

WISE MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

Another Institution for Care of Afflicted Added to City's List.

FORMALLY DEDICATED SUNDAY AFTERNOON

Women Who Made It Possible Are Warmly Congratulated by Their Friends, Who Express Many Good Wishes.

The Wise Memorial hospital was formally opened Sunday afternoon with a public reception from 2 to 8 o'clock. During this time hundreds of people inspected the neat appointments of the hospital and joined in praise of the little band of determined women who made it possible.

Upon Mrs. J. E. Brandeis, Mrs. J. Sonnenberg, Mrs. C. Schantz and Mrs. J. Rosenstein, the incorporators of the Wise Memorial Hospital association, devoted practically all of the work, which they have done well.

Brief exercises were conducted, including addresses by Mayor Frank E. Moors, Rabbi Simon and the chairman, J. Zeigler. Mayor Moors said: "In the scriptures are the words, 'Faith, hope and charity, and the greatest of these is charity.' Here we have a practical application of the words in the work of these noble women who have founded this hospital as a memorial of the great and good Rabbi Wise. May it ever prove successful in its earnest wish."

Rabbi Simon spoke briefly and complimented the women for their noble work in securing funds for the hospital. "I hope it may be dedicated in the name of charity, the broadest, deepest and most large-hearted charity," said the rabbi. "Then it will be a worthy and fitting memorial of Rabbi Wise, a story to be told for generations to come."

Chairman Zeigler closed the exercises with a few remarks upon the worthiness of the enterprise and drew special attention to the fact that the hospital is to be conducted upon nonsectarian lines.

Visitors were conducted through the hospital by the women of the association and by Miss MacHiron, the head nurse. Throughout the afternoon Kaufman's orchestra played appropriate music and delicious refreshments were served in the dining room by Mrs. C. Kirshbraun, Mrs. S. Reichenberg, Mrs. S. Arstein and Mrs. Rosenstein.

The hospital, which is at 3208 Sherman avenue, is a model of neatness and convenience. It has two stories and a high basement, which have been remodeled and renovated in a manner suitable for hospital purposes. At the entrance is a reception room and an office adjoining. Two large wardrooms and two private rooms take up the remainder of the first floor.

On the second floor are three more private rooms, operating room and nurses' room. The charity ward occupies a bright, cheery corner in the basement, where the kitchen, nurses' dining room and storerooms are also located. Private rooms have been furnished by Mrs. Reichenberg, Henry Abrams, J. L. Brandeis, Dr. Hoffman and M. and B. Rosenthal. The Happy Hour club, composed of young people, has given a neat child's crib. Throughout the furnishings are of neat and substantial design.

HANDLED LIKE A MAIL SACK

Paralyzed Witness Reaches Federal Grand Jury Over Novel Route.

An unusual scene was witnessed at the federal building one day last week when Anthony Marova of Alliance was called before the grand jury to testify. People waiting in the lobby were surprised to see a man brought into the elevator on a truck used for the purpose of handling mail sacks in the postoffice.

Marova has been having trouble with his family. Being a paralytic, he is unable to get around the house, and was much angered by having another member of the family open a letter addressed to him. Complaint was made to the postal authorities and to preserve the sanctity of the mails they caused a grand jury investigation. Marova was summoned to appear and had a hard time to get into court.

PRESENT QUARTERS TOO SMALL

Richardson Drug Company Looking for More Room for Its Business.

The Richardson Drug company, whose wholesale house is at 902-906 Jackson street, is looking for new quarters to accommodate its increasing business and will either lease a larger building or arrange for the erection of one within the next sixty days. James Richardson of St. Louis, vice president of the company, and Clinton Rowell, attorney for the estate of J. Clifford Richardson, arrived in the city Sunday morning and will remain four or five days examining various buildings with a view to leasing them. They are in consultation with C. P. Weber, president of the Richardson Drug company.

FREE DINNER FOR THE POOR

Volunteers of America Arranging to Provide a Dinner on Thanksgiving Day.

The Volunteers of America are making preparations to serve dinner in their hall, 117 North Fifteenth street, Thanksgiving, free of charge to the poor people of Omaha and all others who desire to attend. They also expect to send out baskets of food to every poor family in the city who cannot come to the dinner. Captain Andrick has appointed a committee to secure names to whom baskets should be sent.

WORKING FOR CONSOLIDATION

Real Estate Exchange Committee Expects a Big Attendance at Its Mass Meeting.

W. G. Shriver, secretary of the Real Estate exchange, has received reports from a large number of the industrial and commercial societies of the county giving the names of the persons who will represent them at the meeting to be held Thursday evening to consider the matter of a change in the form of the city and county governments, which will result in a lessening of the expense administration.

