

LINCOLN BUSINESS IS BRISK

All Jobbing Lines Easy, with Collections from Good to Fair.

HUNDREDS MORE TO JOIN ANTLERED HERD

Steefer Buys Douglas County Five Per Cent on Basis of Three Per Cent—Nebraska Poultry Exhibit.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Manager C. F. McCall of the Dan Commercial agency issues the following summary of trade conditions in Lincoln during the last week: "Practically all the jobbing lines represented in the city report business brisk, with collections from good to fair. There is little change in the grocery line except that a gradual advance is being made in cane sugar, two advances being registered in the last week. The partial failure of the corn crop has had a tendency to advance corn syrups and like products. In the harness line it is said that sales remain fairly well, while collections are hardly up to the average. In the wholesale jewelry line business is quoted only fair at this time, but this is thought to be due to the usual large Christmas purchases of a week or so previous. In furniture purchases are reported unusually heavy. Wholesale dealers in china, queensware, etc., report a good business through most sections of the country, though in some points where the corn failure is most felt, sales have fallen off. Collections are slow. Manufacturers and jobbers of paints report spring orders unusually satisfactory, purchases this year running considerably in excess of last year. Manufacturers of confectionery report exceptional business. In the overall and retail business is reported increasing steadily.

"In retail lines the effect of the recent warm weather is more noticeable, though in most cases business has held its own fairly well. Taking all things into consideration, local markets have a healthy tone and there does not appear any immediate prospect for an unfavorable change. From surrounding points business is reported good in dry goods, hardware and groceries, though the weather still continues unfavorable for shoes."

Hundred More to Wear Antlers.

The local lodge of Elks will add 100 new members to its herd on the evening of December 4. Among the initiates will be Governor Savage and several state officers. A theater party will be given in honor of the new members at the Oliver theater on December 6, when Tim Murphy, a brother Elks, will appear with his company.

McKinley Chimes Almost Paid For.

It is announced that only $200 more is needed to complete the McKinley memorial chimes fund. The committee in charge of the collection will endeavor to secure this balance immediately and as soon as it succeeds the chimes will be purchased and installed in the dome of the new St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church.

New Corners Block.

A one-story brick building, costing not less than $15,000, will be erected at the southeast corner of Twelfth and N streets. It will contain eight storerooms, all facing on N street and extending to the alley in the rear. J. F. Lansing will be part owner of the building.

Steefer Buys Douglas County Bonds.

Treasurer Steefer has bought $45,000 of Douglas county refunding bonds for the permanent school fund. They draw interest at the rate of 5 per cent, but are purchased on a basis of 3 per cent. This investment brings the total unvested school money down to $10,000.

Nebraska Poultry Exhibit.

Programs are being issued for the Nebraska Poultry association's exhibit, which will be given in the Auditorium from January 21 to 24 inclusive. Premiums aggregating $1,000 are offered. A special pigeon class will be one of the new features.

St. Luke's Dedicated.

The new St. Luke's Episcopal church at Thirtieth and J streets was dedicated this afternoon by Bishop Williams of Omaha, assisted by Rev. Francis Eason of Holy Trinity and Rev. J. D. Miller of St. Luke's. The building was completed a few days ago and is now the home of the city's second Episcopal congregation.

Proceedings Against Physician.

Legal proceedings have been instituted against Dr. W. S. Shoemaker for failing to report a case of smallpox within the time specified by law, which is twelve hours after time of discovery. An effort will be made by the city authorities to make this case an object lesson to other physicians. The hearing will be some time during the ensuing week.

SHOOTS MAN FOR A RABBIT

Wahoo Hunter Aims at Bunny and Brings Down Companion-In-Arms.

WAHOO, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—Nels Anderson, five miles west of this city, was accidentally shot this morning by Ole Herring while hunting. The men were fifty yards apart and a rabbit running between them was shot at by Herring. He missed the rabbit and shot Anderson in the leg. The wound is not serious.

FOUND WITH NECK BROKEN

John Windell of Wausa Thrown by Runaway Horses and Killed.

