

ON PROBLEMS OF TAXATION

Economic League Listens to a Lecture by Dr. Edward A. Ross.

SOME DIFFICULTIES AND REMEDIES

Various Theories of Taxation Discussed, Their Advantages and Disadvantages Being Pointed Out by the Speaker.

Prof. Edward A. Ross of the University of Nebraska addressed the Economic League last night at the first 'Congressional Church on Problems of Taxation'... Prof. Ross expressed the opinion that the state should seek new sources of income and that really should only be taxed locally.

Solution of Land Values.

The consciousness may come that the income from land is not earned, but probably will not. The public is not ready to have all taxes on improvements give way to taxes on land.

'Matters of right and wrong are hard to settle. Differentiation of society is constantly going on. It is not fair that the rich are growing richer and the poor are growing poorer.'

Indirect and Direct Taxation.

'The theory that any tax levied spreads over the entire body politic is not true. All taxes cannot be shifted. Wherever the supply can be limited the tax can be shifted.'

Theory of Property Tax.

'Property tax is now general throughout the United States. At first taxation was avoided in this country by selling lands to raise money for public purposes.'

Had Colds

are quickly cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It acts on nature's plan, loosens the cough, relieves the lungs and opens the secretions, effecting a permanent cure.

Canvass Vote of Douglas

County Clerk Haverly Names His Assistants and Will Begin Count Today.

County Clerk Haverly will commence the official canvass of the vote of Douglas county this morning. He has invited E. C. Walcott and Fred H. Cosgrove, disinterested freeholders, to act as members of the canvassing board.

Football Football Football! Nebraska vs. Missouri, Saturday, Nov. 9, Y. M. C. A. park at 3 p. m.

LOCAL SCENES HAVE CHANGED

Omaha Pioneer, Now a Californian, Tells of the Early Days in These Parts.

M. G. McKoon, one of Omaha's early residents, but now a citizen of Los Angeles, is visiting friends and relatives here, among them Mrs. Samuel Ross, wife of the president of the Ross Printing company.

'It pleases me to see Omaha growing again and making a new name for a property which I trust will prove permanent,' said he. 'Having been here when Omaha was a mere village, I am much interested in its progress and I love Omaha and its people.'

'When I came to Omaha it was only a little village, but what it lacked in size it made up in spirit. This was amply demonstrated in the great fight in the latter '60s between Omaha, Florence and Bellevue for the location of the Union Pacific bridge.'

'While in New York I conversed with many men of affairs and found the opinion prevailing there that our present prosperity is the result of a period of greater prosperity, which will be the greatest the world has ever seen.'

Musical

The organ recital, which inaugurated the new instrument at the beautiful church of the Baptists at the north side, Cary street, Tuesday night, was a most interesting one.

The interior of the new church offers a most harmonious setting for a musical event, while the two magnificent windows on the north and east sides, at night, a cheer bright and many-headed music.

Mr. Hall is a vigorous type of the English musician. He plays with much respect to tradition, but not stiffly, and with abundant technique on manuals and pedals. Mr. Hall had also a sympathetic manner of accompaniment. His recital was attended by a very large audience, which overflowed the seating capacity of the Auditorium proper.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

EDUCATIONAL

School Board Meeting Fails for Lack of Sufficient Attendance.

TAXPAYERS' LEAGUE IS QUITE ACTIVE

Has a Bunch of Opinions and Laws to Back Up Its Demands for the Scrupulous Two of the Teachers.

There was to have been a meeting of the Board of Education last night, but for some reason only three members showed up when the regular meeting time came.

The league is also making a fight on two of the teachers now employed and this fight promises to be quite interesting before it is ended.

A week or two ago David Anderson sent a letter to W. H. Fowler, state superintendent of public instruction, regarding the employment of teachers without having first undergone the regular examination.

In reply to this letter Superintendent Fowler writes, under date the 26th: 'The school law provides that no money belonging to the district shall be paid for teaching to any but a legally qualified teacher.'

It is contended by the so-called Taxpayers' league that Henry Hanson, commercial teacher, and Miss Agnes O'Connell, music teacher, were appointed to positions without having first secured certificates from the board of examiners, which met in June last.

With this showing from the state superintendent and an opinion from the county attorney the league, through Mr. Anderson, proposes to demand of the board that the two teachers referred to in communication be compelled to secure proper certificates, under date the 26th.

The suit against the Schlitz Brewing company brought by City Attorney Lambert to recover the Mary Johnson judgment, amounting to $2,050, has been transferred from the district to the federal court.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

Two expert accountants have just completed checking up the books of the school district and of School Treasurer Koutsky. During the period the books were checked it was found that Treasurer Koutsky had handled and paid out over $300,000 of money and the difference was found to be only 51 cents.

Amusements

Boyd's theater was filled to its utmost capacity last night to witness Ferris' comedians in 'The Commodore.' The play was given an excellent presentation.

Very few if any of the business men have paid heed to the warning given by Mayor Kelly in regard to store sweepings being thrown into the streets.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Completion of the Personal Edition of George Eliot.

MANY SPLENDID JUVENILE PUBLICATIONS

Books of Every Kind and Variety to Suit Readers of a Wide Divergence in Taste. Fiction Leads.

