WORST FLOOD IN TEN YEARS

Damage Caused by Indian Creek Greatest Since 1900.

Householders Awake to Find Furniture Afloat and Prospect is Good for Damage Suits.

The damage caused by Indian creek overflowing its banks yesterday morning is the greatest in several years. Not since the memorable overflow in 1900 has a larger area been flooded and the streets and avenues west of Seventh street and north of Broadway for many blocks are a veritable sea of mud and sludge. Lying lots are several feet under water, while hundreds of cellars in the houses on Avenues A, B and C, and streets running north from Broadway between Eighth and Thirteenth streets, are full of water. The prospects are bright for another batch of damage suits against the city.

The creek first left its banks at the Seventh street bridge, the water pouring into the low ground east and west of the street. The cellar of Gus Hinrich's building was badly flooded, the water working in under the foundation. At the northwest corner of Seventh street and Broadway the west yard of Wittke Bros. is several feet under water in places. The same is true of all low-lying lots on the north side of Broadway from this point to the Illinois Central depot.

An immense amount of debris was washed down the creek and found lodged at the Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth street bridges, forming effective dams and causing the water to back up and overflow. At Eighth street the debris was piled high up on the platform of the bridge. Just west of the True block at Eighth and Broadway the water flowed over into Broadway until the street at that point was filled from curb to curb. The water poured north and south on Eighth street in a torrent, carrying with it a deep layer of mud and debris.

Sitting Rooms Are Afloat. Two cottages on the north side of the Eighth street bridge were badly flooded, the water being a foot deep in the sitting rooms. The Metropolitan hotel as usual suffered severely, the water pouring through the first floor in a deluge.

Broadway from Tenth street to the Thirteenth street crossing just west of the Illinois Central tracks is a sea of mud, which a large force of men was endeavoring yesterday to remove. The Metropolitan street tracks were covered with about a foot of mud and the company had a large force of men yesterday digging it off.

The sidewalk on the south side of Broadway from Tenth street to the Northwestern depot was covered with a deposit of mud and the low-lying ground south of Broadway between Union avenue and Twelfth street is under a foot of water. The basements of all the buildings on both sides of Broadway between these points were flooded.

The creek began to rise about 12:10 o'clock and a few minutes after it was overflowing its banks. It began to subside about 3 o'clock. The heavy rain east of the city caused the turbulent little creek to go on the rampage and the little sloughlike stream of a few inches in depth was in less than an hour transformed into a roaring torrent fifteen or more feet deep.

TROUBLES OF DOGCATCHERS

Poundmaster and Assistants Don't Get Even Pleasant Looks.

Poundmaster Burke and his corps of assistant dogcatchers are having all kinds of trouble. No sooner had Mrs. Ellen Dunn caused the arrest of Deputy Dogcatcher George than Mrs. Brayman, 2133 South Ninth street, wanted Justice Bryant to issue a warrant for "the man who had come right up into her yard and taken her pet dog away." The justice told Mrs. Brayman he could issue the warrant as soon as she found out the man's name. Mrs. Brayman did not return to the justice's office, so it is presumed she is still on the trail of the deputy dogcatcher's name. One of Poundmaster Burke's deputies is also said to have carried away into captivity a bull terrier belonging to Alderman Huber and the latter is said to have threatened to get the deputy's scalp. Mr. Huber is indignant, as he avers the tax for his terrier had been paid. Burke has filed an information before Justice Bryant charging Orville Cox, 13 years old, of South Ninth street, with carrying concealed weapons. He alleges that young Cox interfered with him in the performance of his official duties as dogcatcher of the city of Council Bluffs. It was while Burke and his deputies were catching the canine belonging to Mrs. Brayman that the trouble occurred. Young Cox and some other lads of a like age told the dogcatchers that they had better not come to their places looking for dogs, else they would make it warm for them. To SUPPORT HIS ASSERTION YOUNG COX IS SAID TO HAVE FLOURISHED AN OLD RUSTY REVOLVER, WHICH HAD BEEN OUT OF SERVICE THESE MANY YEARS. THE BOY IS TO HAVE A HEARING BEFORE JUSTICE BRYANT THIS MORNING.

