Stier, Oscar Beckwith, J. C. Brennan, J. W. Woodruff, Tom Coughlan, A. H. Campbell, T. J. Nolan, Walter Mohr, L. L. Abbott, Chris Popenhausen, Harold Overbeck, P. H. Gibson, Mike Welch, W. F. McDevitt, Joseph P. Butler.

The delegation has been instructed to present the name of E. R. Duffie of this city for the nomination for judge of the supreme court and to use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

L. J. Platt, John Laddell, M. P. Butler and a number of strong anti-fusionists are on the delegation, but they will make no effort in the state convention against coalition with the populist party.

The delegates will leave for Lincoln over the Burlington at 8:30 a. m. tomorrow.

The Bee is in receipt of the following letter from Bishop Bonannus, addressed to J. H. Edmisten, chairman of the populist state committee. It is understood a similar letter has been sent to P. L. Hall, chairman of the democratic state committee.

BISHOP'S HOUSE, LINCOLN, Sept. 13.—J. H. Edmisten, Chairman of the Populist State Central Committee, City—Sir: I am informed on excellent authority that Judge Adams of the Tenth judicial district in this state is to be proposed as a candidate for the supreme judiciary in the populist coalition, which is to be held in this city on Tuesday next. As I have reason to think that Judge Adams is an enemy of the Catholic church and as he has in my presence and within my hearing and under circumstances of great solemnity, namely, while rendering a decision in a court of justice at Alma, Harlan county, expressed his contempt of the Catholic church and its discipline and customs, I, in the name of my co-religionists, beg you to protest to you and your colleagues against the candidacy of such a man. I am, sir, your faithful servant, Bishop of Lincoln.

Amusements

Mathews and Bulger—There is no gaining the fact that there are few more popular farce comedies stars visit this city than this eccentric pair of fun makers, who brought their musical comedy success of last season to the Boyd theater Sunday afternoon. "The Night of the Fourth" was given its initial presentation here a year ago and yet despite the fact the theater was comfortably filled at both the matinee and evening performances Sunday and the reception accorded both play and players could not have been more hearty had it been the introduction of a new piece. The fact of the matter is that it makes but little difference what the vehicle is so long as this pair of mirth provokers hold the center of the stage during the greater portion of the performance. There is little else to "The Night of the Fourth" aside from Mathews and Bulger's songs and jokes and possibly one or two of the other specialties with which the piece abounds. The music is not unusually pretty or the comedy especially funny, but Mathews and Bulger are amusing enough to make the whole show so little left to be desired. There are a number of clever songs and parodies introduced, among which is Mr. Bulger's New York hit, "When Shakespeare Comes to Town."

The engagement closes with tonight's performance.

Melnie's Trencher—The second season of Melnie's Trencher was formally opened Sunday night with a presentation of "The Gypsy Princess." Baby Lund in the title role. An accomplished actress at the time, with the manner and inflection of maturity, this child marvel won the sympathy of the audience from the first moment. She has been carefully drilled during the last few months and the result is an unlimited success, at least from a dramatic viewpoint. There was no vestige of childish self-consciousness about the little actress. She has a dash about her work which persuades one that the pace has not yet had its III effect upon her.

Kreska Park—Despite the coolness of the weather and the threatening sky, many pleasure-seekers visited Kreska park yesterday and enjoyed the entertainments of the popular resort. There was two concerts by the Youth United States infantry band. The program, arranged by Mr. Gross, director, was of the popular order and was well received. The bowling alleys were in great demand. LIQUOR DEALERS' PICNIC

Nebraska Retailers' Association Has a Glorious Day at Ruse's Park.

The Nebraska State Retail Liquor Dealers' association held their picnic at Ruse's park Sunday afternoon. Notwithstanding the threatening weather, about 2,500 persons attended. At 2 o'clock a special train left the Webster street depot carrying 225 Omahans. Many went from here in private conveyances, making the Omaha delegation the largest on the grounds. Members of the association were present from all parts of the state and it was a contest from start to finish to see who could have the best time. It was an orderly, good-natured, fun-making crowd and not a disturbance of any kind marred the day.

