

CENTRALIZATION OF POWERS

May Be Effect of Financiers' Arrangement of Northern Pac Co. Trouble. SUGGESTS A TRAFFIC BOARD OF CONTROL

Nothing is known in Omaha at either Union Pacific or Burlington headquarters as to the effect of the financiers' arrangement of the Northern Pacific trouble, told in The Bee's dispatches, will have upon the practical operation of the roads interested. It is not believed in local railroad circles, however, that anything more radical will be done than to extend the committee of interested parties to its logical conclusion by placing the traffic affairs of the Northern Pacific, Great Northern, Milwaukee, Northwestern, Union Pacific and allied lines in the hands of a board of control composed of traffic directors, one for each group or group of systems. This would be doing with the Hill-Morgan-Harriman-Vanderbilt properties just what Harriman did with his properties when he took J. C. Stubbs from the Southern Pacific and placed him in Chicago, with absolute control of the traffic affairs of the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and allied lines. The plan has worked successfully through saving useless expense at every point and at the same time better service has been given. The scope of this board of control would cover the northwest from Chicago to the coast. It would be composed of a representative of the Harriman lines, doubtless J. C. Stubbs; one of the Hill-Morgan lines, perhaps Darius Miller, and a Vanderbilt man, H. R. McCullough of the Northwestern. For instance, these men could absolutely control the traffic situation, both passenger and freight, and would make passenger associations and trunk line committees unnecessary. Three men could do what scores of representatives of the various roads have failed to do—they could make and maintain rates.

Prospects are excellent for a greatly increased winter traffic. The inquiry for sleeping car space is greater than in any preceding year. Demand is heavier for tourist car accommodations than for standard sleeping accommodations. All the roads look for the best volume of business in their history.

Dr. Jonas, chief surgeon of the Union Pacific, has gone west in his private car. He will give instructions in first aid to the injured to classes of railroad employees at North Platte and other points. "We are not considering any rail train from Chicago to Denver," said E. Buckingham, Union Pacific superintendent of transportation. "We have a simple service between the two points at present and no reason to change it."

Holiday rates have been announced by the Burlington, which has made a round trip rate of one and a third fare between points not over 50 miles apart, with a minimum selling rate of $1. Tickets will be in sale December 31 and January 1; return limit, January 2.

The Rock Island has surveyed two lines what is known as the "Perry" line, cut off from Drakeville, Ia., to Trenton, Mo., eighty miles, and the other from Trenton to Perry, Ia., fifty miles. It has not been decided which route will be selected. The "Perry" line has been stated by an Omaha paper, that contracts are to be let at once. Grading is in progress from Brighton to Perry, Ia., eight miles, and it is hoped to have the cut off, which eliminates both a heavy grade and a sharp curve, ready for operation by January 1.

Winger, a bricklayer, No. 1132 North Nineteenth street, says: "A friend of mine heard me complain of aching in my back and trouble with the kidney secretions. I had been subject to these attacks from the day I hurt my back lifting house sills four years ago. This friend gave me a box of Doan's Kidney Pills which he had bought at Kuhn & Co's drug store. I thought a dose or two helped me and increased the quantity. The treatment cured me. At least, up to date I have not been bothered with any of my old symptoms." DEATH BY STRANGULATION

Verdict of Coroner's Jury in Case of Infant Child of Antonio Kidlee

The inquest in the case of the infant child of Antonio Kidlee was finished in the office of the coroner yesterday, the verdict being to the effect that the child had died of strangulation as the result of a handkerchief being fastened to its neck by some person to the jury unknown. "We also believe," continues the verdict, "that the child is that of one Antonio Kidlee, a domestic in the Sprague hotel, and that it was born in room 11 of that hotel on the morning of November 11. The verdict was drawn in accordance with the testimony of Dr. W. R. Lavender, who conducted an autopsy Wednesday. The young mother is still in the matron's room at the police station, where she is bedfast."

PLANTING FISH IN CUT OFF

State Game and Fish Commissioners Arrive with a Car Load.

Black and Rock Bass, Channel Cat and Two Varieties of Sunfish Constituted New Members of Cut Off's Finny Population.

