NEW SCHEME FOR SCHOOLS

Board of Education Harching a Plan for Additional Large Buildings.

PROPERTY OWNERS HAVE OBJECTIONS

Plan Contemplates Consolidation of Forest Park and Vinton Schools, Which the Patrons Do Not Approve.

There is a well defined movement on foot in the Board of Education to make arrangements for the erection of two school houses, both to cost, approximately; $75,000, one on Vinton street and the other in Monmouth Park, the contracts for the buildings to be let before the board is reorganized in January. One of the present members of the board, speaking of the matter yesterday should be adopted. We need both the buildings and cannot get one without the We should begin work as soon as possible and there is no reason why the matter should be delayed for a month or more because the board will be reorganized in January."

This desire on the part of the present board has come to the attention of restdents of the South side and some of them are very much opposed to the idea. At a meeting of the Vinton Street Improvement club the following resolution was passed:

The Vinton Street Improvement club wishes to caution the residents and patrons of the Vinton and Forest Park schools not to sign a petition for the erection of a sixteen-room school house between those schools, as this is only a pretext for the intention of closing Forest Park and Vinton schools. It is the same plot of some over-zealous people living in a certain locality to have a big school building as an improvement for their property, rather than as an educational institution.

The members of the school board who members of the school board who favor the plan of beginning work on the Monmouth Park and Vinton street schools this winter make no secret of their desire to consolidate the Forest Park and Vinton schools in accordance with the expressed wishes of Superintendent Pearse, who has gone on record in favor of large buildings in the center of sub-districts of vast area

If it be realism rather than theatricalism that people crave, Blanche Walsh has in her new play something that should satisfy their wants. At least those who find en-joyment in seeing the moral, mental and physical suffering of humanity truly and naturally pictured upon the stage will be pleased with "The Hunt for Happiness." The central theme of the play is by no means a new one, having been frequently The story is that of a young actress, a star in her profession, who, although the ido of the theatrical world, is not satisfied with her position in life. Thinking to find happiness and contentment in married life she weds a man of wealth and position. She soon becomes dissatisfied with herself in this new field and although she has everything that is seemingly required to make happiness complete, she deserts it to elope with a Spanish mountebank, who finally deserts her, leaving her to die in poverty and despair. The play is put together in a clever manner with enough suspensive interest created in the unfolding of the plot to hold the undivided attention of the audience through out. But neither the play nor the char acter assigned to Miss Walsh is of sufficient importance to be worthy of serious consideration by a tragedienne of her artistic ability; yet great charm lies not so much in the part she acts as in the way she acts. It is acting with her, pure and simple. One can hardly believe that she really feels the passions that seem to sway her in the character she assumes. While she gives a most intense portrayal of the deepest emotions, she does not entirely succeed in dispelling the notion that she has merely assumed the character. In this only she falls short of greatness. Her presence is not only graceful, but is really commanding, while her every movement is one of studied simple, natural perhaps, yet intended to produce an impression on the audience. In her voice lies her greatest charm. Its clear, sweet, musical tones now caressing in velvety softness, now rising in the whirlwind of words, always alluring, always exerting an influence in describable over the hearer, gives her power over the hearer which she fully realizes and uses to the greatest extent.

Miss Walsh is surrounded by a very capable company, and the performance, al though the piece is still a new one, pro ceeds very smoothly. It will be given again conight and twice tomorrow.

Supreme Court Sustains His Suit to Enjoin City Government.

NO EXTENSION OF OPTION ON WATER PLANT

City Attorney Connell Says the Matter Ifns Alrendy Cost the Public $200,000 with No Bene-

Among the decisions handed down by the Nebraska supreme court Wednesday was one sustaining the lower court in its Omaha might purchase the water works at price fixed by three appraisers, one of whom must be named by the city, another sion, as the town wasn't large enough to by the water works company, and a third by the other two appraisers.

Poppleton brought action to enjoin the mayor and city council from extending the time when such a purchase could be made from 1903 until 1908. The district court granted him a restraining order, and the case was appealed to the supreme court, where it has awaited action

The litigation concerning the extension of the purchase time began when water supply for the Transmississippi Exposition was under discussion. The Omaha Water Works company offered to furnish water for the exposition, offered a reduction in the annual rental of hydrants used by the city and made a proposal to furnish water free to the city hall and for other city purposes, in consideration for the five-year extension of the time when the city may purchase the water works.

Many of the city officials were anxious to accept the offer of the water company right which many people have contended is not of any value to the city. But W. Poppleton headed the opposition to the time extension and secured the interfer-

No Benefit to City.

"The injunction secured by Poppleton against the council and mayor has already cost the city $200,000," said City Attorney W. J. Connell. "The reduction in hydrant rental and in the cost of water city purposes would have amounted to that sum. And what has the city to show for this loss? It is unterest to such an arrangement of the city agrees to such an arrangement there can be no appeal from the appraisement made by these men. Where so much money is at stake it would be unwise to trust the making of the price to men from whose decision there is no appeal.

"The only sensible way of acquiring the water works is by the right of eminent domain. By adopting this plan the city can condemn the water plant and have a price put upon it after the manner adopted in all condemnation proceedings.

SCOURING YOUR SCALP

Will Remove the Loose Bandroff Scales, but It Won't Cure Dandrag.

If your hair is brittle and thinning you have dandruff. The merely scouring of the scalp of the loose scales won't cure dandruff, because dandruff is nothing but scales of scalp being thrown up by a pestiferous little germ in burrowing its way to the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing falling hair and in time baldness. Now you can't stop dandruff, nor felling hair, nor prevent baldness unless you destroy that germ, and the only preparation that can do it is the new scientific discovery, Newbro's Herpicide. In fact, no other hal preparation claims to kill the dandruft germ-all of them will clean the scalp; soap and water will do that, but only Newbro's Herpicide gets at the root of the trouble and kills the dandruff germ.
