Lottle Learn Visits Police Court Formerly Presided Over by

Her Uncle.

Lottie Learn, 13 years old, niece of the late W. R. Learn, police judge, has just finished an engagement at the Boyd theater, where she played the part of the "little romp" in the "Lovers' Lane" company. Wednesday afternoon she visited the police station and was shown over the building by Sergeant Dempsey. She took great interest in the court over which her uncle formerly presided. She then expressed a wish to stand on the spot when her "Uncle Will" fell dead and was taken down into the woven wire cage used by the desk sergeant, where the spot was pointed out to

The vivacious little actress lives in Chicago, and this is her first season on the road. She will travel with the company until May before returning to her home.

"TEXAS OIL NEWS."

Present Output Inndequate to Meet Present Demands.

From New York Journal: "The question of market does not at the present time enter into the question of oil production, as crude oil is practically the only fuel used in southern California for steam and manufacturing purposes, most of the product of the Los Angeles district being consumed at home.

"The continual substitution by the southwestern railroads and transportation lines, as well as by river and ocean-going vessels of oil burning apparatus in the place of coal burners for steaming purposes, promises to more than quadruple the presout field for the oil producer, and keep demand constantly in excess of the supply.

"That no over-production can possibly take place is demonstrated by the fact that the most responsible of companies stand ready today to contract at a fixed price the rapidly increasing product of oil, for a period of five years in advance, and while the production may reach ten times its present output before the expiration of the five-year contract, the oil companies are positive that oil today is at its bottom statement of facts, which apply to the

Beaumont oil region also, by investing where their money will make largest returns in shortest time. The Omaha-Texas

Oil company of Council Bluffs, Ia., offers just such inducements. Investigate their prospectus before placing your money. A letter or postal card to them will bring you full information.

*Ex-dividend.

*Ex-dividend. The Commercial Advertiser's London financial cablegram says: The stock mar-ket today was quiet, in anticipation of a holiday. The rise in the rate of discount from 3 to 4 per cent came as a surprise and suggests the belief that heavy moncy de-mands are impending, but the market was glad to have the matter finally settled. American stocks were firm, with the coal-ers leading. London regards New York gold exports as a bull point, since they divert the French demand from this center, Paris exchange is steady and Berlin is 20.41. The Indian banks have reduced the discount rate from 4 to 5 per cent.

New York Dry Goods Market.

CATLE-There was a very fair run of cattle here today, but there were appar-ently none too many to meet the demand. A noticeable feature of the trade was the active demand for the good to choice grades, while buyers were rather indiffer-ent when it came to the common stuff. This was true both of killers and feeders. There were not many corn-fed steers on sale today, but there were some good enough to sell as high as $6.15. Packers were anxious for the better grades and everything answering to that description was picked up early at fully steady prices, as compared with yesterday. The com-moner kinds did not move as freely, but still they sold in just about yesterday's notches. Cows and helfers were-quite plentiful in the yards this morning and there seemed to be more or less unevenness in the prices paid. The good to choice heavyweight cows and helfers met with the best demand and fully steady prices, were paid. The medium kinds, however, sold uneven and sellers in some cases thought they got steady prices, while in othera they un-doubtedly had to take less money than the same kind sold for yesterday. Trade was not very active, but still most every-thing was sold in fairly good season. Veal calves and stags sold at just about steady prices. Bulls were in better de-mand this morning than they have been of late and both feeder buyers and packers paid stronger prices. Good heavyweight feeders and choice yearlings sold readily this morning at steady to strong prices. Buyers, however, were not at all anxious for the less de-sirable grades, as the demand from the country is not very heavy, but still right close to steady prices were paid. Western range beef steers, of which very few were offered today, sold steady where the quality was at all good. Range cows of desirable grades, as the demand from the country is not very heavy, but still right close to steady prices were paid. Western range beef steers, of which very feeders could also be quoted fully steady. but others were neglected and hard to move. Represe New YORK, Oct. 31.-DRY GOODS-The Fall River market has been very quiet to-day. The decision of the operators not to strike has checked bidding 3%c for regu-lars. The demand for brown cotton is dull and prices unchanged. Bleached and coarse colored goods are quiet at previous prices. Prints are firm and in demand. Ginghams are scarce in all leading markets. Cotton linings are firm and cambrics advanced %c a yard.
