

HON. FRANK E. MOORES ENDORSES PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND

OMAHA, NEB., October 29, 1901.

OMAHA BEE, Omaha, Neb.:

Dear Sirs---I take pleasure in stating that I have used PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND with much benefit. I regard it as the most reliable remedy that I have ever tried for building up the system when once run down.

Yours very truly,

FRANK E. MOORES, Mayor.

OMAHA, NEB., Sept. 4, 1901.

WELLS & RICHARDSON CO., Burlington:

Gentlemen---As a medicine for doing immediate and effective good in sickness resulting from impaired nerves and impure blood, my family considers your PAINE'S CELERY COMPOUND without a peer. It will save many a doctor's bill and strengthen and give tone to the system when used according to directions.

Yours very truly,

J. J. DONAHUE, Chief of Police, Omaha.

Public No Longer Fooled By Quacks and Fakirs

In every case of sickness resulting from impaired nerves and impure blood, Paine's celery compound does immediate and effective good! For the last ten years the thousands of authentic reports of individual cases have multiplied, until it can be absolutely said that in no one case does this great remedy ever fail to benefit, and if taken promptly, to cure.

And yet during that time a hundred worthless nostrums under patented catchy names have been foisted upon the public, and some of them for a brief period have had large sales. But every one of them having been tried has been found sadly wanting, and after their unscrupulous proprietors have made all the money they could in defrauding the well and seriously harming the sick, these quack medicines and their catchy, silly names have disappeared from view. There is a concoction being sold in this state today, where its speculative advertising was begun a year later than in other states, a year or two ago, which has gone the way of its predecessors so rapidly that in every section of the country where it was exploited, the sales have dropped off as rapidly as they began, and the obscure company behind it finds it no longer possible, even by the most sensational methods, to create any demand whatever for it.

Unlike all these and other such preparations, Paine's celery compound has stood the test of time and experience. It is not a patent medicine; it is the discovery of one of the greatest physicians the world has had, probably the most successful practitioner in this country, whose reputation was already established as a specialist in nervous diseases, and who was and is the foremost authority in the world on the diseases of the blood and nerves, Prof. Edward E. Phelps, M. D., LL. D. As distinguished in his way as his kinsman, that other great Vermonter of the family of Phelps, who as our recent minister to the court of St. James so ably earned the title of diplomat and statesman.

In the last ten years, the proprietors of Paine's celery compound have been sending this greatest of all prepared remedies to the four quarters of the earth in larger and larger shipments, relieving and curing the sick, restoring the weak and depressed to health and strength, making it possible for many and many a person to live, who could find no relief in well-intended prescriptions, or antiquated and worthless sarsaparillas and nervines.

In these years that have seen so many quacks come and go, one so-called medicine was put up by no more experienced a hand than a pushing Philadelphia real estate dealer; another has been and is now run in part by a group of sharp newspaper men; another, which originated as a pleasant thing for colds, has added not to its virtues, but to its schemes of advertising, until it has become in the minds of its projectors a cure for all the ailments under the sun—and such instances might be multiplied. Don't touch them!

All these have had, or are having their day, while the demand for America's greatest family remedy—a real remedy for real ills—an effective tonic and honest invigorator, has not suffered from the attempted substitution of other preparations. Paine's celery compound is a medicine that cures the sick, and no high-class druggist ever attempts to induce a customer to take anything in its stead.

Paine's celery compound has gone on steadily gaining in fame these years, because those who have tried it have gratefully sung its praises, and in every community in the country have, by word of mouth, spread its fame.

According to the well-known ethics of reputable physicians, this prescription was at the very outset freely presented to physicians in good standing, and the formula is gladly given them today.

For that reason Paine's celery compound has never been included among patent medicines. Coming from so high a source, and so searchingly tried and recommended, physicians have long employed it as unhesitatingly as they have used their official preparations.

It drives the poison germs of deep-seated disease from the blood. It brings buoyancy of spirit in place of lassitude and despondency. It allows the overtaxed system to start fairly on the road to health. It procures the sleep so necessary to brain and nerve centers.

It strengthens, invigorates, gives new tone to the system, makes the blood healthy, is food for the nerves. It makes people well!

Thousands have been benefited, thousands have been cured by Paine's celery compound, when everything else has failed.
