AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Hammond Plant Reopens, Employing Three Hundred Men.

ACTIVITY AMONG PACKERS IS GENERAL

Other Departments at Hammond's to Be Opened Soon—Swifts Make Appropriation for Improvements—Stock Yards Have Big Run.

The Hammond packing house reopened yesterday with more than 300 men at work. Only the beef department is in operation. This is now in charge of Charles Jones. Twenty expert beef dressers were sent on from Chicago and went to work. From the time of the opening of the abattoirs until the close of the day cattle were slaughtered and dressed at the rate of sixty an hour. Over 400 head were dressed and sent to the coolers. The cooling rooms are in running order again and there is plenty of room for all the cattle that the company can kill here for some time to come.

C. P. Monahan, one of the purchasing agents from Hammond, Ind., is here and will remain for a time looking after the interests of the company and buying the supplies needed. Workmen are still engaged in making improvements about the plant and it is expected now that the hoghouse will be opened next week. When this department of the plant is opened there will be employment for possibly 200 men and when the sheep house is opened the usual number of men will be employed. The reopening of the Hammond house and the improvements being made by the other packers are causing quite a boom at the present time and business men report that trade is good.

That Viaduct Proposition.

It was rumored yesterday that a conference is soon to be held between the officials of the Union Stock Yards company and the managers of the Union Pacific Railroad company in connection with the viaduct. The plans drawn some time ago by Chief Engineer King of the Stock Yards company have been submitted to the Hammond people for approval. It is stated that if the approaches as shown by the plans are approved by the Hammond managers the material will be ordered at once and the work will commence as soon as practicable. If the viaduct as proposed is built the Hammond people will have an entrance into the plant from a point near the main entrance of the Exchange building. Several of the hoghouses will be taken out in order to make a first-class road to the plant. If this is not done a separate runway from the proposed viaduct to Hammond's will doubtless be built.

Swift Appropriates Money.

Word reached here yesterday from Chicago that Swift and Company had appropriated $200,000 for improvements of the plant in this city. As was mentioned in the Sunday Bee improvements to cost nearly $250,000 are now contemplated. The appropriation of funds, however, was made at a recent meeting of the board of directors. The engineers who have the work in charge are expected back here in a day or so and then something positive as to the extensions contemplated will be known. The present fertilizer and the tank house will, it is rumored, be torn down and replaced by more modern buildings. The new hoghouse will be four stories high and will occupy the vacant ground west of the present row of old buildings. This work of new construction and rebuilding will occupy the entire winter and employment will be given to several hundred men.

Big Sheep Run.

Nearly 20,000 sheep were received at the Union Stock Yards yesterday. The exact number was 19,585. This broke all previous records for one day. There was no difficulty in handling this large shipment, as the barns as now constructed are capable of holding 25,000 head. In weighing the sheep were handled admirably. In fact, both shippers and packers complained that the stock yards management on the rapidity shown in the weighing process. Since January 1 of this year 1,075,447 sheep have been handled at this market. This is a slight decrease from the same period of last year, but breeders of sheep have been holding shipments back with the expectation that the stock yards company will be able to show, at the close of the year, an increase over last year.

The largest run of sheep at the yards here prior to yesterday was on October 10, 1896, when 17,982 head were yarded. One feature of yesterday's big run was the fact that there was a ready demand for sheep.

RECORD OF JUDGE GORDON

Some Facts About the Fusion Candidate for Judge of Police Court.

HAS PRIVATE BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS

F. L. Wheeler, Discharged Police Court Defendant, is Induced to Retain Gordon and Law Partner, Eller as Private Counsel.

Samuel I. Gordon, fusion candidate for reelection for judge of the city of Omaha, has been impeached in that office and has never disproved the charges upon which he was convicted. Judge Charles T. Dickinson of the district court, who found the charges of malfeasance in office made against Gordon to be true, entered an order removing him from office. Gordon appealed to the supreme court, bringing into question the jurisdiction of the district court to hear the case, and on this question of jurisdiction, and nothing more, regained possession of his office. Since Gordon has been reinstated as judge of the court he has returned to the old practice of arbitrarily dismissing cases and releasing defendants on their own recognizance, all of which works great loss to the schools and funds of the city, into which are collected in the police court. It was for this very same practice that Gordon was impeached and ousted.

NEBRASKA MAN'S ADVANCE

Rapid Rise of Lewis S. Ryan in Military Service of His Country.

Lewis S. Ryan, formerly of Lincoln but now second lieutenant in the Thirtieth company of coast artillery, stopped in Omaha yesterday long enough to receive orders from General Bates to report at once to his university at San Diego, Cal., where he will find his company.