QUESTIONS RAILWAY RIGHTS

George Chase Raises Point That Northwestern's Tracks Are Illegal.

The trial of the suit of George Chase against the city of Council Bluffs and the Chicago & Northwestern railway, which was begun Thursday before a jury in Judge Macy's court, was brought to a sudden halt yesterday morning and continued over until next term. The attorney for the plaintiff filed an amendment to his petition, in which he raised the question of the right of the railroad to maintain two of its tracks on Eleventh street, alleging that it was doing so without permission from the city and contrary to the city ordinances. This being a new point at issue and the railroad company not being prepared to answer, further proceedings were continued until next term. Chase seeks to recover damages for the flooding of his premises on Avenue B and Eleventh street, alleged to be due to the failure of the city to carry out the surface water from its tracks.

The trial jury was empaneled until Tuesday. Judge Macy announced he would hand down his decisions in the following cases this morning: Application of certain creditors of the Office & Pusey bank to have their claims established against the estate of Thomas Officer; Squire against Hansen; Reynolds against Jones; Vinton against Wright; Vinton against Squire. In the federal court the trial of the suit of Lucius Wells against James A. Patton was begun. The plaintiff, formerly president of the First National bank before its consolidation with the City-Save State bank, seeks to recover $10,000 for his holding in the reorganization of the bank and settlement of the indebtedness of the Council Bluffs Gas and Electric Light company.

RULES ON SPECIAL ELECTION

Attorney General Decides Vacancies Must Be Filled on Separate Date.

STATE REPUBLICAN LEADERS CONFER

Friction in Democratic Rank—University Wants Larger Permanent Fund—Freight Rate Question Up Again.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Attorney General Mullan today rendered an opinion in a peculiar case, but of which will have general interest throughout the state as affecting the holding of special town and city elections with the general elections. The inquiry came to him from W. F. Hartman, city attorney of New Hampton, where a special election was called to fill vacancies in the city officials, and the date was fixed the same as the general elections of November 5 and 6 next. The attorney general holds that vacancies in city offices cannot be filled that way; that there must be a special election; that it cannot be held as a part of the general election for state officers, because of the fact that qualifications for electors in cities and towns differ slightly from the qualifications for electors of the state, and if the municipal election was allowed as a part of the general election there would be confusion as to the qualification of electors. There is no direct law on the subject, but by inference it is rendered impossible to have the two kinds of elections at one and the same time. The election may be on the same day, but there would have to be different election officers and ballot boxes. There are a number of towns in the state where the same thing has been done as at New Hampton and the special municipal elections will have to be called again.

Regimental Trophy Shook.

The regimental school for the trophy cup in the Fifty-second regiment, Iowa National guard, will be held in Emmetsburg, Iowa, October 2. The charge of Captain William F. Smith of Webster City, instructor of small arms practice on duty in that regiment, Adjutant General Byers will also attend and probably Captain Karns, inspector of small arms practice. The trophy is a fine cup which has long been in the regiment and it is now held by the company at Sac City. The trophy will consist of five men from each company.

Political Conference.

An important political conference was held here today between the members of the republican state committee and the county chairman of the various counties of the state. There were present at this conference about forty of the county chairmen and also a number of the members of congress, including Speaker Henderson, Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Cousins and others. The entire congressional delegation had been invited to be present by the organization. Mr. Henderson, who has been at the previous conference with the state committee. The chief business before the conference was to agree on the general plan of work and to receive reports on the condition of the party in different districts. The county chairmen generally reported that all of the pre-convention factional feeling has disappeared and the republican party in Iowa is as completely united and harmonious as in the presidential election. There is a great demand for speakers and a desire that a number of good old time meetings be held in every county of the state. Mr. Cummins is in great demand and it will be impossible for him to fill all the dates desired for him, although he will speak twice a day on several occasions. Mr. Doolittle is next in demand and he will begin his campaign next week at Atlantic with a big meeting. Governor Shaw is also in demand and the members of congress. John Herriott will be given good dates and will begin week after next with a thorough canvass of the state. Mr. Cummins' meetings in southern and southwestern Iowa thus far have been well attended and the republicans are thoroughly aroused. Although the campaign is entirely on one side yet the republicans are making it as interesting as possible.