General Manderson has been chosen for president officer and the speakers have already been announced. It is the expectation of the exchange that, should the representatives of the societies decide that a change in the law is desirable, a permanent organization will be formed, which will have for its object the consideration of propositions looking to such changes as may be advocated. In the meeting each delegate will have an equal vote, but in the permanent society it is believed that representation will be upon the basis of membership in the different organizations, so that an estimate may be made of the number of voters favoring a particular plan by the vote of their representatives in the organization. Members of the Real Estate exchange say that there is no desire upon their part to take the management of the affair into their own hands, but rather to ascertain the opinion of the majority of the voters on the subject.

Amusements

Creighton-Orpheum.

The headline position upon the week's vaudeville program, given its initial presentation at the Creighton-Orpheum Sunday, is filled by "The Svengali," who is one of the most novel, as well as interesting, specialties in the program. Three people assist in the presentation of the act, a woman and two men. The former a pianist and vocalist, one of the men an impersonator, the other a lecturer. The latter goes among the audience, asks people seated here and there to whisper the name of a selection, either vocal or instrumental, from any well known grand or comic opera that they would like to hear played or sung, or the name of some well known character they should like to see impersonated and instantly their wish is gratified by the people on the stage. No explanation is made to the audience as to the method used in transmitting the different names of characters or selections from the lecturer to the people on the stage. It has two stories and a high basement, which have been remodeled and renovated in a manner suitable for hospital purposes.

At the Boyd. Lincoln J. Carter's "Eleventh Hour" fund-raising act, which is a combination of a fund-raising act and a play, is being given at the Boyd tonight. The matinee attendance was large, too. This piece is probably the warmest number in Mr. Carter's well known series of "thrillers." It comprises about every known device for testing the sympathy of the people who watch it unfold. The hero is encompassed round about with a sea of troubles, the which is not finally dissipated until the eleventh hour and the fifty-ninth minute, although an occasional rift in the clouds appears to break the monotony of his long run of hard luck. The villain is foiled at several points before he is finally crushed, yet he sticks to his work with a pertinacity that would win him a reputation for determination did not the action of the play demand that he do exactly as he does. Assistant heroes and assistant villains are plentiful in the cast and each is heroic or villainous, as his lines indicate, and all are indifferently bad. The one bright spot in the speaking parts is the German comedy character, assumed by Charles A. Gardner, the Karl of old days. His voice is good, his mind is clear and his wit is as pungent as ever. The piece will be given again tonight.

Board Over Special Taxes.

City Treasurer Koutsky has sent to the Board of Education a notice calling attention to the fact that the special taxes levied for the improvement of the street in the neighborhood of the foot of Missouri avenue or N street at the foot of Burlington road, for a number of years has been promising to be paid as a deposit as soon as the car line was built and a road opened to the river. While the present road on Twelfth street is not as good as it should be, as members of the improvement club, propose to ask the council to order a little more work on this street, in order to place it in first-class condition.

Increase in Receipts.

Business at the stock yards has been exceptionally lively for the last week or two and the receipts of stock show an increase as compared with the same date of last year. Since January 1 of this year 2,967,539 hogs have been received here. This is an increase of 12.75 per cent over the corresponding period of 1900. In the matter of sheep receipts, there is an increase of 15,240 head, the total receipts being 1,200,118. Cattle receipts so far this year number 75,374 head. The price paid for hogs last week was higher in South Omaha than at Chicago.

Blast in a Lunch Room.

Fire was discovered in the Dodge Street Lunch room, run by Misses Tupper and Thompson, on the second floor of the Motzinger building, Fifteenth and Dodge streets, about 10 o'clock yesterday. The fire originated in the kitchen near a large range and was discovered by the janitor of the building. The building room being closed at the time. The damage to building and contents will amount to $100.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

New Telephone Franchise Ordinance is Under Consideration.

COUNCIL DISCUSSES ITS MANY POINTS

City Attorney Lambert Takes Note and Promises to Embody All the Ideas Offered in a New Draft.

Another informal meeting of the council was held at noon yesterday at the office of City Attorney Lambert, when the provisions of the proposed Plattsmouth telephone ordinance were fully discussed. Acting upon the suggestions of the members of the council, the city attorney proceeded at once to draft an ordinance, which it is expected will be introduced at the meeting called for tonight.

All of the members of the council who attended the meeting were backward in talking about the proposed ordinance. Mayor Kelly said that if the ideas of the council were carried out the ordinance would, if passed, fully protect the rights of the city and provide for a royalty similar to that imposed upon the Omaha Gas company.