The first number on the program was a presentation of a rattan rocking chair to the president, James Nevels of Albion. Henry Root, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced the presentation, with a neat speech, eulogizing the president. Mr. Nevels responded happily.

Mr. Hoff then presented to John Moser of Ashland an upholstered rocking chair (for being in the saloon business longer than any other man in the state. Mr. Moser has been in business since 1874 and he expects to continue to carry off the "old man's prizes" for many years to come.

The announcement that the contests were on was the signal for everybody to break away and the real fun commenced. Said one man: "I thought I was having a good time standing around and talking, but I didn't know what fun was till these raffles and things began." Another wanted a motor made to have Henry Keating, the secretary, do a "sack racing turn" at the carnival this week.

The contests were spirited and were thoroughly enjoyed.

The question as to where the conventions dated for January and July were to be held created quite a little discussion and much wire pulling was done by the delegates from Omaha, Nebraska City, Fremont and Lincoln. Omaha secured both conventions after a hard contest.

The Omaha delegation returned home at 11:50 last night and was met at the station by a large crowd of friends, who expressed their regret at allowing the threatening weather to keep them away.

DOCTORS WHO NEVER SEND BILLS.

In Sweden People Pay by the Year for Medical Service.

Sweden doctors never send bills to their patients, but trust entirely to their generosity, writes William E. Curtis from Stockholm. Each family has an attending physician, who expects them to pay him by the year for his services, according to their wealth and the amount of attention they have received. Ten dollars a year in our money is a good fee. One hundred dollars a year is princely. At the beginning of the year you put the amount in an envelope and send it to the doctor by a messenger with your card. He sends back his card with an acknowledgment of thanks and the commitments of the season. It is very hard form to talk about it, although grateful patients often write to express their appreciation and gratitude for his devotion and the benefit he has brought them. It is a good deal like the relation between a minister and his parishioners in other countries, and the annual contribution for the support of the doctor is just as voluntary as the contribution of treasury of the church. If there is any reason why one should feel grateful to the doctor; if you or your children have suffered a severe illness and he has pulled you through, he expects a present in addition to the annual honorarium, just as you would send the minister a present after a marriage or a funeral or some other special occasion at which his services were required. The amount you pay depends upon your ability and the value of his services, but it is a violation of the most sacred canon of professional etiquette for a doctor to ask compensation or question the amount he receives. He keeps no accounts of his visits and no books. If a stranger or an acquaintance who does not contribute regularly makes one call or two upon the doctor and asks his advice or a prescription he leaves nothing on the table, but if he would be equivalent to an insult if he should ask for a bill.

When a person is very sick he is taken to a hospital. Sweden has some of the best hospitals in the world. His own doctor looks after him there, assisted by the house physician and nurses, who expect fees, but the regular doctor gets none. He supervises the treatment and acts as medical adviser to the house physician.

The government pays subsidies to doctors in remote parts of the country, just as it pays the salaries of the ministers where the people are so poor that they cannot support a doctor and a parson. In fact, all clergymen of the established church are paid by the government and are government officials. The members of their parishes give them presents, something on the donation party order, because the salaries are small, and if there happen to be rich men in the parish it is the custom to send around a handsome present to the minister's wife or to himself on Christmas day.

Acting Mayor Adkins Issues Proclamation on Death of President

Saloons to Close on Funeral Day

Mrs. Minnie Oliver Offers to Settle Her Claim Against City for $1,500

At tonight's meeting of the city council Acting Mayor Adkins will submit a proposition from Minnie Oliver to settle her claims against the city for $1,500. A year or two ago Mrs. Oliver was injured by reason of a defective sidewalk and suit against the city was brought. When the case was first heard judgment was rendered for something like $2,000. It was decided to make an application for a new trial and this was granted. In order to do everything possible to win an Omaha attorney was employed to look after the city's interest. When at the conclusion of the second trial the jury returned it brought in a judgment for $2,400. As the increase in the judgment at the second trial was evidence that the city had no chance of winning efforts for a settlement were made. Acting Mayor Adkins now has in his possession an agreement signed and sworn to by Mrs. Oliver to the effect that she will settle for $1,500. Members of the council think that this is the best that can be done and arrangements will likely be made tonight for the settlement of the case.

