The United States imports yearly $500,000 worth of macaroni. Macaroni wheat has been introduced in the last two years very successfully into the Dakotas, also into Kansas and Nebraska.

Referring to the reclamation of alluvial lands, which attention has frequently been called in the reports of the soil survey, the secretary says that he is more and more convinced that to carry the lesson home to the individual it will be necessary for the department itself to undertake a practical demonstration of the efficiency of drainage. The necessity of a special study of climatology in connection with the soil work is pointed out. "The time has come," says the secretary, "when the work should be done in a scientific manner, and not with the extension of at least two or three crop interests. It is certain that the immediate benefit to the farmer will apply repay expenditure."

In the bureau of chemistry investigations in the composition of various articles of food products have been continued. This work during the year was devoted particularly to the study of preserved meats, the composition and nutritive value of the preserved article being compared with the original, and the preservatives, if any were employed, determined. Food products imported into this country and suspected of adulteration or of containing injurious constituents, have also been examined. The secretary is authorized to inspect, through the bureau of chemistry, American food products intended for export. Unfortunately, congress has not provided appropriations adequate to the proper execution of this law. The secretary adds that it is important that our food products going abroad be pure and wholesome, and that we should protect our exporters against discrimination in foreign countries.

The sugar laboratory of the bureau continues to study all the chemical problems relating to the production of sugar producing plants and the manufacture of sugar. The chief part of this work is devoted to the study of sugar beets.

Bureau of Forestry.
 Another of the newly organized bureaus is that of forestry. During the year the working plan for the Black Hills forest reserve was completed and working plans were undertaken for the Prescott and Big Horn and the Priest River reserves.

The secretary reports as the result of a broad inquiry made through the office of experiment stations that by far the largest part of the work of the stations has direct relation to the important agricultural interests of the communities in which they are located. The work of the stations is becoming better understood by the farmers, and a broader, deeper foundation of scientific inquiry is being laid each year.

An increase in college extension work in agriculture is noted and stress is laid on the movement for the establishment of secondary schools of agriculture and the introduction of the elements of agriculture into the rural schools, as hopeful signs of progress in agricultural education. The secretary suggests that his department, already giving aid to rural schools in various ways, should take a still more active part in encouraging this work. He recommends encouragement by distributing seeds and plants to establish school gardens, by furnishing schools with collections of specimens of insects, of plant diseases and other illustrative material and by supplying...

Salt Rheum
 It may become chronic. It may cover the body with large, inflamed, burning, itching, scaling patches and cause intense suffering. It has been known to do so. Do not delay treatment. Thoroughly cleanse the system of the humors on which this ailment depends and prevent their return.

The medicine taken by Mrs. Ida E. Ward, Cove Point, Md., was Hood's Sarsaparilla. She writes: "I had a disagreeable itching on my arms which I concluded was salt rheum. I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla and in two days felt better. It is long before I was cured and I have never had any skin disease since."

Hood's Sarsaparilla
 Promises to cure and keeps the promise. It is positively unequalled for all cutaneous eruptions. Take it.

PREMATURE GRAYNESS
 Imperial Hair Regenerator
 Not only restores gray hair to its natural color, but also cures itching scalp, dandruff, and all other troubles of the hair. It is the only application which can be used for the hair. Apply to scalp. Private assured.

In response to constant complaints the biological survey has prepared and distributed a circular of direction for the destruction of prairie dogs, and is now conducting experiments in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas and Texas with a view to discovering remedial measures against this pest, cheap enough for general use.

The report concludes with a review of the development of agriculture and commerce during the last twenty years, and of the contributions by the department of agriculture to the progress of events and the building up of domestic and foreign trade.

English Press Comments.
 LONDON, Nov. 25.—All the morning papers discuss South American affairs. The Daily Telegraph says: "The United States are acting in strict accordance with their diplomatic right, but they have difficulty in adhering to their ideal program." The Daily News says: "The United States are doing nothing more than to take advantage by forceful acts which may at any time develop into an occupation of the isthmus."

The Morning Post, which daily expects the trouble to have any great effect on the relations of the powers, says: "Germany will not indulge in any risks over a mere point of honor in the Venezuelan dispute. Without expressing an opinion on the abstract justice of the United States' control of the isthmus, it believes no single power is likely to oppose it. The Monroe doctrine is hardly likely to be discussed as long as the powers disagree among themselves."

Germany Makes Denial.
 BERLIN, Nov. 25.—The foreign office today sent for the representative here of the Associated Press and declared that the announcement that the countries party to the triple alliance were making a concentrated demonstration in South American waters to be false.