This informal meeting of the council lasted for two hours and during this time all of the principal features were discussed and City Attorney Lambert made notes for the purpose of embodying them in the document. This precaution was taken for the reason that at a recent council meeting Mr. Lambert said that he did not want to be the author of an ordinance which would be cut and slashed in the committee and later on possibly declared illegal by the courts.

Two informal meetings have been held by the council to discuss this matter and it is expected that when the ordinance is presented to the council it will comply with all of the legal provisions made for the government of the city as well as the wishes of the people.

Special Call Necessary.

Unless there is a call for a special meeting the Board of Education will not convene tonight. Under the rules the next regular meeting will be held the first Monday in December. Certain members of the board say that there is no need of a meeting at this time, but the school board's league is looking after the interests of the schools just now. The finance committee of the board is deeply interested, however, in looking about for funds to meet the payment of salaries, etc., which will fall due on December 1. It is a well known fact that the funds of the district are at low tide and something must be done to meet the deficiency. A vote of bonds has been suggested, but this is opposed by a great many taxpayers, who assert that the district has ample funds at the commencement of each fiscal year to carry on the schools if the moneys coming in are properly looked after.

Seeking More Improvements.

Members of the East Side Improvement club are naturally pleased at the opening of the Missouri avenue extension of the street car line, but they do not propose to stop their efforts to secure more improvements.

"The next thing to look after," said J. J. Breen yesterday, "is the building of a depot at the foot of Missouri avenue or N street by the Burlington road. For a number of years the Burlington has been promising us a depot as soon as the car line was built and a road opened to the river. While the present road on Twelfth street is not as good as it should be, as members of the improvement club, propose to ask the council to order a little more work on this street, in order to place it in first-class condition."

Some time ago the council appropriated $50 for repairs to Twelfth street, but this amount hardly placed the street in the shape it should be, so an additional appropriation will be asked for.

Harvest Home at Trinity

Twentieth Anniversary of the Founding of Clarkson Memorial Hospital.

CHARITABLE WORK OF THE PARISH

Dean Fair Tells of the Object of the Founder of the Institution and of the Need of Assistance.

"Blessed be the man that considers the poor and needy, for the Lord will comfort him in sorrow," was the text of the sermon which Dean Fair preached at Trinity Cathedral yesterday morning. The morning services at the cathedral commemorated the twentieth anniversary of the founding of the Clarkson Memorial hospital and offering was taken for the hospital.

Dean Fair reviewed the history of the hospital briefly and told of the efforts the venerable Bishop Clarkson exerted twenty years ago to establish an institution where men, women and children of all faiths might be cared for in their hour of need. After a visit to hospitals in New York Bishop Clarkson decided that Omaha should have a Christian institution modeled after the great New York hospitals. The fund of the Clarkson hospital had its beginning in the contribution of a little girl. Through the efforts of Trinity parish subscriptions were received amounting to $14,000 and the building of the hospital now occupies was erected.

Little Boy Loses His Leg

Eleven-Year-Old John Stumpmaier, Mangled by a Burlington Train.

John Stumpmaier, the 11-year-old son of Mrs. Anna B. Stumpmaier, 1211 Blaine street, was run over by a B. & O. train about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon at the foot of Dominion street, and had his leg severely crushed, necessitating amputation.

The little fellow was removed to St. Joseph's hospital and Dr. Hamilton performed the operation late yesterday evening, removing the leg just above the knee. Stumpmaier and several companions had been playing near Dominion street during the afternoon. Upon starting home the boys missed Stumpmaier and John Rosa went to search for him. Stumpmaier was found near the track near where the boys had been playing and his leg horribly mangled. Residents of the vicinity were notified and the boy taken to St. Joseph's hospital in a buggy. Stumpmaier stated that he attempted to cross the track in front of the train, his foot caught and he fell. His condition is serious.

Quicker Time via Illinois Central.

Effective Sunday, Nov. 18, the Illinois Central will shorten the time on their trains to Chicago and the Twin Cities. OLD WINTER'S KNOCK

Now sounds his warning on the outer door. If you have not already prepared yourself to withstand his fierce assault, you are admonished to delay no longer.

Never has The Nebraska displayed such a complete assortment of winter fashion—never has it given such attractive values as it is giving now. Don't wait until the gems of the stock are gone; come in any time today or tomorrow.

While we have hundreds of garments to select from, remember we clothe the bulk of Omaha people, and lines like these do not last long when the demand is as pressing as it is just now.