WAUSA, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—John Windell, a farmer, six miles northeast of town, was found dead last night with his neck broken. He left town about 7 o'clock and the trial was held this morning. For years there has been all kinds of hair stimulants and scalp tonics on the market, but there has been no permanent cure for dandruff until the discovery of a preparation called Newbro's Herpicide, which destroys the dandruff germ. Destroy like the cause the effect will cease to exist. Kill the dandruff germ and you'll have no dandruff, no itching scalp, no falling hair.

Madison County Teachers.

BATTLE CREEK, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The various reading circles of the Madison county teachers met here in joint session yesterday. Twenty teachers were present. D. H. Vantine presided over the meeting, with M. G. Doering at the organ.

Face-Well to Fremont.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—Rev. W. H. Buss preached his farewell sermon at the Congregational church this morning to as large a congregation as the edifice has ever contained. He leaves for Aurora, Ill.

Wreck on Union Pacific.

FREMONT, Neb., Nov. 24.—(Special.)—The Union Pacific had a small wreck on the switch track near Leavitt about 6

NEBRASKANS IN WASHINGTON

President Burt of Union Pacific Sits at His Mission.

SCHNEIDER ACTIVE IN FREMONT FIGHT

Ross Hammond Has a Strenuous Time Seeking Reappointment as Postmaster-Reciprocal Trade Treaties Proposed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—President Horace Burt of the Union Pacific, accompanied by Chief Engineer Berry, arrived from New York tonight, to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

R. B. Schneider came on the same train. Mr. Schneider expects to remain several days and will probably make an appeal for the reappointment of Ross Hammond as postmaster at Fremont. Hammond will endeavor to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

Reciprocal Trade Treaties.

Lately there have been held in this city what are designated as "reciprocity hearings." Besides the tariff committee, which spent nearly half his time during the past two weeks in listening to advocates and opponents of reciprocal trade treaties. In all these hearings at the capital, as well as those at the White House, locality has had a great deal to do with the arguments pro and con. Eastern sugar refiners have urged a treaty with Cuba which will admit free of duty the raw sugars of the island. Western growers of sugar beets have pointed out that such a policy would seriously embarrass their industry, which is rapidly growing and which promises soon to supply the entire country with its saccharine needs. So, too, manufacturers urge the negotiation of treaties which will admit raw materials free, while agricultural interests protest that the farmer is entitled to as much protection as the manufacturer. Not a single advocate of reciprocal trade treaties has appeared but has been promptly opposed by an equally emphatic advocate of the status quo.

So far nothing has been heard of the hearings. Those held by day for the public have been attended by no one with authority to speak for congress and no one has been able to secure a promise from President Roosevelt that he will do anything whatever toward bringing about commercial treaties with foreign countries which will in any way disturb present trade conditions.

The hearings, however, have demonstrated clearly that there can be no unanimity of sentiment among the farmers of this country upon the tariff policy. The most of the manufacturer may be the poison of the farmer and it has certainly been demonstrated that no two groups of states are equally interested in any of the tariff schedules.

Henderson Again a Speaker.

So certain is it that Representative-elect David B. Henderson will be again chosen speaker of the house of representatives that he has already begun bringing about organizing the committee. He has sent letters to many of his closest friends inviting suggestions and it is understood that he has the first draft of the committee ready. It has almost invariably been the custom of the speaker of the house to select the members of the committee to proceed with the work before them than entirely new committees could be.

Break Bread with President.

President Roosevelt has an informal way of discussing political affairs, which appears to be very attractive to those who are in his confidence. Instead of inviting visitors into the cabinet room and later on for a few minutes to what they have to say he frequently suggests a luncheon, at which the wife of the caller meets Mrs. Roosevelt and has an opportunity presented to take part in the conversation.

Local Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Forecast: For Nebraska and Kansas—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to east winds. For Iowa—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to northeast winds. For Missouri—Fair Monday, cooler in northwest portion; Tuesday fair; northerly winds. For South Dakota and North Dakota—Fair Monday and Tuesday; variable winds. For Wyoming, Colorado and Montana—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

OFFICE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU. Omaha. Record of temperature, precipitation and other data for the day and the corresponding day of the last three years.

Maximum temperature 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898. Minimum temperature 32 24 30 25. Mean temperature 42 39 35 33. Precipitation .99 .97 .99 .99. Record of temperature and precipitation at Omaha for this day and since March 1, 1901.

