Implement Dealers of Council Bluffe and Omaha Decline to Olece.

REQUEST OF THE RETAILERS REJECTED

January Meeting in Omaha Considered No Excuse for Shutting Up Shop, but Lunches in Warerooms Are Abolished.

At the monthly meeting of the Implement Dealers' association of Council Bluffs and the county attorney the bondsmen yesterday Omaha in Council Bluffs Monday evening it was decided to reject the request of the retail implement dealers that the wholesalers and jobbers close their places of business during the meeting of the retailers in Omaha in January. The request was made because the retailers found that the business places of the wholesalers and jobbers generally proved a greater attraction than their meetings. It was also decided by the jobbers that the lunches which have heretofore been served in their warerooms during the meetings of the retailers be abandoned.

AT MERCY OF THE BRICKMEN Contractor Wickham Gets No Encouragement for Paving Streets in Fourth Ward.

"I am entirely at the mercy of the brick men," said Contractor Wickham on his return vesterday morning from Galeaburg. III. where he had been to see if there was any prospect of his being able to obtain sufficient brick to complete the paving of the streets in the Fourth ward this year. Wickham's trip to Galesburg was without satisfactory results. The Purington company, which has been supplying brick for the paving here, was forced to shut down Saturday for want of water. The lake from which the brick yards drew their supply has gone dry and the company is driving wells as rapidly as it can with the hope of obtaining water in sufficient quantity to open up its plant again.

With these conditions prevailing at Galesburg, it is dublous if any brick can be obtained from there this year to pave the Fourth ward streets. The streets ordered paved in this ward have all been ploughed up, the old cedar blocks removed and are now almost impassable. If not paved this year they will become veritable mudholes during the winter and unsafe for travel. Some homemade brick was hauled yesterday on South Sixth street, but this is the of the Fourth ward paving. Contractor Wickham said he thought not. Contractor Wickham volunteered the in formation that he had advice from Des Moines that brick from there would be shipped next week sufficient for the paving of North Sixth, North Seventh and North

Eighth streets. When asked if he intended to begin work on Harrison street, which is to be paved with homemade brick, top and lower to do so by the city council. Three weeks ago the city council passed a motion to the effect that Wickham be ordered to begin the work on Harrison street within ten days, but it appears this notice was not served upon him. He does not deny, however, that he was aware of the order of the

When it was suggested that the city might enforce the penalty for his failure to carry out the Harrison street contract Mr. Wickham simply laughed. "What penalty," he asked. "I could not do any paving on Harrison street until the thoroughfare had been graded and put in condition for the work and after that was done I was certainly entitled to a reasonable time in which to start the paving. I think if the people who are kicking will read over the provisions of my contract they will find that it would be useless for the city to atempt to enforce payment of any penalty "I cannot do the impossible," continued Mr. Wickham. "If I cannot get brick I cannot do any paving. I am ready to do the paving as soon as the brickmen will furnish me the material." It is understood there was sufficient homemade brick for the paving of both Mynster and Harrison streets until cently, but that Wickham Bros., who have the contract for the brick work on the new building being erected by the sisters in charge of St. Bernard's hospital, are utilizing them for this.

Mayor Jennings was much disappointed when informed by Wickham yesterday that the prospects for obtaining material from Galesburg for the Fourth ward paving were decidedly dublous. He realizes that the city is up against a decidedly knotty problem and that the chances of getting any his death by the hands of an assassin." paving laid in the Fourth ward this year are of the poorest. Property owners in the Fourth ward are complaining because Wickhe was not certain of securing the material for the repaving. Some of the aldermen who want to see Harrison street paved if possible this year suggested to Wickham yesterday that he begin at the top of the street and pave at east as far as the old block pavement. If this was done it is believed it would save the newly graded portion from being washed out next spring. The council will meet tonight, when definite action as to Harrison street and the streets in the Fourth ward is looked Iowa Companies May Now Take Up Aceident and Fidelity Business.

More Speeches Until His Recovery, Which Seems an Uncertain Date.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Oct. 29 .- (Special.)-Attorney General Mullan today rendered to Auditor of State Merriam an important opinion in regard to the organization of insurance companies to do more than one kind of insurance business. The Twentyeighth general assembly so modified the law that life insurance companies might amend their plan and dip over into other kinds of insurance, particularly into accident insurance. This was done at the instance of foreign insurance companies that were engaged in life and accident business. Recently an Iowa company, organized on the stock plan with stipulated premium instead of the flat rate premium, has sought to engage in the accident and fidelity business. The attorney general was asked for a decision as to its right, and he decides that stipulated premium companies, whether stock or mutual, may amend their charters and engage in accident and fidelity business as well as life. The law is so complicated that an opinion was desired before permitting companies to branch out into different kinds of insurance. It is understood several lows companies will engage in more than one kind of insurance now that the law has permitted such branching out, but until this decision their right o do so was in question