At last the twelfth and final volume of the personal edition of George Eliot is at hand. As promised, it contains the poetry of George Eliot, with the exception of a few very juvenile effusions of a religious kind, which it would have been friendlier not to rescue from oblivion.

'Within the Gates' is by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, author of 'The Gates Ajar,' 'Beyond the Gates,' 'The Gates Between,' etc. Miss Phelps here adds another to the books into which she has poured so much of the forethought, tenderness of her mind.

Lovers of a Utopian, yet an up-to-date, story will greet with pleasure 'The Pines of Lory,' by J. A. Mitchell, the editor of Life. Written by the author of 'Amanuensis,' it possesses the romantic atmosphere and the mystery of that tale, yet is richer in picturesque incident and in its flow of humor.

An American story of today that is likely to make a strong bid for public favor is 'The King of the Mountains,' by Estlin Sinclair. The story takes its title from the struggle in the heart of a beautiful girl just entering womanhood, who tries to please her friends and to gratify her own love of the beauty and luxury that wealth brings by giving her hand to a millionaire suitor when her heart does not go with it.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'A Gentlewoman of the Slums,' by Annie Wakeman, is an unique book. To choose so humble a heroine as Betty Dobbs, servant of all work, requires no little courage on the part of the author. But the book is a triumph of literary skill. It is full of human nature and pulsates with life. In combined pathos and humor the character of Betty Dobbs affects the best traits in the reader's nature with a strong and lasting appeal.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

ED MORCAL IS FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Assault on Little Mary Marks Near Dundee Last Summer.

ALIGHT FROM MOVING CARS

Clara McCleod and Mike Latic Victims of the Stepping-Off Habit.

Miss Clara McCleod, aged 18 years, employed at Mulligan's bakery, was seriously injured last night by falling from a street car from which she was attempting to alight near Twenty-fourth and Grace streets.

Mike Latic of 1404 South Twelfth street got a hot under the left eye, a severely bruised left hand and other injuries as a result of a fall from a street car about 7 o'clock last night.

Under the Nebraska laws a man convicted of criminal assault cannot be sentenced to less than three years of imprisonment and the maximum sentence is twenty years.

Modern science has discovered that dandruff is caused by a germ that digs up the scalp in scales, as it burrows down to the roots of the hair, where it destroys the hair's vitality, causing falling hair and, ultimately, baldness.

The ice question was taken up again at a meeting of the Retail Grocers' association last night. No conclusion was reached, the matter being referred back to the committee after some debate.

The Retail Clerks' union expressed its thanks for the $25 prize awarded at the picnic last summer to the victors in the baseball game.

Several matters of interest to the association were discussed at length and before adjourning the grocers decided to give a smoker some time this month, to which the clerks and jobbers will be asked.

'Caroline' never was known. Awarded first prize, Paris exposition, 1889.

The Man Friday's Foot Prints was hailed with delight by old Robinson Crusoe—the news that they have received a new lot of those new wide-extension soled shoes will be good news to the ladies of Omaha that have been waiting for their size in these new ropes, stretched special at $3.50.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

With the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Union Stock Yards company will be held shortly after December 1 and it is expected that the question of building a viaduct across the tracks at either N or O streets will be taken up and considered.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Completion of the Personal Edition of George Eliot.

MANY SPLENDID JUVENILE PUBLICATIONS

Books of Every Kind and Variety to Suit Readers of a Wide Divergence in Taste. Fiction Leads.

At last the twelfth and final volume of the personal edition of George Eliot is at hand. As promised, it contains the poetry of George Eliot, with the exception of a few very juvenile effusions of a religious kind, which it would have been friendlier not to rescue from oblivion.

'Within the Gates' is by Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, author of 'The Gates Ajar,' 'Beyond the Gates,' 'The Gates Between,' etc. Miss Phelps here adds another to the books into which she has poured so much of the forethought, tenderness of her mind.

Lovers of a Utopian, yet an up-to-date, story will greet with pleasure 'The Pines of Lory,' by J. A. Mitchell, the editor of Life. Written by the author of 'Amanuensis,' it possesses the romantic atmosphere and the mystery of that tale, yet is richer in picturesque incident and in its flow of humor.

An American story of today that is likely to make a strong bid for public favor is 'The King of the Mountains,' by Estlin Sinclair. The story takes its title from the struggle in the heart of a beautiful girl just entering womanhood, who tries to please her friends and to gratify her own love of the beauty and luxury that wealth brings by giving her hand to a millionaire suitor when her heart does not go with it.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'A Gentlewoman of the Slums,' by Annie Wakeman, is an unique book. To choose so humble a heroine as Betty Dobbs, servant of all work, requires no little courage on the part of the author. But the book is a triumph of literary skill. It is full of human nature and pulsates with life. In combined pathos and humor the character of Betty Dobbs affects the best traits in the reader's nature with a strong and lasting appeal.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young governess, who makes her way by teaching and double-dealing. She sees her way to setting a husband to catch his wife seemingly compromised, and succeeds the wife by getting an old earl to marry her for her innocent ways, getting sweet sincerity and her honest eyes. She is an intrigante of the most subtle sort, getting her way with people and making them think her a saint instead of the desperate plotter she is.

'The Fall of the Curtain,' by Harold Begbie, is an English story, the heroine of which is a young