

The city treasurer and tax commissioner have completed the compiling of the delinquent tax list for the period extending from 1890 to 1900. This list, however, does not include special taxes. Considerable work is yet to be done on this list, but Treasurer Koutsky said yesterday that he expected to complete the special list within the next two days.

At any rate, both the regular and special lists will be ready to turn over to the county treasurer on September 1.

Under the provisions of the new charter one-half of the regular taxes become delinquent on January 1 and the other half on July 1.

This change will necessitate an increase in the clerical force in the treasurer's office and an application for the additional clerks will be made as soon as these taxes become delinquent.

An official of the city said last evening that it was certainly a foolish move to make the taxes delinquent at the end of six months on account of the increase in the work of the bookkeeping department. On the other hand it is asserted that this arrangement will greatly assist those who are paying for homes and especially will help the true owners of packing houses who are buying property and paying for dwellings on the installment plan.

As soon as the tax books are turned over to the county treasurer City Treasurer Koutsky proposes to commence making up a list of all delinquent taxes. It is estimated that at least $200,000 is now outstanding. When this new list is completed it is the intention of the treasurer to commence a vigorous campaign against those who have been negligent in the matter of paying taxes.

Funeral of Thomas White. Funeral services over the remains of Thomas White were held at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Nebraska lodge No. 227 Ancient Order of United Workmen had charge of the services. The deceased had been a resident of South Omaha for about eight years. At the time of his death he was employed at Armstrong. The interment was at St. Mary's cemetery.

Cleaning Twenty-Fourth Street. The work of relaying the street car tracks on Twenty-fourth street has caused the accumulation of quite an amount of litter on the pavement. When asked who was to clean the street after the work was completed a member of the council said that the street railway people would be requested to attend to this matter. There is only a small sum remaining in the street fund and economy is the order of the day now.

A request from the council will most likely be forwarded to the street car company some day during the week.

Another Candidate Appears. There is no dearth of democratic candidates in South Omaha just now. With seven or eight candidates for county commissioner this does not appear to be enough and so Judge R. B. Montgomery has announced himself as a candidate for county judge. Judge Montgomery is well known in South Omaha, having served a term or two as a justice of the peace and later as city attorney.

Contract for Schoolhouse. It is expected that the Board of Education will meet in special session tonight for the purpose of letting a contract for the construction of a schoolhouse in the Fourth ward. This new building is to be located west of the Burlington tracks in order that the children living in the extreme western part of the ward may not be compelled to cross the tracks in order to reach the Lowell school.

Giffin and Brauer Arrested. Yesterday Detective Giffin arrested John Giffin and Frank Brauer and landed them in jail on a charge of assault. It is asserted that Giffin was one of the principals in the assault committed upon Alexander Wierschberger a few nights ago. Patsy Broderick, another of the principals, was arrested the day following the assault. While the police have no knowledge that Brauer was implicated, he is being held on general principles, as he is a member of the Broderick gang.

Magic City Gossip. The city council is billed for a meeting tonight. City Clerk Shrigley and wife spent yesterday in Colorado Springs. Mr. Henry C. Richmond is attending a musical convention at Wayne, Neb.

It is stated that the saloon at 2805 N. 4th is running very hot and that the Robinson-Carlisle assault case will be called in police court this forenoon.

A large number of South Omaha people attended the picnic at Hennington yesterday.

Dr. Randall leaves today for Manila, P. I., where he has position as veterinary surgeon in the army.

Bids for the new addition to the South Omaha brewery are being received. It is thought that work on the structure will commence in about two weeks.

On Wednesday evening of this week Upchurch lodge No. 2, Degree of Honor, will give a lawn social and dance on the High School property at Twenty-third and K streets.

World Have Cost Him His Life. Oscar Bowman, Lebanon, Ky., writes: "I have been using Foley's Kidney Cure and take great pleasure in stating it gave me permanent cure of kidney disease, which certainly would have cost me my life." Take none but Foley's.

DEATH OF MRS. DORA BROWN

Widow of Omaha Pioneer Lawyer Passes Away at Her Home in This City.

