WHITNEY QUITS ENGLISH TURF Intimation that He Believes American Horses and Jockeys Are Not

Treated Impartially. LONDON, Sept. 24.—The announced retirement of William C. Whitney from the English turf occasions regret, but hardly surprises those who have noted the recent trend of events. There is a widespread feeling that behind Mr. Whitney's published reasons for his withdrawal is the realization of the fact that the attitude of the British turf authorities toward Americans is no longer marked by the absolute impartiality which characterized their conduct prior to the pre-eminence of American owners, hotses, trainers and lockeys. During the recent season complaints have been frequent that the American horses were too heavily handicapped, that the lockeys were harshly treated and that interferences during the race were whitewashed, which would not have been tolerated on the present American lockeys. It will cause no surprise if other Americans of Mr. Whitney's class follow his example, which, it is sted, came closely after the receipt of defect."

A Tailor
