DES MOINES, Sept. 28 .- (Special.) -- In the forthcoming report of the superintendent of public instruction there will be a compilation of information in regard to the extent to which consolidation of rural schools, which has been strongly recommended by the department, has been effected in Iowa and what the results have been. In this will be included an interesting statement from Superintendent Clifford of Council Bluffs in regard to the experience in closing the Woodbury school. which was separated from the other schools of the independent district. The school cost, while in operation, about $80 a month. It was closed and the pupils all transported to a school in the city, effecting saving of $50 a month during the school year in the district. The plan is reported as giving excellent satisfaction. A report from Superintendent Bateman of Winnebage county in regard to the consolidation of schools at Forest City is also encouraging. The pupils in the district closed have schooling nine months at less cost than formerly seven months. Two other school districts near the town have made proposition to close their schools and transport pupils to the town schools, paying the regular tuition for each and every pupil. These and other reports will be embodied in the annual report. The preliminary announcement of the Northwestern lowa Teachers' association to be held at Cedar Rapids October 17 to 19 has just seen received by State Superintendent Barrett. Rev. J. M.
