

CHINA AND THE FOREIGNERS

Rev. Dr. Ames Talks of Conditions in the Celestial Empire.

EFFECTS OF THE BOXER UPRISING
Good Advertisement for Christianity and Not a Bad Thing for the Government in the Long Run.

Dr. W. S. Ames, a missionary of the Congregational church in China, who occupied considerable shares of public attention during the time immediately following the suppression of the Boxer outrages in China, is in Omaha. At the home of Dr. H. C. Herring of the First Congregational church Sunday he talked on China and its future, saying:

"It has been twenty-four years since I first went to China. The first three years I spent at Pao Ting-fang, where I studied the language. From there I went to Pekin, which has been the scene of my labors since. Had I remained at Pao Ting-fang it is probable that my work would have been over for every missionary in that place over forty—were killed during the uprising. When I went to Pekin there were no railroads, no telegraphs. Communication with the coast was by boat or cart. Now there is one railroad with a prospect of another and the telegraph service has been established for some time.

"I see that Foreigners have called for the expulsion of the foreign merchants from Pekin. This does not necessarily imply a reaction, but the question is one which will have to receive the closest attention of the representatives of the powers. Pekin is not a treaty port. No foreign merchant has any right in the city and when they refused to pay the octroi tax they were very much in the wrong. The city government is maintained from this tax and refusal to pay it means a depletion of the municipal treasury. In China as in all other countries foreigners should conform to a certain degree as much as possible. Before the Boxer uprising there were two stores in Pekin maintained by foreigners and the officials suffered them to remain, as they accommodated Chinese as much as the foreign residents.

Merchants Making Money.

"The merchants now in China, the retail dealers, are reaping a harvest. The margin of profit is wide and the sales are large. The rich Chinese are always anxious to buy foreign goods. They want the best and are willing to pay well for what they want. I know one man who came to Pekin a short time ago with practically nothing and today is worth probably $100,000. The Chinese empire is weakening. There will be a demand from that country for machinery and all other manufactures. America must also take up to the possibilities of that trade.

"Now as to the Boxer uprising. There were two phases to the Boxer movement. The first was religious or superstitious. It was a form of idolatry. The object of the sect taught the possibility of the establishment of a communication between the residents of the earth and the spirits of the departed. By assuming a certain pose of the body, they said, the soul would leave the body and would enter heaven. For three years we dwelt at peace with these people and there was no religious trouble nor hostility against foreigners. At that time the emissary dowager saw Germany, France and England seizing upon portions of Chinese territories. She became angered at these aggressions and looked around for some one to vent her anger upon. She turned to the Boxers. By the teachings of the leaders men were led to believe that if they would unite to drive the foreigners from the land their efforts would be seconded by an army of 800,000 spirits which would come to their assistance. Then began the outrages which make it impossible to suppose that the Boxers came from the lower strata of Chinese society. They were average citizens. Many rich and influential persons were forced into the movement through fear of death. While opposing foreigners they destroyed everything foreign. The fact that a Chinaman took a foreign lamp in his possession was just cause for death, according to Boxer ideas. Chinese stores where small lines of foreign goods were carried were raided and their owners killed. Women whose feet were not bound were killed as though they were foreigners and their foreign husbands were killed because of their foreign theological ideas."

Collecting the Indemnities.

Referring to the indemnities which were collected under his direction and the criticism which was passed upon his action by Mark Twain, Mr. Ames said that he had nothing to say in regard to the criticism and that he considered the incident closed. Continuing, he said: When the Boxers were finally suppressed I found myself with probably 500 families to support. Many of them were small farmers whose cattle had been stolen, whose grain had been seized and they had been driven from their homes. With the representatives of the powers I discussed the question of the support of these families. Foreign employees of the Chinese government suggested the idea of enforcing the Chinese law. This law, which is universal in its application in that country, is to the effect that the misdoers of the individual shall call for reparation from the community in which the deed was committed. The Chinese law and did it through the Chinese officers. We would visit a village and the Chinese officer would send a runner for the head man of the village. We would then show him where a number of Christians had been kept at the property had been destroyed. The other side of the case and the head man presented their side of the case. The officer would then levy a fine equal in amount to the property destroyed upon the village and it would be collected and paid to me by the head man of the village. In the number of Christian refugees whom we had to support were several who had lost no property—poor people who had none to lose. In many cases the breadwinner of the family had been killed and those who were left were paupers. For their support we made an additional claim of an amount in some cases equal to one-third of the value of the property destroyed. This claim was allowed by the Chinese officers and was paid by the head man of the village. The money thus raised was used for the support of the poor Christians referred to."

China to Rule Asia.

"China is destined to be the dominant power in Asia. It will leave Japan far behind and the Japanese see this. Leading financial and industrial institutions of southern Japan are now conducted by Chinese. The Japanese is faster, but the Chinese is more sure. He is a religious man, a thinker, an inventor. It takes a long time for him to change, but when the change does come it will be an awakening which will astonish the world.