The Nebraska Game and Fish Commission's car arrived yesterday from the South Bend hatcheries with the finest lot of fish ever put in a Nebraska lake. There were 1,000 of them, 1,000 black bass, 1,000 rock bass, 1,000 channel cat and 1,000 sunfish of two varieties. The rock bass came from the government hatcheries at Manchester, Ia., but the remainder were from the state hatcheries.

Under supervision of George B. Simpkins, chief deputy game and fish commissioner, and W. J. O'Brien, superintendent of the hatcheries, the entire lot was placed in Cut Off lake. The channel cat will be large enough to catch next year, while the others will require two years to attain their growth.

No fish have been planted in Cut Off lake since 1896, when a number of pike fry were placed there, but it is the intention of the present game and fish commission to give Cut Off the prominence it deserves as one of the finest fishing resorts in the state. The plan of the park commission for city ownership of the lands surrounding the lake is fully approved by the game and fish commissioners, who believe it can easily be made one of the finest resorts in the west.

When the work of transplanting the fish was completed, the car was taken to the Union Pacific shops, where it will be repaired and given a thorough overhauling. In discussing the fish bounty commission, the game and fish commissioner said: "Cut Off will be the best stocked lake in the west. The large fish the government sent us were just what was needed. They are sure to live and one fish eighteen months old is worth as much as fifty minnows a few weeks old."

MOSE MAY LOSE HIS SAVINGS

Dea Moines' Famous Newshunt Claims His Father Swindled Mose's Dying Mother.

DES MOINES, Nov. 14.—(Special.)—If the story of the case in the name, Jacob Moines vs. Dea Moines, is true, and Judge Bishop should rule adversely in the suit for receivership, almost the entire earnings of a lifetime—a life full of hardships, toil, self-sacrifice and battle—and a fortune representing nearly $25,000, will have been denied the one who amassed it. Dea Moines' famous newshunt, must again begin at the bottom and commence all over again the struggle for wealth and position. According to the newshunt's sworn statement, his father, Charles Jacobus, is now in possession of more than three-fourths of the property which "Mose" himself accumulated and which was bequeathed from his mother, the custodian of his fortune, when the latter was upon her deathbed. "Every cent of money I earned from my beginning on the street when a lad, blacking shoes, selling papers, and kept for me," said Mose this morning. "I gave it to her to hold for me and to be used for herself as long as she lived, and I know she would not have signed my rights away had she not been persecuted upon her dying bed. I have her father's papers, and she could not have betrayed me in her last hour."

Tomorrow Judge Bishop will hear the Jacobus litigation to the end and it is expected a decision will be rendered at once. If he holds to the contention of the plaintiff a receiver will be appointed for the father's estate and the latter will lose possession of the fortune which he claims as his own. If not, the matter must rest so far as the lower court is concerned, though the plaintiff declares his intention to carry the case to the highest tribunal. One feature of the affair that is exciting sympathy for "Mose" is the fact that his father re-married seven weeks after the death of "Moses's" mother.

NEW BOOKS AND MAGAZINES

Story of a Great Elevator and How it Was Constructed Under Difficulties.

MAURICE THOMPSON'S LAST ROMANCE. Translations from the French—Recent Life in Canada—Apostle of the Southeast—Good Books for the Holidays.

"Calumet K" is the title of the new novel by Merwin Webster, authors of "The Short Line War" and "The Banker and the Bear." Calumet K is a two-million-bushel elevator and this story tells how Charlie Bannan built it against time. Bannan says himself, "I have been working like an all-out war since I was 12 years old." But when this chance finally comes Bannan, with the girl who has consented to share his restless life, yields to habit, and the dream of a cozy farm is forgotten in the stress of new work. The elevator must be done by December 31. There are persons that are interested in delaying the work, and it is these as well as the walking delegates that Bannan has to fight. The story of how they tried to "tie-up" the lumber 200 miles away and of how he outwitted them and "just carried it off" shows the kind of things that Bannan can do best. In spite of his temptation to brag—he was for two years a "chief wrecker" on the Grand Trunk, and he has many stories to tell—Bannan is one of the men without whom American commerce could not get on. The heroine is Bannan's typewriter, Mrs. Keith Webster and Samuel Merwin have discovered in the exciting movements of trade and finance a field of fiction hitherto overlooked by American writers, but containing a great wealth of romance. The Macmillan company, New York.

