Turns on the Current.

It was just exactly 7:11 o'clock when he crossed the threshold, but a minute had elapsed and he had just finished the last statement when the strapping was completed and the guards stepped back. Warden Mead raised his hand, and, at 7:12:30, Electrician Davis turned the switch that threw volts of electricity into the living

The rush of the current threw the body se hard against the straps that they creaked perceptibly. The hands clinched suddenly and the whole attitude was one of extreme tenseness. For forty-five seconds the full current was kept on, and then slowly the electrician threw the switch back, reducing the current volt by volt, until it was cut Then, just as it had reached that point, he threw the lever back again for two or three seconds. The body, which had collapsed as the current was reduced stiffened up again against the straps. When turned off again Dr. MacDonald stepped to the chair and put his hand over the heart. He said he felt no pulsation, but suggested that the current be turned on for a few seconds again. Once more the body became rigid. At 7:15 the current was turned off for good.

From the time Czolgosz had left his cell until the full penalty was paid less than four minutes had elapsed. The physicians present used the stethoscope and other tests to determine if any life remained, and at 7:17 the warden, raising his hand, an nounced:

"Gentlemen, the prisoner is dead." The witnesses filed from the chamber. many of them visibly affected, and the body was taken from the chair and laid on the operating table. When the body of Czolgosz had been removed from the room where he was killed to the autopsy table Auburn prison returned to the routine of its ordinary life. The prisoners, who had been kept locked in their cells, were released at 7:45 o'clock and the prison work was resumed at once. There was no excitement among the convicts. Scarcely a hundred people had gathered outside the prison gate to watch the witnesses enter and wait until they reap peared. The witnesses dispersed quickly, ome of them leaving for their homes as early as 9 o'clock.

Statement of Superintendent.

Prison Superintendent Collins made the dent, I mean the people." following statement to the Associated

Just consider that within about six weeks from the death of his distinguished victim Csolgosz was regularly tried, convicted, sentenced and executed and this despite the fact that the law compelled us to give him four weeks to prepare for death. All has been done in a dignified way and the greatest credit is due to Warden Meade for the care he has taken to strip the case of sensationalism. The execution was one of the most successful ever conducted in the state. Extraordinary care had to be taken in the case because both the warden and myself had received hundreds of threatening fetters, many of them asserting in intemperate and violent language that the prisoner would never be put in the chair.

I have decided for the present that we will not destroy any of the hundreds of letters written to Czolgosz, the warden and myself as to the case. Eventually they will be destroyed, but it has struck me that perhaps we should make a list of them, especially of those letters signed with full and proper names, in which condoince was offered to the prisoner or threats against us were made. My plan is to get the addresses of these people and keep the list for police reference. I believe that there may come a time when such a list would be valuable in running down anarchists.

I have decided to bury the body of Czolgosz in the regular prison lot in the local cemetery. The funeral will take place some time within the next forty-eight hours. We will keep the grave guarded day and night until such time as the quick-lime which will be placed around the body shall have entirely destroyed it.

Electrician's Statement.

Electrician Davis made this statement as to the execution:

I used 1,700 voits of electricity, turning it into the body at full voltage for seven seconds and then slowly reducing it for forty-five seconds. Then I threw the full voltage on again for eight seconds. Then, at the suggestion of Dr. MacDonald, I turned it on again for a few seconds. I did not think there was any necessity for the third contact and the lack of resistance shown when it was administered proved that life was extinct. The body showed eight amperes of resistance. This is a little more than would be given by a larger or stouter man, where the current could have more chance to percolate. It was as successful an electrocution as I have ever operated in all my experience. to the execution:

Rev. Cordello Herrick, chaplain of the prison, was in the death chamber ready for any call that might be made for his services. He was not wanted by the prisoner, however, and sat quietly in the rear of the chamber throughout the execution. The clothing and personal effects of the prisoner were burned under direction of Warden Mead shortly after the execution.

> AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 29 .- Naturally almost the entire attention of the physicians assigned to hold the autopsy was directed toward discovering if possible whether the assassin was in any way mentally irresponsible. The autopsy was conducted by Dr. Carlos MacDonald, Dr. E. A. Spitzka and Prison Physician Gerin.

The top of the head was sawed through the thickest part of the skull, which was found to be of normal thickness, and it was the unanimous opinion after the microscopical examination that the brain was normal or slightly above normal. This demonstrated to the satisfaction of the physicians that in no way was Czolgosz's mental condition, except insofar as it might have been perverted, responsible for the crime.

The autopsy was completed shortly before noon, when the surgeons issued the following brief statement:

The autopsy was made by Mr. Edward A. Spitzka of New York under the immediate supervision and direction of Dr. Carlos MacDonald of New York and Dr. John Gerin, prison physician. The autopsy occupied over three hours and embraced a careful examination of all the organs, including the brain. The examination revealed a perfectly healthy state of all the organs, including the brain. Lennep Breaks Track Record.

CHICAGO, Oct. 29.—Beyond the breaking of a track record by Lennep in the fourth race and the disqualification of Hermencia, the odds-on favorite in the third event, the racing at Lakeside was featureless today. Lennep ran a mile and fifty yards in 1:44-5, the former record for the distance on the Lakeside track being 1:453-5. The disqualification of Hermencia in the mile and an eighth race followed a claim of foul entered by Jockey Dominick, who rode Reseda. He claimed that Coburn's foul tactics on Hermencia had caused a bumping match, in which Reseda got the worst of it. The judges saw it that way, too, and Hermencia, after finishing second to Orontas, was set back to last place. But for the foul Reseda, who finished third, would probably have won. Talent Has Empty Pockets. ST. LOUIS. Oct. 29.—Form players received a bad beating at the fair grounds today, only two first choices passing the judges in front. A great hue and cry was made over Charles D's performance of the concluding event. He was beaten in very slow time by Guide and Delsarte, the former at 10 to 1 and the latter at 50 to 1 in the betting, and many patrons did not hesitate to say openly that he was pulled. MANNING LEAVES SENATORS Manager of Washington Club Expects to Transfer His Interest to Postal of Detroit.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Manager James I. Manning of the Washington Base Ball of his controlling interests in the club to Fred Postal of Detroit, said tonight that he expected to transfer his interest tomor-row. Several local stockholders of the club, he said today, had tried to influence him to retain his connection with the or-ganization, but he could not see things in their light.

ganization, but he could not see things in their light.

While the primary cause of his retirement from the club is the opportunity to go into some other business Mr. Manning said a secondary reason is a belief that it would be better for him and for the club for him to retire at this time.

When Mr. Manning was asked for an explanation of the latter statement he admitted that the relations between him and President Johnson of the American league were such that he thought the Washington club would fare better in the hands of some one else. While there never has been an open breach between Mr. Manning and Mr. Johnson the two have not been in harmony in their views regarding the policy of the American league.