High School Bids. It is understood that bids for the proposed High school will be opened by the Board of Education tonight. On account of the opposition to the project the letting of a contract for the work may be postponed for a time. At a meeting of the Taxpayers' league, held on Thursday, a committee was employed to prevent the letting of a contract, providing the board signifies its intention of going ahead. Members of the league assert that the attorney employed will prevent, if possible, the payment of salaries to teachers considered incompetent.

Union Memorial Services. Union memorial services were held at the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Wheeler, Rev. Andrew Benwick, Secretary Marsh and others. This meeting was presided over by men and the greatest regret was expressed at the death of President McKinley.

Adkins' Ultimatum. In speaking yesterday of his notice sent to six saloon keepers that they must either pay up or shut up, Acting Mayor Adkins said yesterday afternoon that he would insist that the saloon keepers who have not paid in their license money be closed. Until noon today money for liquor licenses will be received. Those who can show receipts for $1,000 from the city treasurer will be allowed to continue in business, but those without will be closed by the police.

The money derived from these licenses, if collected, will go to the school district fund.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S QUELRE. It hid a Luxurious Suit of Straights and Very Dark Hair.

The Father of his Country concealed a luxurious suit of hair beneath his queue wig. Many now with the old fashion were in vogue, to conceal thinning hair or baldness. Yet no one need have thin hair nor bald, if he cure the dandruff that causes both. Dandruff cannot be cured by scouring the scalp, because it is a germ disease, and the germ has to be killed. Newbro's Herpetide kills the dandruff germ—no other hair preparation will. "Destroy the cause, you remove the effect." There is no cure for dandruff but to kill the germ.

NEW WORK FOR THE BLIND

A Pleasant Departure from Former Occupations.

Through the influence of Miss Etta Josephine Griffin of Washington, D. C., who is one of them, it is highly probable that the Daughters of the American Revolution will, in the near future, give their patriotism a "left-hand" tint that shall tend to the profit of those who are less fortunate than not less patriotic than themselves. Miss Griffin has charge of the reading room for the blind in the library of congress, and has there learned to love many of those who are obliged to read with their fingers, and this love suggested the wish to help them. The work she did, in her occupations of broom making, chair caning, bead weaving and the like threw the work of the blind almost entirely into the line of those things that people bought "out of sympathy for the poor unfortunate." Miss Griffin endeavored her brains to think of something that the blind could make, absolutely unaided by a seeing person, as otherwise it would be of no account.

One of the "well stored" brought out white, washable belts, and Miss Griffin began experimenting with cord, using the same military knot that is employed for shoestraps in the navy. She soon found out that she could do nothing with cord. Just at this instant there came to her mind the picture of the maiden of yore, and the pride she took in weaving her gorgeous tresses in wide braids, and it seemed possible to make that weave of commercial value to her friends. The blind to think of it. Alack a day, she had always braided her own hair behind her head, so to speak, and when she came to try the same weave, on cord, before her face—well, for the first time in her life she was in full sympathy with the man who attempted to do it. Alack a day, she had always braided her own hair behind her head, so to speak, and when she came to try the same weave, on cord, before her face—well, for the first time in her life she was in full sympathy with the man who attempted to do it.

She then made a little bag, but found herself utterly incompetent to make one. She did a single thing with the contrary result until he got around behind his son and tied it the same as he would if it were on his own neck. Miss Griffin was trying desperately when a sister of one of her blind girls succeeded in weaving the belt.

