An examination of the bonds shows that they have been stamped on the face as stated. On the back of each bond is the bave been realized had I accepted Neligh's following: "This bond belongs to the per- original offer. That does not look as my opinion. Imanent school fund of the state of Ne-

The new bonds had been entered for rec ord in Cuming county on the bond record book April 16, 1901, and sent to the state auditor for record in his office and had been returned by him to the officers of Cuming county, in whose custody they remained until defivered to Neligh on May 16, 1901. Stuefer Takes Them at 3 1-2 Per Cent.

Investigation at the statehouse at Lincoin has brought out the fact that these $55,000 of Cuming county refunding bonds were bought for the school fund on the basis of a 314 per cent investment under the coupons were taken Treasurer Stuefer has not yet disclosed, but if figured as equal to one-half of 1 per cent for the whole ten years it would be $2,750, and deducting the $267 premium paid the county in cash would leave Neligh's profit nearly $2,500. If computed for an average of five years the bonds would have to run it would, of course, be half that amount. The records at Lincoln give May 15 as the date when the bonds were bought for the state.

How Neligh should have gotten possession of the bonds belonging to the state school fund before the new issue was even delivered to him, much less turned over to ing both to the state and to the county. the state, has not been explained. No Such Firm Known.

Inquiry also develops the fact that there is no such firm of bond brokers known as Charles S. Kidder & Co. of Chicago." At any rate, no such firm is listed in the rating books of the commercial agencies and the representatives of established bond brokers and banks say they never heard of them. The firm seems to have been improvised for this particular deal and to have worked so nection that my action with reference to now in the insurance fund $12,350. Treasurer Stucter's Statement.

LINCOLN. Nov. 18 .- (Special.) -- State Treasurer Stuefer today gave out for publication the following signed statement as to the disclosures in the Burt county bond "Recent statements published in The Omaha Bee accuse me of wrongfully manipulating state funds for my own benefit n connection with the Burt county refunding bonds. I absolutely deny any such wrongful use of state funds. The Burt county refunding bonds were issued early in July. For sometime prior to July I had known that these bonds were to be issued and had talked the matter over with Burt county people and had verbally agreed to take the bonds at 31/2 per cent interest. In spite of this understanding the bonds were subsequently issued bearing 3% per cent interest and were offered to the highest bidder. I did not bid on these bouds because I cannot under the law offer a premium on bonds payable in cash out of the

The cause exists in the blood, in what causes inflammation of the mucous membrane.

It is therefore impossible to cure the disease by local applications. It is positively dangerous to neg-

Many have been radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses the blood and has a peculiar alterative and tonic effect. R. Long, California Junction, Iowa, writes: "I had catarrh three years, lost my appetite and could not sleep. My head pained me and I felt bad all over. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and now have a good appetite sleep well, and have no symptoms of catarrh."

M. F. Funkhouser objects to having members of the school board criticise either his taste, discrimination or dilettanteism. of the former assignment. Mr. Funkhouser then embodied in a sub stitute motion his former suggestion that Howard, Barnard and W. F. Johnson be named a special committee to do this. Then Mr. Barnard arose and said that this was usurping a prerogative of the president. He stated that it was always the province the chair to name committees.

Insurance Matter Up Again.

An attempt of the finance committee to comply with an act of the board taken last terest at the rate of 3% per cent, but the summer and adjust the sum in the insurance coupons retained by Neligh reduced the fund developed the fact that hardly any interest that the state will realize to a two members of the board outside of the committee understood that action the same. Another Oceasion for Dispute. Mr. Funkhouser and Robert Smith made bitter fight on the following report from the buildings and property committee: Your committee on buildings and property, to which was referred a communication from the superintendent of instruction, regarding the use of school buildings for entertainments, desire to report that we have considered the same, and recommend that no paid entertainments of any description whatever be permitted in the school buildings without first obtaining the consent of the Board of Education.

Your committee further recommend Your committee further recommends that no one except persons connected with the Omaha public schools be permitted to lecture before the pupils, or to use the school buildings for lecture purposes, without first obtaining the consent of the Board of Education, and that the superintendent of instruction be instructed to notify the principals of the various schools to this effect.

The two opporents held that such a ruling could not rightfully come from the buildings and property committee, that it should emanate from the rules committee if from anywhere and they moved that it be referred there. This was lost, after a hot argument, and the report adopted.

Ash Hoist in Dispute

Robert Smith started more trouble by questioning the hulldings and property committee concerning its change in the method of carrying ashes from the basement of the High school. They were formerly swept up an incline by steam power and dumped out of doors. Now this way out has been walled up for a coalhouse and the ashes are hauled up by hand on a rope and pulley. Mr. Smith wanted to know who had authorized the change and the expenditure entailed by it. stated that the new method was far the inferior one. Members of the committee challenged said that the board had permitted them to do it, but Smith wanted to see the books. After considerable baiting and haggling the matter was dismissed by the failure of Smith to get a second to his motion for an investigation and report

It may be truly said that no city in this country rests upon a more substantial foundation or enjoys better prospects than this, the metropolis of Nebraska. The natural gateway of the transcontinental traffic, situated in the heart of a vast craof highly productive soil, with coal, from and other ores conveniently at hand, with an abundance of land in contiguous territory well adapted to live stock industry, in direct railway communication with all the principal markets of the continent, certainly there is every reason for the belief that the future of this city is full of promise, and that some day it will be a great and important commercial center.

Omsha has become an important trade center with indications that its expansion in this respect will in the future be more rapid and substantial than in the past. In the way of accommodations for the public you have kept pace with the times, and the breaking of the ground for an auditorium of such proportions as will accommodate large assemblages is an attestation of your determination to rise to the emergency, no matter how difficult the task.