When President McKinley made the first call for volunteers in the Spanish-American war in 1898, Lieutenant Ryan was a member of the junior class at the University of Nebraska. He was the first man in his university to answer the call, enlisting as a private, although if he had waited and allowed political influence to be exerted he could easily have had a commission. If he had waited he would have had a commission. If he had waited he would have had a commission. If he had waited he would have had a commission.

all of which works great loss to the schools and funds of the city, into which are collected in the police court. It was for this very same practice that Gordon was impeached and ousted.

Why So Lenient?

People conversant with police court affairs have often asked why Gordon is so lenient with offenders brought before him and some have gone so far with their generosity as to attribute it to the judge's goodness of heart. A case that has recently come to light, however, seems to furnish a more reasonable explanation of the lenient practice of the judge. It is a case wherein a beneficiary under the Gordon system turns around and retains the judge and his law partner, Eller, to bring charges against the police officers who arrested him and wherein the judge and his law partner make a neat little "rake-off" of $10.

One Night last July Officer Bloom arrested

F. L. Wheeler, a book agent, and charged him with having offered for sale indecent and lewd literature, which is a serious offense under the ordinances of the city. On the following day Wheeler was brought before Judge Gordon, who heard the evidence and ordered his discharge. In the proceedings before Judge Gordon the defendant's counsel was Farrington Powers and after the close of the case Wheeler retained Powers to bring charges against the officers who had participated in his arrest and detention. How Wheeler happened to discharge Powers and take on new attorneys is best told in his own language, as follows: "After Judge Gordon had discharged me, says Wheeler, 'I went to him to ask him whether I would be permitted to employ agents to sell my books in Omaha and incidentally I told him that I proposed to file charges against the officers for false and malicious arrest and prosecution. He asked me what lawyer I had retained for the work and I told him that I had engaged Mr. Power. He then said that Power was not the right kind of a man for the job and that his law partner, Eller, had been quite successful in cases of that kind. I asked him what kind of a retainer he would require and he told me that he would take $10 for preliminary expenses and costs and would fix up the balance of the bill with Judge Eller."

Pays Fee to Judge Gordon.

"It then paid Judge Gordon $10 and took his receipt for the amount. He wrote the receipt on his official letter head—that of the police court. You see, I thought I was making a pretty good deal in getting the judge of the court who had heard my case and discharged me to act as my attorney. Later on Judge Gordon took me up and introduced me to Judge Eller, who he said would look after the case in detail. Judge Gordon told me that he did not want to be known in the case."

Eller prepared the charges against Officer Bloom et al and filed the same with the Board of Police and Police Commissioners. A week later the board heard the evidence in the case and dismissed it, at the same time commending the officers for making the arrest. For his fruitless work Mr. Eller exacted a fee of $100 from Wheeler. Eller's receipt for this fee, in fac-simile, is published herewith, as is also Gordon's receipt for the retainer.

There are facts collateral with the story related above which are also significant of Judge Gordon's "goodness of heart." On August 3 Wheeler was arrested for the second time, and again he was discharged by Judge Gordon. This time it was Eller, paid counsel for Wheeler. On August 17 and again on September 4 C. M.

ST. PATRICK'S FAIR OPENS

John Rush, Father Dowling and Father Smith Make Opening Speeches.

The Catholic fair for the benefit of St. Patrick's church commenced last night at the church hall, Thirteenth and Martha streets, and will continue until November 2, inclusive. The large hall is beautifully decorated and around the walls are arranged booths, in which are displayed the various articles to be raffled off at the close of the fair, including everything from a sack of flour to diamond carriages and the finest of fancy work. Another very interesting feature that attracts the old as well as the young is the fish pond.

The program opened with a short talk by the chairman, John Rush, who reviewed the founding of the church, etc. Mr. Rush stated the indications were that at the close of the fair the entire church debt would be paid off. After a selection by the church choir, Mr. Rush introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. M. P. Dowling, president of Creighton university.

Father Dowling said: "It was announced that it was to speak on the 'Future of the Republic.' The speaker is a man of too momentous to speak on at this time—the opening of a church bazaar." Father Dowling then related several amusing incidents that had come under his notice in regard to church fairs, which kept the audience in a thorough good humor. In speaking of the future of the republic, before the close of his talk, the speaker stated that the religious element would be a factor in the future of the country. The youths of the country should be brought up under religious influences. Arts of peace and not of war should be practiced. Charity, the spirit of justice and integrity count in the perpetuity of our country. To the members of the parish he said: "Let it be said to become better Catholics is to become better citizens."

Brings Impeachment Proceedings.

It was on account of Judge Gordon's persistent practice of discharging defendants after they had pleaded guilty, or remitting fines and suspending sentences imposed by himself, and of committing other acts unauthorized in law, that the school fund suffered such great losses that Mayor Moore and five members of the council were impelled to file charges against him in October of last year. The charges, which were filed on October 10 in the district court, accused Gordon of official misconduct, willful neglect of duties, malfeasance and misfeasance in office and general incompetence. On October 12 an order was entered suspending Gordon from office during the pendency of the impeachment proceedings.