Maurice Thompson's last story, "Rosalynd's Lovers," is saturated with that love of nature and that sympathy with life which, in his best moments, he was able to express so delightfully. There is a healthy, manly tone about it all; his people are intelligent, vivacious people, capable of boldness in unusual circumstances, and with a possibility of doing unique things. As a setting for these characters he provides the most attractive colonial mansions sleeping the shade of century-old elms, and only gently and occasionally invaded by the strain and worry of the world's work. "Rosalynd's Lovers" is a story with the salient characteristics of its author. It introduces the reader, if not to an ideal, surely to an idealized world, and makes him forget the existence of several other less agreeable personal worlds. The lovers are both human, far from the villainous or the satanic. Mistortunes, coyness and difficulty beset the path of both and lead them far afield. But at last the good fairy of lovers blesses them. Bowen-Merrill company, Indianapolis.

The best work of the great French novelists of the nineteenth century, bound in handy and attractive library volumes, is to be the purpose of Doubleday, Page & Co.'s newly projected series, entitled "Masters of Modern French Fiction." The first volume is Flaubert's "Salammbo," published this month, is to be the initial issue. "The Latin Quarter" (scenes de la Vie de Boheme), by Henry Murger, will follow early in November. The translations are by J. Matthews and Ellen Marriage, respectively, and promise to be unusually good. Each book will contain a high grade photograph. Gustave Flaubert is conceded to have been one of the greatest of modern French novelists of the realistic school. Doubleday, Page & Co., New York.

Canadian rural life promises to be perpetuated in our literature through the medium of "Where the Sugar Maple Grows," a charming volume of sketches. The author, Adeline M. Teskey, is a resident of Canada, and her work will prove a revelation to those persons who claim that Canada has no literature. Miss Teskey has produced in these idylls of a Canadian village something unique in the way of character studies, equal in many respects to the quaint types of "Hessie," the "Bonnie Briar Bush." The presentation of the quaint types of this particular village will strike a sympathetic chord in many a heart. R. F. Fenno & Co., New York.

Frank T. Bullen gives us wonderfully graphic pictures of a sailor's life in "The Apostle of the Southeast" that is almost unknown. He sketches the quaint beginnings of a sailor's mission and the strange and humorous experiences that followed, and he accompanies his characters from the mission along their voyages to distant parts of the world. This tale of the effort to develop a spiritual side in the forecaste life shows an insight into human nature, a tenderness and power of sympathy that invest it with a profound interest for every one who cares for tales of the sailor's life and for every one who holds to the brotherhood of man. D. Appleton & Co., New York.

Do You Know

how fascinating English history really is? That England, during the past thousand years, has given to our literature more heroes and heroines than all the rest of the world and ages? What do you know of the private and personal lives of her queens, who, as well as being stately sovereigns with passions of love and hate, were living, palpitating women?

Do you know of that king and queen who stood barefooted, and "all naked from their waists upward," in the great hall of Westminster? Or what plumber's dog licked the blood of a king? Or why Henry VII hanged his four English mastiffs as traitors? Or what king apologized for taking so long to die? Or why Marlborough and his duchess were disgraced?

Do you know the story of Thomas Becket and the Emir's daughter? Of fair Rosamond Clifford's bower in the labyrinth at Woodstock, and the taltale silken thread on Henry's golden spur that led to her becoming a nun? Of Richard II and the fatal trap-door of Vidomar? Of the dreadful warning that hung over the bed of Isabella of Angouleme? Of the queen who was discovered in London, disguised as a cook-maid?

Do you know how the mere fact that the Duchess of Marlborough putting on, by mistake, the queen's gloves, changed, as Voltaire says, the destinies of Europe? Or why the great Elizabeth and her prime minister had to deal secretly with Catherine de' Medici's tailors? Or what that which passed between "Nan" Boleyn and King Hal beneath the yew-tree in the cloistered shade of Sopewell nunnery, meant to Woolsey? Those who are interested may have specimen pages of a work that will show how English history may be had in quite a different way from that presented by Hume, or Rapin, or Macaulay, or Guizot, or Hallam, or Froide.