The next thing was to get inexpensive material that could be laundered and, having used shoe strings, they thought of carset laces, which lent themselves beautifully to the work, but still they were not yet at the top of their mountain of difficulties, for there was the finishing off of the ends. Bearing in mind that the entire belt must be made without sight, after innumerable experiments a simple knot and fringed ends were evolved. Miss Whelan kindly furnishes the blind with cord from her corner store at cost and also sells the belts without commission.

One of Miss Griffin's girls has cleared $15 by belt making and many others have been evolved. Miss Whelan very kindly furnishes the blind with cord from her corner store at cost and also sells the belts without commission.

Outlook is Encouraging. Despite the fact that a national calamity has interrupted the even tenor of the fall festivities, the indications are that in the aggregate this carnival is going to eclipse any of its predecessors. It is certainly being built upon a more magnificent scale than any have been before and if the weather is reasonably favorable there can be no doubt as to success. In fact, in the face of great obstacles, the occasion has thus far been very satisfactory.

Nearly all of the finishing touches have been put upon the parade paraphernalia and it promises to be grand. An urgent request is made for all who expect to participate to appear at the Ak-Sar-Ben den tonight at 7:30 o'clock for further rehearsal and general instructions.

The military features of the carnival are expected to make a ten-strick. The sham battle is something that appeals strongly to all Americans, especially at a time when a recent war has aroused greater than ever before, perhaps, the soldier spirit of this country.

Indications now denote fair weather to day and an immense crowd is anticipated. The trains brought large additions to the throng of visitors already in the city.

May Require Another Change. Since these plans were made the arrangements for President McKinley's funeral have been changed and the body is due to reach Canton Wednesday. If the date of the services in Canton is changed on Wednesday there will be revision of the Ak-Sar-Ben plans.

HOMESEEKERS. On Tuesday, September 17, The Missouri Pacific railway will sell round trip tickets at very low rates to points in Kansas, Arkansas, Texas, south-west Missouri, Oklahoma, etc. Stoppers allowed on the going trip. For further information call on or address any of the company's agents or city offices in Omaha. S. E. corner 14th and Douglas streets. THOMAS F. GODFREY, P. and T. A.

PARADE DATE IS CHANGED

Ak-Sar-Ben Electrical Street Pageant Will Be Given Wednesday Night

CARNIVAL NOT OPEN ON THURSDAY

Closes for One Day on Account of Late President's Funeral—Great Military Feature Tuesday—Program for the Week.

REVISED CARNIVAL PROGRAM. Monday—Military day. All soldiers admitted free.

Tuesday—Sham battle and riot drill on Douglas street, between Fourteenth and Seventeenth streets, 3 o'clock p. m., by Nebraska National Guard.

Wednesday—Military and civic parade, 2 o'clock p. m. Ak-Sar-Ben electrical parade, 8 p. m.

Thursday—Carnival grounds closed all day and night on account of presidential funeral.

Friday—Traveling men's parade, 2 o'clock p. m. Ak-Sar-Ben den, 9 p. m.

Saturday—Final day of carnival. Grounds open until midnight.

Out of respect for the late President McKinley the Board of Ak-Sar-Ben Governors has found it necessary to make some changes in the carnival program for this week.

The most important of these diversions is that the electrical parade, which is one of the most important features of the entire carnival, has been advanced one day.

The Board of Governors held a special meeting last night and determined upon the program changes mentioned in the summary hereto attached. Sentiment in favor of closing on Thursday was unanimous.

"We are not out for dollars and cents," said one of the members, "and the general good of Omaha is the prime object of the Ak-Sar-Ben organization. It is certainly not our object to reflect any credit upon our city to have it announced that we would allow a carnival to proceed on the day of President McKinley's funeral. We are sorry to disappoint any visitors who may come on a distance expecting carnival entertainments Thursday, yet we know that all good citizens will readily commend our action."

Despite the fact that a national calamity has interrupted the even tenor of the fall festivities, the indications are that in the aggregate this carnival is going to eclipse any of its predecessors. It is certainly being built upon a more magnificent scale than any have been before and if the weather is reasonably favorable there can be no doubt as to success. In fact, in the face of great obstacles, the occasion has thus far been very satisfactory.
