Another Scare Among Wheat Shores Gives Strength to Narrow Market. CORN SHOWS WEAKNESS AT THE OPENING.

Only Are Dull and Featureless, with Outlook Moderate and Demand Provisions Lower on Prices of Hogs.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—Another scare among the wheat shorts gave strength to the other wheat, narrow market today, and December wheat closed higher, December corn lower and December oats unchanged.

Wheat was dull for the first two hours of trading, December opening a shade higher, but lower on the report that the wheat traders had expected a buoyant call after yesterday's decline, and when they were disappointed they began to feel the influence of the bearish conditions that have prevailed since the opening of the season.

Provisions were dull and lower, influenced by continued selling for the outside account and lower prices for hogs. There were some local receipts of corn, and January pork closed 17 1/2c lower at 15 1/2c, January lard 15c down to 14 1/2c.

Wheat quotations were as follows: Article. Open. High. Low. Close. Yes. No. Wheat 67 1/2 67 3/4 67 1/4 67 3/4 67 3/4