Normal temperature 39. Excess for the day 1.2. Deficiency for the day 0.1. Total rainfall since March 1, 1901, 22.28 inches. Deficiency since March 1, 5.84 inches. Excess for corresponding day of last year, 1.89 inches. Deficiency for corresponding day of last year, 4.30 inches.

Reports from Stations at 7 p. m.

STATION AND STATE OF WEATHER. Omaha, partly cloudy 48 52 .00. Cheyenne, cloudy 42 44 .00. Rapid City, clear 36 48 .00. Williston, clear 24 34 .00. Williamsburg, clear 36 48 .00. St. Paul, clear 30 38 .00. Lawrence, cloudy 40 42 .00. Helena, cloudy 40 42 .00. Bismarck, clear 36 48 .00. Galveston, partly cloudy 68 72 .00.

Relics of the Pioneer Days of the west are rapidly passing away and unless something is speedily done to assemble those still in existence at some central point, like the capital of the nation or at several capitals of western states, in a little while the stirring times leading up

NEBRASKANS IN WASHINGTON

President Burt of Union Pacific Sits at His Mission.

SCHNEIDER ACTIVE IN FREMONT FIGHT

Ross Hammond Has a Strenuous Time Seeking Reappointment as Postmaster-Reciprocal Trade Treaties Proposed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—President Horace Burt of the Union Pacific, accompanied by Chief Engineer Berry, arrived from New York tonight, to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

R. B. Schneider came on the same train. Mr. Schneider expects to remain several days and will probably make an appeal for the reappointment of Ross Hammond as postmaster at Fremont. Hammond will endeavor to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

Reciprocal Trade Treaties.

Lately there have been held in this city what are designated as "reciprocity hearings." Besides the tariff committee, which spent nearly half his time during the past two weeks in listening to advocates and opponents of reciprocal trade treaties. In all these hearings at the capital, as well as those at the White House, locality has had a great deal to do with the arguments pro and con. Eastern sugar refiners have urged a treaty with Cuba which will admit free of duty the raw sugars of the island. Western growers of sugar beets have pointed out that such a policy would seriously embarrass their industry, which is rapidly growing and which promises soon to supply the entire country with its saccharine needs. So, too, manufacturers urge the negotiation of treaties which will admit raw materials free, while agricultural interests protest that the farmer is entitled to as much protection as the manufacturer. Not a single advocate of reciprocal trade treaties has appeared but has been promptly opposed by an equally emphatic advocate of the status quo.

So far nothing has been heard of the hearings. Those held by day for the public have been attended by no one with authority to speak for congress and no one has been able to secure a promise from President Roosevelt that he will do anything whatever toward bringing about commercial treaties with foreign countries which will in any way disturb present trade conditions.

The hearings, however, have demonstrated clearly that there can be no unanimity of sentiment among the farmers of this country upon the tariff policy. The most of the manufacturer may be the poison of the farmer and it has certainly been demonstrated that no two groups of states are equally interested in any of the tariff schedules.

Henderson Again a Speaker.

So certain is it that Representative-elect David B. Henderson will be again chosen speaker of the house of representatives that he has already begun bringing about organizing the committee. He has sent letters to many of his closest friends inviting suggestions and it is understood that he has the first draft of the committee ready. It has almost invariably been the custom of the speaker of the house to select the members of the committee to proceed with the work before them than entirely new committees could be.

Break Bread with President.

President Roosevelt has an informal way of discussing political affairs, which appears to be very attractive to those who are in his confidence. Instead of inviting visitors into the cabinet room and later on for a few minutes to what they have to say he frequently suggests a luncheon, at which the wife of the caller meets Mrs. Roosevelt and has an opportunity presented to take part in the conversation.

Local Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Forecast: For Nebraska and Kansas—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to east winds. For Iowa—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to northeast winds. For Missouri—Fair Monday, cooler in northwest portion; Tuesday fair; northerly winds. For South Dakota and North Dakota—Fair Monday and Tuesday; variable winds. For Wyoming, Colorado and Montana—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

OFFICE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU. Omaha. Record of temperature, precipitation and other data for the day and the corresponding day of the last three years.

Maximum temperature 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898. Minimum temperature 32 24 30 25. Mean temperature 42 39 35 33. Precipitation .99 .97 .99 .99. Record of temperature and precipitation at Omaha for this day and since March 1, 1901.