The informant of the correspondent said there had been no conference between Austria and Italy concerning concentrated action in this direction. He admitted that each country was sending warships to South American waters, but said they were acting independently of each other and were protecting the property, rights and lives of their subjects. It was further explained that Washington was fully informed of the movements of German vessels in South American waters, and that the vessels destined to go out there. No other ships have been sent to South America.

German officials in Berlin are of the opinion that the presence of the German sea of warships belonging to the triple alliance will have the desired effect without making necessary a recourse to action.

Son Avenges His Parents.

The husband followed. Stokes and his wife were on the veranda. Robert Wilking, an ardent, shot and mortally wounded Mrs. Stokes. A son of Mr. Stokes then appeared and shot and killed Wilking. DEATH RATE
 From Kidney Disease Is on the Increase.
 Thousands of People Have Kidney Disease and Do Not Know It Until It Is Too Late.

If any of your family in the past generations has had kidney disease, dropsy, rheumatism, rheumatic gout, liver trouble, blood disease, bladder trouble, gravel, stone in the bladder or female weakness you should test your blood with Warner's Safe Cure. Kidney disease causes all these complications, and is impregnating the system for many months before you notice any outward symptoms.

In the morning put some urine in a glass or bottle, let it stand for 24 hours; if there is a reddish sediment in the bottom of the glass, or if the urine is cloudy or milky, or if you see particles or germs floating about in it, your kidneys are diseased and you should lose no time, but get a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, as it is dangerous to neglect your kidneys for even one day.

A free trial bottle has been known to cure many cases that were discovered by the test mentioned above.

Dr. C. F. P. Burchmore, a prominent physician of 378 Huntington Ave., Boston, Mass., says: "I always prescribe Warner's Safe Cure for all forms of kidney and bladder disease and female weakness and I have yet to see a patient disatisfied with the result where diseases of the kidneys, bladder or genito urinary organs existed. Count on me every time as a strong advocate of Warner's Safe Cure."

FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE
 To convince every sufferer from diseases of the kidney, liver, bladder and blood that Warner's Safe Cure will cure them a sample bottle will be sent absolutely free to any one who will write Warner's Safe Cure Co., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in this paper. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed by the publisher. WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—The trial of Mrs. Lola Ida Bonine for the murder of Thomas M. Baker, at the Kenmore hotel last night, began in real earnest today. The preliminary details as to the finding of the body, the location of furniture, blood stains, etc., were all in with the conclusion of the testimony of J. F. Drew, the captain of the police who was on the stand when the court adjourned last Friday. Baker, the man who saw Mrs. Bonine descend the fire escape; Hopkins, who roomed over Ayres and roomed under Ayres, and Mrs. Lawless and Mrs. Minns, who roomed on the other side of him, testified today. The two latter were regarded as star witnesses, but they testified to no facts not developed at the inquest.

Drew testified that there was a room enough behind the door of Ayres' room for a man to have been there while the door was opened to admit other persons; also that there were empty cartridges in the slot jar in Ayres' room before the pistol was emptied by Officer Brady after the tragedy. This would tend to establish the theory of the defense that the pistol belonged to Ayres. Mrs. Minns testified that Ayres and Mrs. Bonine ate ice cream and cake in her room the night before the tragedy and that at that time there was no evidence of ill-feeling between them. Mrs. Bonine testified that she was in her room when Officer Brady arrested her today, when witness described the cries, groans and throat gagging of the dying man, remained absolutely unmoved.

At the opening of the trial this morning Frank Drew, the captain policeman, who was the last witness called, was the one who adjourned, resumed his testimony. He swore that he had several times seen the defendant come out of Ayres' room. The last occasion was about a week before the tragedy. It was at night about 9 o'clock. On cross-examination he testified that he had seen the defendant come out of the room on the morning when Ayres' body was discovered. He was closely questioned as to the location of the furniture, clothing and the position of the body, to which he testified upon direct examination. He testified that he had seen the defendant come out of the room on the night of the tragedy, and her demeanor was in no wise different from that when he saw her emerge from the room on the morning when the body was discovered. Her bearing was natural. She had a habit of visiting the sick.

He often visited the sick. He testified that he had seen Mrs. Bonine come out of rooms of others in the hotel, among them those of several single men, and her demeanor was in no wise different from that when he saw her emerge from the room on the morning when the body was discovered. He saw no evidence of excitement. Her bearing was natural. She had a habit of visiting the sick.

On cross-examination he testified that there were empty cartridge shells in the slot jar on his first visit to the room, which was before Officer Brady broke the door and took the shells out.

