

GOING TO WINTER QUARTERS

Omaha Society Folks Turn to Indoor Forms of Amusement.

THEATER IS NOW IN HIGH FAVOR

Gannett-Taylor Wedding is the Feature of the Week and a Budget of Engagements is Revealed—Survey of the Field.

Now that the season for out-of-door sport is nearly closed the Country club is not the lively place that it was a while back and in anticipation of the time, not far off, when the season there will be over, the golfers are making the most of every fine day and the rest of society spends its Saturday afternoons there, looking on.

Though the cool weather makes the Saturday evening golf more enjoyable than during the warm weather, the popularity of the Saturday evening dinner has increased with it seriously of late, for those who have been providing these week-end entertainments have chosen their guests largely from among those who have contributed much to the interest of the other affairs.

Of course the Gannett-Taylor wedding was the feature of last week and the majority of the other affairs were given in honor of the bridal party. Vague rumors of more weddings in exclusive circles have taken a more definite form of late and it is no longer a secret that five of the most popular young women now in society are engaged.

No announcements have been made as yet, but now that the secrets are out, society is anticipating more "given in honor" affairs.

Pleasures Past.

Mrs. Harry Whitkin was hostess at a luncheon given in Miss Estabrook's honor on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Reed entertained at cards on Friday evening in honor of the Danielson-Myers bridal party.

Major Michie entertained a few friends at dinner at the Millard on Sunday evening, prior to his departure for Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Ford celebrated their wedding anniversary on Wednesday evening, with an elaborate dinner party. There were twelve guests present.

Mrs. Luther Kountze, Miss Dodge, Miss Anderson, Miss Lindsey and Mr. Stewart were Miss Kountze's guests at an informal luncheon at Forest Hill on last Saturday.

Mrs. E. Margaret was hostess at a dinner party on Tuesday evening, given in honor of Miss Agnes Myers, whose marriage to Mr. Fred Danielson is to occur on Wednesday evening.

Miss Estabrook and Miss Pullman, Mr. Charles George and Mr. Sydney Smith were Mr. George Martin's and Miss Edna Martin's guests at a box party at Boyd's on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, Miss Edith Smith and Mr. Stockton Heth were Mr. Chat Redick's and Mr. Clark Redick's guests at a dinner at their home on Tuesday evening.

Miss Cotton entertained Miss Heddon, Miss Curtis, Miss Spurgeon, Mr. Gould Dietz, Mr. Lee McShane, Mr. Creigh, Mr. Fred Nash, Dr. Lake and Mr. Ben Cotton at Sunday evening tea last week.

The Misses Murphy entertained very pleasantly on Tuesday evening for the bridal party of Miss Agnes Myers and Mr. Fred Danielson. Guessing games and silhouettes drawing contributed features to the evening's entertainment.

In honor of General Crowder, Mr. Drake and Dr. Bridges gave a small dinner on Wednesday evening. The party consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Porter Peck, Miss Peck, Miss Lindsey, Miss Swendburg, Mr. Frank Hamilton, General Crowder, Mrs. Drake and Dr. Bridges.

Miss Lillian B. Bushman, assisted by her sister, Miss Nettie, entertained the members of the S. B. D. club and a few other friends on Thursday evening in honor of Miss Agnes Myers. The color scheme of pink was carried out in the decoration of the rooms and also in the details of the refreshments served late in the evening.

In one of the private dining rooms of the Omaha club Miss Mabel Taylor and Mr. Herbert I. Gannett entertained the members of their bridal party at dinner on Tuesday evening. It was a pink affair, pink roses and ferns forming the centerpiece, while from the place cards dainty heads done in water color by the hostess, pink ribbons extended to the center of the table, where they were attached to quaint pewter stines, on the handles of which were engraved the initials of the host and hostess. In addition to the members of the bridal party, Miss Cleveland and Miss Anderson were the only other guests.

In compliment to Miss Taylor and her bridesmaids, Miss Helen Millard gave a charming little luncheon on Monday. Bridesmaids' roses were used on the table and smart little pen-and-ink sketches marked the places. The young women present were: Miss Taylor, Miss Julia Anderson, Miss Elizabeth Allen, Miss Cleveland and Miss Florence Cleveland, Miss Hoagland, Mrs. Herbert Rogers and Mrs. Luther Kountze.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hoagland chaperoned a party at Boyd's on Monday evening, to see Annie Russell, in "A Royal Family." The party consisted of the members of the Taylor-Gannett bridal party, who were Miss Hoagland's guests. They occupied three lower boxes and were: Miss Taylor, Allen, Millard, Nord of Central City, Anderson, Messrs. Gannett, Creigh, Robb, Earl Gannett, Ed George, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Kountze, Paul Hoagland, Miss Hoagland and Mr. and Mrs. Hoagland.