Normal temperature 39. Excess for the day 1.2. Deficiency for the day 0.1. Total rainfall since March 1, 1901, 22.28 inches. Deficiency since March 1, 5.84 inches. Excess for corresponding day of last year, 1.89 inches. Deficiency for corresponding day of last year, 4.30 inches.

Reports from Stations at 7 p. m.

STATION AND STATE OF WEATHER. Omaha, partly cloudy 48 52 .00. Cheyenne, cloudy 42 44 .00. Rapid City, clear 36 48 .00. Williston, clear 24 34 .00. Williamsburg, clear 36 48 .00. St. Paul, clear 30 38 .00. Lawrence, cloudy 40 42 .00. Helena, cloudy 40 42 .00. Bismarck, clear 36 48 .00. Galveston, partly cloudy 68 72 .00.

Relics of the Pioneer Days of the west are rapidly passing away and unless something is speedily done to assemble those still in existence at some central point, like the capital of the nation or at several capitals of western states, in a little while the stirring times leading up

NEBRASKANS IN WASHINGTON

President Burt of Union Pacific Sits at His Mission.

SCHNEIDER ACTIVE IN FREMONT FIGHT

Ross Hammond Has a Strenuous Time Seeking Reappointment as Postmaster-Reciprocal Trade Treaties Proposed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—President Horace Burt of the Union Pacific, accompanied by Chief Engineer Berry, arrived from New York tonight, to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

R. B. Schneider came on the same train. Mr. Schneider expects to remain several days and will probably make an appeal for the reappointment of Ross Hammond as postmaster at Fremont. Hammond will endeavor to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

Reciprocal Trade Treaties.

Lately there have been held in this city what are designated as "reciprocity hearings." Besides the tariff committee, which spent nearly half his time during the past two weeks in listening to advocates and opponents of reciprocal trade treaties. In all these hearings at the capital, as well as those at the White House, locality has had a great deal to do with the arguments pro and con. Eastern sugar refiners have urged a treaty with Cuba which will admit free of duty the raw sugars of the island. Western growers of sugar beets have pointed out that such a policy would seriously embarrass their industry, which is rapidly growing and which promises soon to supply the entire country with its saccharine needs. So, too, manufacturers urge the negotiation of treaties which will admit raw materials free, while agricultural interests protest that the farmer is entitled to as much protection as the manufacturer. Not a single advocate of reciprocal trade treaties has appeared but has been promptly opposed by an equally emphatic advocate of the status quo.

So far nothing has been heard of the hearings. Those held by day for the public have been attended by no one with authority to speak for congress and no one has been able to secure a promise from President Roosevelt that he will do anything whatever toward bringing about commercial treaties with foreign countries which will in any way disturb present trade conditions.

The hearings, however, have demonstrated clearly that there can be no unanimity of sentiment among the farmers of this country upon the tariff policy. The most of the manufacturer may be the poison of the farmer and it has certainly been demonstrated that no two groups of states are equally interested in any of the tariff schedules.

Henderson Again a Speaker.

So certain is it that Representative-elect David B. Henderson will be again chosen speaker of the house of representatives that he has already begun bringing about organizing the committee. He has sent letters to many of his closest friends inviting suggestions and it is understood that he has the first draft of the committee ready. It has almost invariably been the custom of the speaker of the house to select the members of the committee to proceed with the work before them than entirely new committees could be.

Break Bread with President.

President Roosevelt has an informal way of discussing political affairs, which appears to be very attractive to those who are in his confidence. Instead of inviting visitors into the cabinet room and later on for a few minutes to what they have to say he frequently suggests a luncheon, at which the wife of the caller meets Mrs. Roosevelt and has an opportunity presented to take part in the conversation.

Local Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Forecast: For Nebraska and Kansas—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to east winds. For Iowa—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to northeast winds. For Missouri—Fair Monday, cooler in northwest portion; Tuesday fair; northerly winds. For South Dakota and North Dakota—Fair Monday and Tuesday; variable winds. For Wyoming, Colorado and Montana—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

OFFICE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU. Omaha. Record of temperature, precipitation and other data for the day and the corresponding day of the last three years.

