Protest by Compers.

A motion to have the list printed in the minutes brought President Gompers, who was not in the chair at the time, to his feet and delegates were treated to a threeminute passionate speech. He said it was unfair to incorporate the list in the minutes in that way and suggested that a list of the trade union victories should be printed along with them. He concluded by denouncing the "attempt to show that ized it as an outrage.

Debate Colored Question. The negro question came up when the committee on law reported a resolution Barnett in the city of St. Louis. compelling all local unions affiliated with the federation to join the central labor bodies in their respective localities. William Henry Clay, one of the two colored delegates from Virginia, made the point that the federation last week in deciding a contested seat where the color line was brought into question, had authorized the creation of a separate central union in Richmond for colored workmen.

The resolution was debated for more than an hour by many delegates. Charles C. Eckard of the Anniston, Ala., trades council made the principal speech in opposition to the report. He said the proposition would compel white unions to take in negroes and if adopted by the convention 90 per cent of the unions south of the Mason and Dixon line would secede from the federation. He declared the people of the north did not understand the negro problem. His remarks had some influence on the delegates and the resolution on recommendation of the committee on law was defeated.

To Unionize Common Laborers.

Two resolutions were reported on the question of organizing the common laborers into large unions and both were recomwith instructions for that body to take up the matter and report at the next conven-

Gibbons of international unions upless they join the American Federation of Labor. The measure was particularly aimed at the San Francisco building trades, which is at odds with the Central Labor union of that city. The committee on law recommended that such a step would be unwise, and the convention adopted the resolution. Object to Judge Baker.

It was decided that hereafter the annual convention shall be held on the second Thursday of November each year.

J. H. Bowman of Chicago presented resolution instructing the president of the Federation to protest against the confirmation by the United States senate of the appointment of Frank E. Baker as United States circuit court judge in Indiana. The reason for the protest is that Baker is a son of Judge John H. Baker of Indian apolis, who had granted injunctions against union workmen. Among the resolutions that were adopted were these:

That legislatures be petitioned to enact law to compet the constructors of ma-hinery to cover all dangerous parts in

He argued that KANSAS CITY, Dec. 12 .- Orders were rethis must inevitably limit and prescribe ceived at the Argentine smelter today to the power of the United States to control close down all the remaining departments as under consideration. United States Amply Protected.

He considered that all rights of the United States were amply protected under this treaty and that our control is absolute and complete and could not be questioned bady badly bruised. She is unconscious and by Great Britain or other power. Mr. Foraker's speech dealt with the general effect of the treaty. He said that after careful study of its provisions he was firmly convinced that it could be honestly supported by every patriotic citizen.

Senator Foraker was frequently interrupted by Senator Bacon. In the course of one of these interruptions Mr. Bacon asked if it was not true that under the terms of the treaty the construction of fortifications by the United States would not be an act of war. Mr. Foraker replied in the negative, saying that that would not only not be an act of hostility, but to build fortifications in case of necessity was one of the inherent rights of the government. To this Mr. Bacon responded that he, for one, would never bring himself to vote for the ratification of the treaty with the understanding that his government was to violate it.

All Jenious of Honor. Mr. Foraker retorted sharply to the effect that his friend from Georgia could be no more virtuous along the line of maintaining the country's honor in the matter of keep ing its agreements with other nations than

Considered as One Series.

Replying to this inquiry Mr. Spooner said that it was a well known principle of international law that all treaties, like all statutes, must be read together, and be contended in this connection that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, the original Hay-Pauncefote treaty and the pending treaty for the proper construction of the agreement should e considered as one series.

The Clayton-Bulwer agreement had provided that there should be no fortifications of the canal and the Hay-Pauncefote treaty of the Fifty-sixth congress had carried a similar provision, but the new treaty struck out the entire fortifications provision, clearly showing that England, after called are those of the Howards, on which contending for half a century against fortifications, had waived that provision, thus practically conceding our right to fortify the proposed canal. Questions were asked by Senatora Tillman and Bailey concerning the right of the United States to blockade the canal and in reply Senator Spooner inslated that the government of the United States could not be bound by any treaty agreement which would prevent this country's defending its PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 12.-Pennsylvania own property, in its own way, in time of