Mrs. Dora Brown, widow of the late Charles H. Brown, died at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at her residence, 122 North Twenty-second street. The funeral will be held at 10 a. m., Tuesday, with private interment at Forest Lawn cemetery.

Mrs. Brown was born at Stephentown, N. Y., February 17, 1851. She had lived in Omaha since 1865 and was well known by all the older residents. Her husband, Charles H. Brown, died four years ago. He was a widely known lawyer and quite prominent in political circles, having been member of the fire and police commission and the legislature. He was also a candidate for congress at one time.

MISS TAYLOR'S CLOSE CALL

Falls Out of Boat Into Deep Water at Lake Maunwa and is Rescued by Charles Gibbs.

Charles Gibbs, clerk at Burlington & Missouri River railroad headquarters, was the hero of Lake Maunwa last night.

Gibbs saved Miss Nellie Taylor, an Omaha girl, from drowning. She has never been reported to be much of a swimmer, but he managed in some way to grab the water until he landed his charge safely upon shore. Gibbs was at the lake as an escort of Miss Taylor. He took her out for a boat ride and while skipping merrily along over the deepest water in the lake, and a long way from shore, Miss Taylor suddenly moved about and tipped out of the boat.

Gibbs sprang after her instantly. The girl being absolutely helpless in the water, Gibbs found it difficult to keep her from sinking and dragging him down also. The boat floated slowly away. To get back into it was impossible, but he swam for it, and used it as a life preserver, pushing it in front of him with one hand. Most of the evening party upon it, while with the other hand he held the frantic and almost strangled girl.

A crowd of bystanders on the bank stood by and cheered Gibbs as he flung himself and Miss Taylor upon the beach.

PROSPERITY STILL IN EVIDENCE

Statistics Gathered by Treasury Department Indicate that Trade is Upward.

It has frequently been assumed that the high level of last year's phenomenal commercial operations could not be repeated this year, says the Washington correspondent of the Louisville Globe-Democrat. Reports on the volume of trade for the six months ending June 30 do not bear out this prediction. Figures gathered by the treasury bureau of statistics on the movements of internal commerce for the first half of 1901 show that, at a late date, contrary is true and that the tide of commercial activity is still on the upward trend. Wheat receipts, for example, at eight leading markets, including Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Duluth, Chicago, Kansas City, St. Louis, Toledo and Detroit, aggregate 217,159,743 bushels for the season to June 30, 1901, compared with 209,972,915 bushels for the season to June 30, 1900. The yearly receipts of live stock at five western markets to June 30, 1901, have been 2,989,566 cattle, 129,790 hogs and 2,269,527 sheep. This exceeds by 344,552 head the arrivals for the corresponding period of last year. Traffic receipts of live stock at Chicago alone were 4,208 cars above those of the first six months of 1900 and shipments were greater by 3,756 cars. This illustrates the increasing extent to which transportation interests have been sharing in the enlarging output of staple farm products.

Packing industries have prolonged their demand for boxes further than usual into the summer. The packing demand at Chicago may be taken as representative. Here the weekly requirement during January was 141,543 head and during June 124,294 head.

SUPPLIES COMING RAPIDLY

Lively Times at the Government Depot, Where Commissary Department is Taking Stock.

There are lively times at the government corral at present, as the supplies for the army in the department are being received in such quantities as to keep the present force rushed. Most of the supplies now coming in are for the commissary department, but many quartermaster stores will soon come in, including clothing for the army not only in this department, but those in Alaska and the Philippines. This season general depot for quartermaster stores, but the crowded condition of the quartermaster storehouses in the east has made it imperative to find other places from which to distribute goods and upon recommendation of the chief quartermaster of the department, Colonel Pullman, the depot at Omaha was selected.

GENERAL GRANT GOES WEST

Fishing and Hunting. The angler will find in Utah ample opportunities to indulge in his favorite sport. The mountain streams are stocked with game fish and the but little less gamey black bass abounds in the waters of Utah lake. In season good duck hunting can be had on Utah lake, the Jordan and around the pools and lagoons of the Salt Lake valley. On the mountain sides grouse are plentiful and larger game can be found on the mountain ranges of the Uintah and Uncompahgre divisions.