Telephone Company Appeals. The lowa Telephone company filed the abstracts today in two important cases appealed to the supreme court of the state One was the suit here in Des Moines which resulted in an injunction restraining the company from setting up poles in the streets of Des Moines on the ground that it has no right here and has no franchise. This is the suit in which the company claims a right to occupancy of the streets under the general law applying to public highways. The other suit is one from Sloux City, in which an employe of the company who was injured by the crossing of an electric light wire and mixing the currents sued both the Iowa Telephone company and the Sioux City Electric Light company, and obtained judgment last month by default against each one in the sum of $3,500. Last year has, however, brought nearly every women's organization of the city into line, so that the City Federation, through its nearly thirty clubs, has a membership of about 1,100, and is ready now for aggressive work in all municipal affairs. Efforts during the past year have centered upon the making of a cleaner city, the placing of the right kind of men on the library board, timely assistance to Midland Chautauqua and the establishment of a morning curfew.

Governor's Graphic Statement of the Eminent Services of the lows Senstor.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
FONDA, Id. Oct. 29.—(Special.)—Governor Shaw has returned from Ohio and renewed his speaking campaign in this state. He spoke here last evening. He began by paying a high tribute to President Mc-Kinley and expressing the greatest confidence in the integrity, capacity and sterling worth of Theodore Roosevelt. He was gratified at the well-nigh universal expression of confidence that the business interests of the country would not suffer because of been the especial champion.

He also took occasion to congratulate the republican party in having in every way an unobjectionable ticket. There is not to be found, said he, in the length and breadth of this state a single person who calls in question the ability or the business integrity of the brilliant candidate for the highest office in the gift of this commonwealth He was glad to note the universal verdict that Mr. Cummins was making a splendid campaign and winning many friends wherever he speaks.

The governor also called attention to the representative and senatorial ticket and in this connection said in part:

the other to fill the unexpired term for sen two years ago. While the re-election of the present incumbents is conceded, a word touching their special qualifications may not be considered out of place. Senator Allison is the admitted leader of the United States senate, the most dignified, as well as the most responsible legislative body of which this world bears record. And well does he deserve this unique distinction. He began his congressional career when Abraham Lincoln occupied the chair of the chief executive of the nation. He took part in all those issues growing out of the war of the rebellion and aided in formulating the reconstruction policy under which the seceding states were taken back and admitted with equal rights under new constitutions. He has been the personal friend and adviser of Ulysses S. Grant, Rutherford B. Hayes, James A. Garfield, Chester A. Arthur and Benjamin Harrison and the bosom friend and able counselor of him for whom more people sorrow than have mourned the death of any other man, William McKinley.

"For more than fifteen years, barring a brief period of democratic supremacy, Senator Allison has occupied the head of the table in the committee room of appropria tions, and under his scrutinizing eye have been submitted bills appropriating more than six thousand millions of the people's money, not one of which has passed without receiving his O. K. So familiar has be become with the business interests of the country that when questions touching his special department are pending both democrats and republicans mark with closes interest every syllable he may utter and his statements are never questioned.

"Think of it, gentlemen. The senior senator from Iowa has served in the lower house of congress with Thaddeus Stevens, Schuyler Colfax, Fernando Wood, James rooks, Samuel J. Randall, Elihu B. Wash burne. Benjamin F. Butler; in the senate with Charles Sumper, Zachariah Chandler, John Sherman, Oliver P. Morton, Simon Cameron, Matt Carpenter, George H. Pendleton, George F. Edmunds; in both houses with James G. Blaine, Roscoe Conkling. John A. Logan, Justin S. Morrill and Daniel W. Voorhees. He has been identified with every measure looking to the improvement of our country, the development of our resources and the advancement of our people, and at no time, upon no question, at no roll-call has he hesitated to record his vote. The name of Allison, being near the head of the alphabet, has always been of the first, if not the first, called, and his example in thousands of instances has determined important questions. Before the next general assembly adjourns, William B. Allison will have been elected to the United States senate as many times as any man, living or dead, and some years before the expiration of his term he will have served in that body longer than any man, living or dead. "Most justly is Iowa proud of her representation in congress and most justly has she earned the distinction of having the strongest delegation in the legislative councils of the nation. From the days of Har lan down through the list of lowa senators -Grimes, Kirkwood, Wright, Allison, Wilson, Gear, Dolliver-Iowa has never had less than the peer of the best. She has been equally fortunate in the house. Here the number who have made themselves national characters and their state and districts great forbids enumeration. While holding dear each and all who now represent us, we must not forget those who have retired after years of distinguished service. Kasson, Hepburn, Updegraff, Lacey, Hull and Dolliver have each and all served ten years or more in congress and made their names familiar in the annals of the nation. "lowa has rendered no less distinguished service in cabinet positions. Our present representative, James Wilson, has brought into prominence a most important department, hitherto lightly esteemed, if not despised. He was the faithful friend of President McKinley and will be equally close and equally loyal to President Roosevelt. If any democratic state has a prouder record let it be named so loudly that all shall hear. If any other party could have done better, let those who call in question the past step bravely forward and hoist that party's standard at the head of its col-