"In the religious work in that country the results are good. When the recent trouble came upon us we had about 100,000 converts where we had about 10,000 twenty-four years ago and 1,000,000 persons had been evangelized. The Boxer uprising was one of the best advertisements the missionary movement could have had in China. By reason of it millions of people have heard of Christianity who would have otherwise died without hearing its name."

LOSSES PROVE MUCH LIGHTER

Revised Estimates Show Down the Damage Done by Fire Saturday Night.

TOO MANY NEGLECT THEIR CHURCH DUTY

Conditions Which Have Always Prevailed Are Investigated Against as Tending Toward Lower Moral Standard.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday forenoon the pastor, Rev. Dr. Robert L. Wheeler, preached an interesting sermon on the subject, "Judicious Christians." The doctor chose as his text Matthew xxiii, 23: "Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, for ye have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy and truth." He said in part:

"It was not in the cabin of the Mayflower, where the subjects of our great lord and sovereign, King James, made their famous covenant and compact; neither in the Bay Colony, whose head and chief said, 'I do not conceive that God hath ever ordained democracy as a fit government for church and state,' but from the 'Judicious Christians,' as Cotton Mather called them, who withdrew from the Bay country in 1638 and, led by Hooker, Stone and Mason, settled on the banks of the Connecticut. They were indebted to their decisive opposition to class legislation in the colonial period to the possession of a certain equal rights for all for succeeding commonwealths, out of which finally emerged the constitution of the United States.

"Cotton Mather's sarcastic speech has long since lost its sting concerning these 'Judicious Christians.' In the after glory which blessed the devotion to the principles of Christian religion, in preserving a pure democracy, the separation of church and state; they made the history of New England glorious because they did not omit the weightier matters of the law in Christian conduct.

"The conditions prevailing on the banks of the Missouri in 1901 call as loudly for the influence and protest of 'Judicious Christians' as 275 years ago on the Connecticut, or when Christ used these words at Jerusalem in the reign of the Tassars. It is not that Christianity is inefficient to do the work God hath ordained for it in America, but it is the lack of the 'judicial' in the ordinary church member in omitting the essentials of the Christ life. When the men of the church have time for politics, for mammon, for the pleasures, and all, but for the honest service they owe God in the church, and are so busy that the feeblest duty is shelled without excuse, there is a serious omission of the weightier matters of the law of Christ.

"We glory in the consecration of America's Christian womanhood, and how a really small part love Christ supremely; how fatiguing is the labor of the minor faithful ones! When woman spends more time over the fuss of social events, more money over her high-five tables, in teas, lunch and luncheon, than in prayer for her own redemption, it is time to call a halt, for judgment must first begin at the house of the Lord in a spiritual cleansing.

"But the judicious Christian, although less in numbers and worldly power, will win; the little leaven will do its work, all will be made ready for the coming of our Lord is established in the earth with joy and crowns for those servants who, knowing the will of Christ, were judicious enough to do it."

Board Meets Tonight.

An adjourned meeting of the Board of Education is to be held tonight. As the two experts now engaged in checking the books of the school district for the last year are not through no report will be made. These reports are in the hands of the auditors and will be prepared to make a definite report for another week. It is thought that arrangements will be made at tonight's meeting for the opening of the new school house in the old Fourth ward and two additional teachers will be assigned to duty.

St. Agnes' Church Mission.

Mission services, to continue for two weeks, commenced at St. Agnes' church, Twenty-third and Q streets, yesterday. The meetings are in charge of Rev. F. J. Mulcahey, S. J., and Rev. J. J. O'Connor, S. J. Services the first week will be especially for women, while the second week will be for men. The morning services are open to all. This order of services will be observed: At 8 a. m., mass and short instruction; 8 a. m., mass and short instruction; 10 p. m., instruction for adults, Catholic and non-Catholic; 7:30 p. m., beads, sermon and benediction.

Additional Sanitary Restrictions.

Orders have been issued by the Bureau of Animal Industry to all railroads operating in this section regarding the shipment of sheep. Hereafter all cars carrying interstate shipments of sheep must be thoroughly cleaned and washed before the inspector at this point will give a clean bill of health or permit the shipment to go forward. This means that western sheep shippers, who unload to feed in transit, must wait while the cars are being cleaned. One of the government inspectors said yesterday that this order will cause a delay of about twenty-four hours on shipments intended for Chicago. This order will not affect through shipments. It is only when sheep are unloaded to feed here that the time will be taken to clean the cars before permitting the shipment to go forward.

That Bond Proposition.

It is probable that the city council will, at its meeting tonight, take some action as to the disposition of the recent issue of bonds to the amount of $50,880. These bonds have been on the market for some time, but buyers are scarce. Of the issue $35,000 is to draw 4 per cent interest and the balance 6 per cent interest. Bidders have been backward on account of the low rate of interest on a portion of the issue. There is a proposition before the council to make a change so that the entire issue will draw 6 per cent. If this is done it is thought that bond buyers will take a little more interest in the sale. Brokers say that the

STERILIZED BARBER SHOP.