Maximum temperature 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898. Minimum temperature 32 24 30 25. Mean temperature 42 39 35 33. Precipitation .99 .97 .99 .99. Record of temperature and precipitation at Omaha for this day and since March 1, 1901.

Normal temperature 39. Excess for the day 1.2. Deficiency for the day 0.1. Total rainfall since March 1, 1901, 22.28 inches. Deficiency since March 1, 5.84 inches. Excess for corresponding day of last year, 1.89 inches. Deficiency for corresponding day of last year, 4.30 inches.

Reports from Stations at 7 p. m.

STATION AND STATE OF WEATHER. Omaha, partly cloudy 48 52 .00. Cheyenne, cloudy 42 44 .00. Rapid City, clear 36 48 .00. Williston, clear 24 34 .00. Williamsburg, clear 36 48 .00. St. Paul, clear 30 38 .00. Lawrence, cloudy 40 42 .00. Helena, cloudy 40 42 .00. Bismarck, clear 36 48 .00. Galveston, partly cloudy 68 72 .00.

Relics of the Pioneer Days of the west are rapidly passing away and unless something is speedily done to assemble those still in existence at some central point, like the capital of the nation or at several capitals of western states, in a little while the stirring times leading up

NEBRASKANS IN WASHINGTON

President Burt of Union Pacific Sits at His Mission.

SCHNEIDER ACTIVE IN FREMONT FIGHT

Ross Hammond Has a Strenuous Time Seeking Reappointment as Postmaster-Reciprocal Trade Treaties Proposed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—President Horace Burt of the Union Pacific, accompanied by Chief Engineer Berry, arrived from New York tonight, to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

R. B. Schneider came on the same train. Mr. Schneider expects to remain several days and will probably make an appeal for the reappointment of Ross Hammond as postmaster at Fremont. Hammond will endeavor to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

Reciprocal Trade Treaties.

Lately there have been held in this city what are designated as "reciprocity hearings." Besides the tariff committee, which spent nearly half his time during the past two weeks in listening to advocates and opponents of reciprocal trade treaties. In all these hearings at the capital, as well as those at the White House, locality has had a great deal to do with the arguments pro and con. Eastern sugar refiners have urged a treaty with Cuba which will admit free of duty the raw sugars of the island. Western growers of sugar beets have pointed out that such a policy would seriously embarrass their industry, which is rapidly growing and which promises soon to supply the entire country with its saccharine needs. So, too, manufacturers urge the negotiation of treaties which will admit raw materials free, while agricultural interests protest that the farmer is entitled to as much protection as the manufacturer. Not a single advocate of reciprocal trade treaties has appeared but has been promptly opposed by an equally emphatic advocate of the status quo.

So far nothing has been heard of the hearings. Those held by day for the public have been attended by no one with authority to speak for congress and no one has been able to secure a promise from President Roosevelt that he will do anything whatever toward bringing about commercial treaties with foreign countries which will in any way disturb present trade conditions.

The hearings, however, have demonstrated clearly that there can be no unanimity of sentiment among the farmers of this country upon the tariff policy. The most of the manufacturer may be the poison of the farmer and it has certainly been demonstrated that no two groups of states are equally interested in any of the tariff schedules.

Henderson Again a Speaker.

So certain is it that Representative-elect David B. Henderson will be again chosen speaker of the house of representatives that he has already begun bringing about organizing the committee. He has sent letters to many of his closest friends inviting suggestions and it is understood that he has the first draft of the committee ready. It has almost invariably been the custom of the speaker of the house to select the members of the committee to proceed with the work before them than entirely new committees could be.

Break Bread with President.

President Roosevelt has an informal way of discussing political affairs, which appears to be very attractive to those who are in his confidence. Instead of inviting visitors into the cabinet room and later on for a few minutes to what they have to say he frequently suggests a luncheon, at which the wife of the caller meets Mrs. Roosevelt and has an opportunity presented to take part in the conversation.

Local Record.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Forecast: For Nebraska and Kansas—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to east winds. For Iowa—Fair Monday and Tuesday; north to northeast winds. For Missouri—Fair Monday, cooler in northwest portion; Tuesday fair; northerly winds. For South Dakota and North Dakota—Fair Monday and Tuesday; variable winds. For Wyoming, Colorado and Montana—Fair Monday and Tuesday.

