chamber was the scene of a highly dramatic episode today, when Senator Tillman of South Carolina challenged his colleague, Senator McLaurin, to resign with him on the spot, in order, to use his own language, that they might be able "to wash their dirty lines at home."

Mr. McLaurin did not take up the challenge. The incident today was the direct sequel of the very buter centroversy which arose between the sensiors in South Carolina last spring.

Mr. McLaurin arose to a question of personal privilege today and proceeded to explain that the charge was a conspiracy to views which did not meet the approval of certain democratic leaders. He declared that he was being humiliated and, according to public prints, was to be excluded from the democratic caucus because he had acted upon certain public issues in a way considered was for the best interests of the country and the people of his state.

Tittman's Bold Chailenge.

He announced himself a believer in the old democracy and after denouncing the new democracy leaders, who, he said, had brought destruction upon the party, declared that ne could not be driven from his old allegiance into a party with which he did not care to affiliate.

Senator Jones, chairman of the democratic national committee, denied that he had any "ulterior motives" in not inviting Mr. McLaurin to enter the caucus. Mr. Tillman reviewed the whole con-

Mr. Hoar took occasion to express the opinion that it was very doubtful whether both the South Carolina seats in the senate were not in reality vacant. He contended that when the resignations were offered last spring to the governor they could not be withdrawn thereafter, having become immediately operative.

The climax came when Senator Tillman dlenged Mr. McLaurin to toin with him handing them to the presiding officer of the senate. This challenge Mr. McLaurin did not accept and the episode was brought to an abrupt close by Senator Lodge moving an executive session.

The only notice he had, he said, that he was to be excluded from the democratic ment of the senate, when the chairman of cloakroom asked him why he no longer attended the democratic caucuses. Attorney General F. N. Prout of Nebraska appeared before the supreme court today and filed a stipulation and named Alfred Hartzel of Beatrice and John W. Hollinburton of Missouri as commissioners to take testimony in the boundary case of the State of Missouri against the State of Nebraska, The nomination of Richard Pearson of North Carolina, which went to the senate today, to be consul at Genoa, Italy, somewhat disconcerted the Iowa delegation to congress, as they had hoped to be able to secure the place for another Iowan. James Fletcher, former consul to Genoa, and who died recently at his post, was a resident of Waverly, Ia. The Iowa delegation, believing they could hold the appointment, selected Major S. M. H. Byers of Des Moines as Fletcher's successor. Secretary Hay. however, desired to take care of ex-Congressman Pearson, and as an opening in the way of the Genoa consulship presented, the secretary of state selected Pearson for the place. E. A. Tucker of Humboldt is on his way to Washington to help Senators Dietrich and Millard and Congressman Burkett secure judicial appointment for himself. Judge Tucker's papers are on file with Attorney General Knox, who has agreed to look them over carefully, and said he bedicial position. He may possibly be sent

Rural free delivery routes are to be established at Palmyra, Unadilla, Ramsud and Syracuse, in Congressman Burkett's district. It is Mr Burkett's intention to introduce a bill providing for an addition to the present Lincoln postoffice, which is totally inadequate for its present usage, and has asked Supervising Architect Taylor to prepare estimates for a building commensurate with the needs of Lincoln. It is thought Mr. Taylor will recommend a bill for $250,000. Senator Dietrich has recommended Miss Ida Coats as postmistress at Stockham, Neb., to succeed her father.

Senator Gamble had a long conference with General Superintendent Machen of the rural free delivery service, looking to the General Knox was submitted, but went over detail of a special agent or securing such an agent for South Dakota. Seventy routes have been petitioned for in the state, but the department has been unable to report on these routes, owing to lack of capable men to send into the field. The senior senator from South Dakota also urged upon Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger the importance of establishing a star route between Platte and Wheeler, Charles Mix county. The people are clamoring for mail service con-