A famous shop in the Carrollton Hotel, Baltimore, Maryland. The barber shop in the Carrollton hotel, Baltimore, sterilizes everything it uses in the shop. The sterilizing is done by heat. The towels, the razors, the strops, the soap, the combs and brushes are all sterilized before being used on a customer. Where there is no sterilization have the barber use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the dangerous germ and it is an antiseptic for the scalp and for the face after shaving. All leading barbers everywhere appreciate these potent facts about Herpicide and they use it. Destroy the cause, you remove the effect.

Result of a Row.

H. S. McCune was arrested yesterday afternoon for assaulting T. W. Kennedy. Trouble between the two men was brewing for some time. Kennedy was in a house on Eleventh and Douglas streets, playing cards, when McCune came in and immediately landed on Kennedy. The latter finally reeled himself and McCune a good whipping. McCune broke away, ran to the door, pulled out a knife and threw it at Kennedy, but the knife striking his ear, the wound was dressed at the police station.

B'nai Brith Celebrates the Fifty-Eighth Anniversary of its Founding.

At Metropolitan hall last night occurred the united B'nai Brith celebration in honor of the fifty-eighth anniversary of the order, the seventeenth anniversary of the Nebraska lodge, the first anniversary of the auxiliary and the institution of the new young men's lodge.

The young men's lodge was organized yesterday afternoon and named William McKinley in honor of the late president, being the first lodge of the order organized since the death of the president. Representatives to the number of 80 were present and took part in the jubilee. I. Zeigler acted as master of ceremonies. A delightful literary and musical entertainment was carried out.

Rabbi Abram Simon of Omaha delivered the address of welcome. After a vocal solo by Mrs. C. K. Truhart, the speaker of the evening, Grand President S. Livingston, was introduced. Mr. Livingston spoke of the order, its object, the work being accomplished and explained the work to the newly instituted lodge. The order which blessed the devotion to the principles of Christian religion, in preserving a pure democracy, the separation of church and state; they made the history of New England glorious because they did not omit the weightier matters of the law in Christian conduct.

Local Plant of American Smelting and Refining Company to be Extended.

Simon Guggenheim of Denver and David Guggenheim of New York of the executive committee of the American Smelting and Refining company spent yesterday in Omaha.

"We are making a tour of inspection," said David Guggenheim, "and will visit every plant of the company excepting those in South America before we return home. We have in contemplation some extensive improvements in our properties, but the scope of the work cannot be stated in particular until we have completed this tour and considered all the conditions it reveals to us."

"I will say that the Omaha plant will be continued as the greatest refining establishment in the world. It is now being converted to its capacity and we will undoubtedly have to increase the capacity in the near future. It would be misleading to say that the Omaha plant will be improved—rather say that it will be extended. We regard it as a perfect smelting and refining works, not susceptible to improvement. It is turning out 2,000 ounces of gold, two tons of lead and considerable amount of copper every day."

AMUSEMENTS

BOYD'S THEATER.

"McFadden's Row of Flints" has lost none of its popularity in Omaha. Although this concoction of Celtic wit and song and dance has been dished up in this city several times, it is still a potent attraction, for Sunday night at any rate, as was shown by the capacity business done at Boyd's theater last night. The company presenting the piece this year is a large and capable one, and it includes a number of clever specialty people. The engagement was for the single night.

CREIGHTON-ORPHEUM.

Enough people to fill all the chairs in the house patronized the Creighton-Orpheum last night and thoroughly enjoyed the new bill. The feature of this week's program is Dorothy Morton, who has forsaken comic opera for the vaudeville circuit. Miss Morton is singing in splendid voice and her stage presence is just as "stunning" as ever. She is undoubtedly sustaining her enviable reputation as a lyric star.

Another bright spot on the bill is furnished by the appearance of George W. Leslie and a supporting company of three talented people in "Chums," which is a comedy of extraordinary merit. Mr. Leslie is working the artistic, March and Sarto, singers and dancers; Mr. and Mrs. Karsy, musical artists; Stella Lee, comedienne; Bryan and Nadine, comedy acrobats; Fred Niblo, monologue artist, and the kinoreome complete a bill of general excellence.

MINOR'S TROUPE.

Two big audiences gathered at the Trocadero yesterday afternoon and last night to witness the opening performances of The High Rollers burlesque show. The company has changed in personnel since appearing here last winter, and the changes have worked to the good of the performance. The new skills, both of them of the rollicking order and offering ample opportunity for the big company to display its capacity to amuse, are given. Pat White, the Verdier sisters, Howe and Scott, Abbie Carlton, Dot Davenport and Dixon and Holmes put up creditable acts in the olio. The High Rollers remain for the entire week, with matinees daily.

HAYDEN'S Your Winter Clothing

Cheaply made clothing is not cheap at any price. Our constant aim is to offer good clothing at the lowest possible price, whether that price be $5.00 or $25. There is no economy in buying thrown-together clothing which cannot give proper service—the product of sweat shop tailors is the poorest kind of investment, should any garment that we sell go wrong