In point of elaborate detail and artistic design Miss Hoagland's luncheon, given on Friday in honor of Mrs. Henry T. Clarke, Jr., recently returned from her bridal trip, was one of the smartest affairs of the fall. The details were carried out in ribbons and flowers of pink and violet. From a tall vase in the center of the table shone a bank of the same which surrounded the base of their support. Bunches of violets surrounded this mound and from it radiated ribbons of pink and violet, the pink extending to the edge of the cloth and falling over, and the violet ending at each plate, with a little water color plate card. A scattering over the cloth of asparagus fern completed the decoration. Miss Hoagland's guests were: Mesdames Clarke, Wilkins, Herbert Wheeler, Misses Millard, Allen, Peck, Morse, Eastbrook, Martin, Nord, Cleveland, Florence Cleveland and Edith Smith.

over green taffeta. Mrs. Henry T. Clarke, Jr., the matron of honor, followed, gowned in white lace over white silk. Last was the bride with her father. Her gown was of white tulle and chiffon over white satin and she carried a shower of lilies of the valley which hung to the carpet. In accordance with the Episcopal ritual the service opened at the chancel steps, after which the party advanced to the altar where the vows were said and the benediction pronounced. A reception followed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor on South Thirty-fifth street. The house was dressed with potted plants and roses and the veranda inclosed and furnished with rugs, chairs and couches.

A Phenomenal Musician.
One of Omaha's most popular society ladies, living less than 100 miles from the Winona Apartment House, recently astonished her friends and neighbors by her remarkable performance on a piano.
Her most intimate acquaintances from childhood had never known her to play more than simple melodies, and when they heard the "Rienze Overture," by Wagner, played with all the brilliancy of a Josephy or Andreevsk's' minstrel, with execution fully equal to that gifted musician, William Tell, Tannehauser, and other compositions of the most difficult interpretation, played by her in a faultless manner, then astonishment grew to amazement. It seemed impossible for any one so quickly to accomplish this most wonderful technique with trills, runs, octaves—with the different shading of tones from the hardly audible "pianissimo into the thunders of double forte" which all believed to require many years of study under the greatest masters.
But now the secret's out. The society lady's husband had presented her with a beautiful Hardman piano and an Angelus Piano Player—a combination with which any one, even without the least musical education, can play overtures, solos, waltzes, marches, rag time, in fact all piano music with the exact interpretation of the composer's intent.
It is needless to say that all appreciated the humor of the situation when told their newly discovered "star" merely operated a machine which was capable of producing all the artistic effects known to piano music.
Angelus Piano Players and Hardman Pianos are on free exhibition daily at 1316 Farnam Street, North side of street.
Call and hear the beautiful music or write for catalogue and prices.

Woman's Work in Club and Charity
The first fall meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution will be held at 3 o'clock on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Allee, 620 Park avenue. At this meeting all members desiring the formal recognition pin may be supplied.
The October meeting of the board of directors of the Woman's Christian association will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, in the parlors of the Young Men's Christian association. A full attendance of members is requested, as the location of the new site for the Old Ladies home is to be decided upon.
Denton J. Snyder of the Chicago Kindergarten college will arrive tomorrow to deliver a course of ten lectures to the Froebel society of Omaha. Beginning tomorrow they will be given afternoon and evening until Friday, the last two occurring Saturday. Six of them are to be given on the "Psychology of the Gifts" and the other four on Shakespeare. While in the city Mr. Snyder will be entertained at the home of Mrs. Chittenden, supervisor of the Omaha kindergartens.
The Equalty club will hold its first meeting of the year next Tuesday evening, October 15, in the banquet room of the Paxton Hotel. The special business will be arrangements for the reception of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, who will visit Omaha November 11.
The woman suffrage campaign in Nebraska will open with the entrance of the national president, Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, into the state, October 28. A two weeks' series of conferences has been arranged for the larger towns, as follows: Wayne, Mrs. F. Schaefer; Omaha, first for best original work; Mrs. Ida Harr, first for decorations appropriate for form and article; Mrs. Mabel Truax, Omaha, second for design appropriate to article; Mrs. Morrill, second for design appropriate to piece.
The women of the Needlework Guild of America have arranged for their annual distribution of garments to take place at the First Methodist church, November 6 and 7. All garment members are requested to send their contributions to their directors by October 25, so that the women may complete their reports without confusion, as all must be in before the day of the distribution. The women of Omaha are responding generously to this charity, as its simplicity and good results appeal to all. All garment members and friends of the guild are requested to come to the church parlors on the afternoon of November 7, when the garments will be on exhibition, marked and ready for distribution, and then each contributor can learn where the garments are to go.
The following awards have been made for the annual meeting of the Nebraska Federation of Women's Clubs held last week at Wayne: Mrs. F. Schaefer of Omaha, first for best original work; Mrs. Ida Harr, first for decorations appropriate for form and article; Mrs. Mabel Truax, Omaha, second for design appropriate to article; Mrs. Morrill, second for design appropriate to piece.