The trial on the charges on the specifications occurred before Judge Dickinson during the month of November and consumed about a week. A large number of witnesses were examined and voluminous records of the police court were introduced in evidence to sustain the charges made against the police judge. Gordon was defended by the attorneys of the council, and he contested every inch of ground, but at the conclusion of the trial Judge Dickinson found Gordon guilty and issued a writ of ouster against him.

In his findings and order for judgment

Judge Dickinson said: "The court finds that the allegations of the complaint, as contained in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, eighth, tenth, fourteenth and sixteenth charges and specifications thereof are true as alleged in said complaint, except that the court finds there was no actual corruption shown by the evidence, and that no corruption exists, except such as may be inferred by law from the acts of the respondent, as disclosed by the evidence, and that by reason of the acts charged in above named charges of the complaint the respondent is guilty of malfeasance in office."

"It is therefore considered by the court that the respondent, S. I. Gordon, be and is hereby removed from the office of police judge of the city of Omaha."

These Charges True.

The specific charges upon which Judge Gordon was found guilty were as follows: The first charge was malfeasance in office, the specification being that Judge Gordon on January 15, 1901, unlawfully, willfully, maliciously and corruptly suspended the sentence of one James Bowen and returned to him, or to his attorney, the sum of $22.50, which had been paid by Bowen in settlement of a fine imposed by Gordon. Bowen had been fined upon pleading guilty to a charge of peccancy.

The third charge was malfeasance in office, the specification being the same as that relating to the first charge.

The fourth charge was malfeasance in office, the specification being that Judge Gordon on January 15, 1901, unlawfully, willfully, maliciously and corruptly suspended the sentence of one William Jones and returned to him, or to his attorney, the sum of $2.50, which had been paid by Jones in settlement of a fine imposed by Gordon. Jones had been fined upon pleading guilty to a misdemeanor.

The fourth charge was malfeasance in office, the specification being the same as that relating to the third charge.

AFTER BABY COMES.

The Disappointments of a Weak Mother.

After the baby's coming the weak mother often has her first great disappointment in not being able to nurse her child. Perhaps she is not strong enough to sustain more than her own life during the days of slow convalescence. Perhaps there is a lack of the secretions which make the baby's food. In any case she feels robbed of half the joy of her maternity because she cannot nurse her child. And she envies the healthy woman who cares for it and who permits the mother to occasionally see and caress her own baby. If women would consider the matter they could hardly expect to be strong after the baby's coming if they were weak before. The woman who suffers during the prenatal period—who is nervous and sleepless and without appetite, is exhausting her vitality before the hour of her trial, and when that time comes her very weakness increases her sufferings and prolongs them. It is no wonder, if after the baby is born, the mother has no strength to nurse it. The one great necessity for happy motherhood is good health.

When you wrote me words of encouragement on April 27th I had received no benefit from the medicine, but determined as a last resort to give it a fair trial. I am now taking the thirteenth and last bottle. I have a lovely baby girl three weeks old that weighed 11 1/2 pounds at birth. My baby and I are enjoying perfect health, thanks to your wonderful medicines, to which I believe I owe my life. I cannot find words to express my gratitude to you, and I hope you may long be spared to perform the good work in which you are now engaged."

MOTHERS PONDER THIS!

It is not you only who suffer when you are weak during the term of maternity, but your child must suffer also. It can have only what strength you can give. Your nervousness, fretfulness and fearfulness will leave a life-long impress upon your child, and while you in a few months will recover from the effects of the trial you have undergone, the baby's whole life will reflect the influence of maternal misery.

If you can be a strong, healthy mother by any means, you owe it to your child to use those means.

REALLY WONDERFUL RESULTS.

Read the letter of Mrs. Rose carefully and you will realize why she cannot praise "Favorite Prescription" too highly. The difference between one hundred and ninety-two hours suffering reduced to two hours by the use of "Favorite Prescription" explains her gratitude, but cannot express it. It takes a woman and a mother to understand all that can be possible in one hundred and ninety-two hours of suffering at maternity. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only gives the mother strength in the period of waiting, but it cures or prevents nausea, and makes the baby's advent practically painless. It is the best tonic and nerve for nursing mothers. It promotes the secretion of an abundance of nourishment for the child while giving strength to the mother. All alcoholic and stimulating medicines are particularly dangerous to nursing mothers, or in the period of convalescence which follows the baby's birth. "Favorite Prescription" contains no alcohol, and is entirely free from opium, cocaine and all other narcotics. It is a real nerve-feeding, body-building medicine.