Thomas M. Baker, an employe of the fish commission, who resided in the building adjoining the Kenmore, was then called and testified that on the night of the tragedy he saw Mrs. Bonine come out of her room on the fifth floor over the room of Miss Lawless, who occupied the room adjoining that in which Ayres was killed. His daughter was ill on the night of the tragedy. He was returning to bed he heard three loud reports. He went to the window and looked down. He saw something which looked like a fire escape in the front of the building on the window which he afterward ascertained was the window of Ayres' room. The shots were fired in quick succession, about four seconds he judged between the first and last. At the conclusion of Mr. Hopkins' testimony Mrs. Bonine was called and testified that she was in her room on the night of the tragedy, and that in which the tragedy occurred, was called Mrs. Lawless showed considerable nervousness as she took the stand. She testified that she was employed in the bureau of investigation of the State, and that on the night of the tragedy, about 9:30 o'clock, she testified, Ayres knocked at her door and asked if she had any sugar. He told her he was going away and wanted to make some cocoa. She gave him the sugar. About ten minutes later he knocked again and asked her if she did not want a cup. She replied that she did not care for it. About 10 o'clock she retired. She was slightly aroused during the night, but was not awakened. She formed no idea as to what aroused her or what brought on the tragedy. She always prescribes Warner's Safe Cure for all forms of kidney and bladder disease and female weakness, and I have yet to see a patient disatisfied with the result where diseases of the kidneys, bladder or genito urinary organs existed. Count on me every time as a strong advocate of Warner's Safe Cure.

CRIMINALS OF MURDERED MAN DESCRIBED
 Through the Recital of Details the Accused Woman Remains Unmoved—Trial is On in Earnest.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—A dual murder was committed near here yesterday. Three miles north of DeWaver, this county, near the little postoffice of Hockney, Robert Wilking, a prosperous farmer, lived with his wife and child.

All day Sunday Wilking remained around home and much of the time was put in drinking hard cider. By evening he was ready for any kind of trouble. His little son came into the house and was seated by the mother, who beat him terribly with a board. The wife and mother protested at such treatment and Wilking threatened to kill her if she did not go away and keep quiet. With a rush the mother caught her little one in her arms and started for the home of her father, Jacob Stokes, who lived a short distance down the road. Wilking caught up a gun and followed the fleeing woman, shooting after her as she ran.

Mr. and Mrs. Stokes heard the noise and came out to the front porch to see what the trouble was. Wilking saw them, pointing the gun at them. The charge struck Mr. Stokes in the side of the head and he staggered to the side of the porch. Mrs. Stokes was shot in the face and her nose and ears were shot off. Stokes managed to stagger through the door, closed and lock it. Wilking then shot the lock off and rushed into the house, screaming like a madman. He was met by the 18-year-old son of Stokes and aimed his gun at the law with murderous intent. Young Stokes escaped a gun from another room and fired the charge into Wilking's head, killing him.

When the man lay dead on the floor young Stokes came to town and offered to give himself up. Rescuers went to the house and the injured were cared for. Young Stokes has not been arrested. The elder Mr. Stokes will die before morning and Mrs. Stokes is in a dangerous condition.

DEATH RECORD.
 Judge J. Willard Babbitt
 Judge J. Willard Babbitt, who will be remembered by the older residents of Omaha as the lawyer who defended C. O. Post when both were struggling young lawyers, died last Friday afternoon at his home in Ypsilanti, Mich., after an illness of but a few hours. He was known as one of the most able lawyers in his section of the state.

When Miss Minns was called by Judge Babbitt about 10 o'clock and was awakened by sounds in the room over her own. She heard voices, pistol shots and something falling. She had gotten up, lighted the gas and looked at her watch. She then noted the shadow of a person passing. The shadow, she said, was thrown upon the wall of her apartment. The next morning Miss Woluoms left and did not return until Thursday night.

Shadow Interested Mrs. Bonine.
 She then expressed a fear of going to her room, whereupon Mrs. Bonine volunteered to go with her. After they arrived there Mrs. Bonine asked her about the shadow and asked her to explain to her how the shadow had appeared. When Mrs. Bonine replied that she could not properly show her how it was with the gas burning Mrs. Bonine suggested that the gas be turned out, and when Miss Woluoms replied that she was afraid to be in the dark Mrs. Bonine replied that she was not. The witness said that Mrs. Bonine's manner was at that time composed.

On cross-examination Miss Woluoms said that Mrs. Bonine had volunteered to go to her room with her and that she did not see Mrs. Bonine had first advanced to the appearance of the shadow on the wall.

Miss Woluoms testified that Mrs. Bonine generally got up and superintended the weekly dances at the Kenmore hotel, but that she declined to superintend the examination as to how Mrs. Bonine had descended herself toward Ayres at the dances. Mrs. Bonine, the witness said, always participated in the dances and frequently invited people to dance, devoting herself to securing partners for the participants.