Friction in Democratic Committee.

There is evidence that there is some friction in the management of the democratic campaign. At headquarters today there was much surprise expressed at the information the state committee should receive of the letter of J. Phillips, candidate for governor, in which he defines his position and virtually outlines what the campaign is to be. It should have come to the committee through the medium of the county chairmen. Mr. Doolittle is next in demand and he will begin his campaign next week at Atlantic with a big meeting. Governor Shaw is also in demand and the members of congress. John Herriott will be given good dates and will begin week after next with a thorough canvass of the state. Mr. Cummins' meetings in southern and southwestern Iowa thus far have been well attended and the republicans are thoroughly aroused. Although the campaign is entirely on one side yet the republicans are making it as interesting as possible.

Ready to Distribute Fish.

As soon as the weather becomes cool enough the annual distribution of fish from the state fish hatchery at Sabula will be begun by the state game warden. He has twenty carloads of fish ready for distribution and they will all be placed in the streams of Iowa. The fish will be placed there in the upper waters of nearly all the leading streams of the state. Since this policy of supplying the streams with fish was begun a few years ago good fishing has become common in Iowa streams.

Contracts for Supplies.

The State Board of Control awarded contracts today for a large portion of the miscellaneous articles used at the various state institutions, including tobacco, oatmeal, oil, sewing machines and supplies, rubber goods, iron, leather, stationery, vinegar, pickles, photographic supplies, crockery and glassware and hardware. The Carpenter Paper company of Omaha secured the contract for stationery and the Emplie-Shugart company of Council Bluffs will supply the pharmaceuticals, but most of the awards go to Des Moines or eastern houses. The Standard Oil company gets the contract again for all oil and the Great Western Cereal company for the oatmeal.

Freight Rate Question Raised.

The freight rate question has been raised in Iowa again in a manner which is likely to call for some action on the part of the legislature. COUNCILMEN SUE FOR SALARY

Ex-Aldermen of Dubuque Demand Increase Which They Vote for Themselves. DUBUQUE, Ia., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Seven citizens who were members of the city council in 1896-97 and who drew $300 per year each "on account" have sued the city to recover each $200 per year extra with interest, and one who served in 1897 to fill a vacancy and who received $300 asks $200 more. These ex-aldermen rely on the fact that the city council in 1895 undertook to raise the aldermanic salary from $200 to $300 per year by resolution which stood unopposed during the period covered by those suits. The aldermen who adopted the resolution were indicted for voting on a question in which they were interested, contrary to section 5 of the city charter. Judge Waterman sustained a demurrer to the indictment on the ground that the charter gave the council the right to fix the salaries of all city officers and to increase or diminish them at its pleasure. The city has heretofore denied liability for such claims as the present on the ground that the city council of 1895 did not assent to fix the salaries of succeeding councils, but undertook merely to fix the salaries of its own members, which it had no authority to do, and that its action was therefore void.

Changes in Faculty at Ames.

AMES, Ia., Sept. 27.—(Special.)—Some changes have been made in the veterinary department in the last few days. Dr. Carl Gay, a graduate of the department of veterinary accept at Cornell university, has been added to the force as an assistant in the department. Dr. Gay will be the resident surgeon of the veterinary hospital and will also be assistant instructor in the department. He will be in charge of the work in materia medica, principles of horse-shoeing and obstetrics.

The pleasant method and beneficial effects of the well known remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., illustrate the value of obtaining the liquid laxative principles of plants known to be medicinally laxative and presenting them in the form most refreshing to the taste and most agreeable to the system. It is the one perfect strengthening laxative, cleansing the system effectually, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers gently yet promptly and enabling one to overcome habitual constipation permanently. Its perfect freedom from every objectionable quality and substance, and its acting on the kidneys, liver and bowels, without weakening or irritating them, make it the ideal laxative.

In the process of manufacturing Figs are used, as they are pleasant to the taste, but the medicinal qualities of the remedy are obtained from senna and other aromatic plants, by a method known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only. In order to get its beneficial effects and to avoid imitations, please remember the full name of the Company printed on the front of every package.