OFFICE OF THE WEATHER BUREAU. Omaha. Record of temperature, precipitation and other data for the day and the corresponding day of the last three years.

Maximum temperature 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898. Minimum temperature 32 24 30 25. Mean temperature 42 39 35 33. Precipitation .99 .97 .99 .99. Record of temperature and precipitation at Omaha for this day and since March 1, 1901.

Normal temperature 39. Excess for the day 1.2. Deficiency for the day 0.1. Total rainfall since March 1, 1901, 22.28 inches. Deficiency since March 1, 5.84 inches. Excess for corresponding day of last year, 1.89 inches. Deficiency for corresponding day of last year, 4.30 inches.

Reports from Stations at 7 p. m.

STATION AND STATE OF WEATHER. Omaha, partly cloudy 48 52 .00. Cheyenne, cloudy 42 44 .00. Rapid City, clear 36 48 .00. Williston, clear 24 34 .00. Williamsburg, clear 36 48 .00. St. Paul, clear 30 38 .00. Lawrence, cloudy 40 42 .00. Helena, cloudy 40 42 .00. Bismarck, clear 36 48 .00. Galveston, partly cloudy 68 72 .00.

Relics of the Pioneer Days of the west are rapidly passing away and unless something is speedily done to assemble those still in existence at some central point, like the capital of the nation or at several capitals of western states, in a little while the stirring times leading up

NEBRASKANS IN WASHINGTON

President Burt of Union Pacific Sits at His Mission.

SCHNEIDER ACTIVE IN FREMONT FIGHT

Ross Hammond Has a Strenuous Time Seeking Reappointment as Postmaster-Reciprocal Trade Treaties Proposed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—(Special Telegram.)—President Horace Burt of the Union Pacific, accompanied by Chief Engineer Berry, arrived from New York tonight, to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

R. B. Schneider came on the same train. Mr. Schneider expects to remain several days and will probably make an appeal for the reappointment of Ross Hammond as postmaster at Fremont. Hammond will endeavor to remain only one day. Mr. Burt's mission is not disclosed.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

When in the autumn of 1880 Winfield Scott Hancock, democratic candidate for the presidency, remarked that "the tariff is a local issue" he was not far from the truth. He declared he has no disposition to champion either of the candidates in the Fremont postal fight.

Reciprocal Trade Treaties.

Lately there have been held in this city what are designated as "reciprocity hearings." Besides the tariff committee, which spent nearly half his time during the past two weeks in listening to advocates and opponents of reciprocal trade treaties. In all these hearings at the capital, as well as those at the White House, locality has had a great deal to do with the arguments pro and con. Eastern sugar refiners have urged a treaty with Cuba which will admit free of duty the raw sugars of the island. Western growers of sugar beets have pointed out that such a policy would seriously embarrass their industry, which is rapidly growing and which promises soon to supply the entire country with its saccharine needs. So, too, manufacturers urge the negotiation of treaties which will admit raw materials free, while agricultural interests protest that the farmer is entitled to as much protection as the manufacturer. Not a single advocate of reciprocal trade treaties has appeared but has been promptly opposed by an equally emphatic advocate of the status quo.

So far nothing has been heard of the hearings. Those held by day for the public have been attended by no one with authority to speak for congress and no one has been able to secure a promise from President Roosevelt that he will do anything whatever toward bringing about commercial treaties with foreign countries which will in any way disturb present trade conditions.

The hearings, however, have demonstrated clearly that there can be no unanimity of sentiment among the farmers of this country upon the tariff policy. The most of the manufacturer may be the poison of the farmer and it has certainly been demonstrated that no two groups of states are equally interested in any of the tariff schedules.

Henderson Again a Speaker.

So certain is it that Representative-elect David B. Henderson will be again chosen speaker of the house of representatives that he has already begun bringing about organizing the committee. He has sent letters to many of his closest friends inviting suggestions and it is understood that he has the first draft of the committee ready. It has almost invariably been the custom of the speaker of the house to select the members of the committee to proceed with the work before them than entirely new committees could be.

Break Bread with President.

President Roosevelt has an informal way of discussing political affairs, which appears to be very attractive to those who are in his confidence. Instead of inviting visitors into the cabinet room and later on for a few minutes to what they have to