

RUSH FOR LAND CLAIMS

Many Anxious Farmers Seek to Perfect Their Titles.

BURLINGTON ACRES AGAIN PUBLIC DOMAIN

In Most Instances the Lands Are Already Occupied by Purchasers from Railway, and Few Are Disputed.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, Dec. 16.—(Special Telegram.)—The restoration of Burlington railroad lands in Saline, Greeley, Otoe, Cass and Lancaster counties today brought many anxious farmers to the United States land office in this city. Record was made of the claims as fast as presented and J. W. Johnson, register of the office, will begin the consideration of contested cases within a few days.

Today was set by the government as the time for the return to the public domain of several thousand acres of land once regarded as part of the B. & M. railway grant, which by recent adjustment has been determined government land again. These tracts are in Saline, Greeley, Otoe, Cass and Lancaster counties. People claiming priority to the lands were obliged to present their claims of entry today. Later a hearing will be had on the proofs offered and when Mr. Johnson is satisfied with the representations made and the testimony of possible challengers he will forward his recommendations to the land department for final record.

As the Burlington originally received pay for the tracts purchased, it is standing the expense of this latest action to perfect titles, in order to keep good the warranty deeds it furnished.

Nephew Contest Uncle's Claims.

One contest of interest that will be given early consideration is between Charles R. Motter and his nephew, Robert Vall, over an eighty-acre farm in Cass county.

Mr. Motter is a man of many years and a veteran of the civil war. He says in his affidavit that he rented his farm to his nephew because he himself was too weak to till the soil longer. Now the nephew desires to claim the place because of his residence thereon for several years. His says he was not a tenant, but claims it as a squatter.

In most instances the lands are already occupied by purchasers from the Burlington and in such cases where there is no dispute as to possession or ownership the present occupants are nothing to do but pay to the government the $2.50 per acre after proving satisfactorily to the local land office and occupants of the land.

Nebraska National Guard.

Adjutant General Colby today issued a list of orders affecting various officers of the Nebraska National Guard. The resignation of First Lieutenant William I. Stroud of Company I, First regiment, is accepted and an election to fill the vacancy is ordered to take place at the first regular meeting of the company. The resignation of Second Lieutenant Victor H. Holmes of Company D, First regiment, is also accepted and an election to fill the vacancy is ordered for December 28. Another resignation received is that of Second Lieutenant William B. Green of Company H, First regiment, and an election to fill the vacancy thus caused will be held at the first regular meeting of the company.

The recent election of Earl C. Leach as captain and Nelson H. Barber as first lieutenant of Company B, First regiment, is approved. The former will take rank from November 13 and the latter from December 6.

Sergeant Lewis G. Kramer of Company B, First regiment, having been elected first lieutenant of that company, is discharged to accept promotion. His election as lieutenant is approved and he will take rank from December 6.

Salary of H. E. Lee Herdman.

The litigation by which Robert E. Lee Herdman is attempting to obtain the salary for services as supreme court reporter, which he waived during the legislature as an inducement for the defeat of certain objectionable bills affecting the fees of the office, has been brought to the supreme court and briefs on both sides of the state were filed today. Auditor Weston refused to pay the salary claim on the ground that no appropriation for the services was made by the legislature. The decision in the lower court was adverse to the state. Deputy Attorney General Brown sums up the argument as follows: "Our contention is that the court erred in overruling the demurrer, for the reason that the state auditor is without authority to issue his warrants for the clerk's salary in the absence of a specific appropriation therefor by the legislature. We do not question the wisdom of the rule of this court heretofore announced, that an appropriation by the legislature is not necessary to pay salaries of officers created by the constitution, provided the salary is fixed and determined by the constitution. It must be conceded that an appropriation by the legislature or constitution is not necessary to authorize the issuance of a warrant, but we contend there is no appropriation by the constitution for the payment of the salary of the clerk of the court."

Cattle Stealing Case. Insufficiency of evidence and error in the instruction that the jury might consider the relationship of any witness to the defendant are the reasons assigned in a plea for the reversal of the judgment given in the case of George Van Buren, who was convicted of stealing cattle and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary. A motion for a new trial was denied in the district court and the case has been appealed to the supreme court. The man was convicted largely through the identification of brand. In the brief of the state, filed in the supreme court today, it is argued that the rule is elementary that any fact or circumstance tending to show interest of any witness in either the subject matter or in the parties to an action may be proved, and that once shown, certainly the jury may consider it in weighing the testimony of the witness. The relationship of one or two witnesses to the defendant in this case was established without objection.

Charge of Murdering Gillilan. The preliminary trial of C. E. Heywood on the charge of murdering John J. Gillilan was begun today in police court before Judge Comstock. The defendant pleaded not guilty and several witnesses were called by the state. William Johnson of Hayesville testified that Heywood purchased a .32-caliber revolver at his store a few days before the tragedy and William Pulgrost, bartender at the Capitol hotel, testified that Heywood was in the hotel saloon between 4 and 8 o'clock on the night Gillilan was shot. F. W. Hill gave the most important testimony, it is believed, when he answers the general appearance of one of the men he saw running away from the scene of the murder. The defense will attempt to prove an alibi.

Nebraska State Teachers. For the information of teachers and others who wish to attend the forthcoming meeting of the Nebraska State Teachers' association Superintendent Fowler publishes the following rate bulletin which was received today from the Western Passenger association: "Rate of one fare for the round trip from points in Nebraska and the Black Hills district of South Dakota; excursion tickets to be sold from points in the territory mentioned from which the local one way rate to Lincoln is more than $3 on December 30, 31 and January 1, and from points within the radius mentioned on December 31 and January 1, good to return until and including January 4, 1902. Tickets limited for going passage commencing date of sale and for continuous passage in each direction."

Charities and Corrections. A special committee of the State Board of Charities and Corrections met this afternoon to discuss a change in the rules governing the Home for the Friendless, by which crippled children may be admitted to the institution under the same terms as those who are sound in body. The superintendent and the visiting and advisory board of the home have decreed that crippled children should be cared for and the State Board of Public Lands and Buildings will be asked to do away with this restriction. The charities and corrections committee will meet again Wednesday, at which time some definite action will be taken. Those who attended the meeting were: A. W. Clark, Omaha; J. W. Seabrook, University Place, and Mrs. E. C. Johnston, Lincoln.

Appoints Dr. Young Pathologist. Acting under authority granted by the State Board of Public Lands and Buildings, Governor Savage this afternoon appointed Dr. G. Alexander Young to the position of pathologist at the Lincoln Hospital for the Insane. Dr. Young was appointed assistant physician at Norfolk for former Governor Dietrich and remained there until relieved at the time of the removal of the Norfolk patients. The increase in the number of patients in the Lincoln hospital made it necessary to increase the medical corps.

New Incorporations. Secretary of State Marsh today legalized the following corporations: The James Morton & Sons company of Omaha; capital stock, $60,000; incorporators, James Morton, Charles W. Morton and Mary E. Morton; for general dealing in hardware. The Great Manufacturing company of Omaha; capital stock, $100,000; incorporators, J. E. Orrutt, S. G. Smith and A. W. Paul; for the manufacture and sale of advertising novelties. The David Talbot Ice company of Omaha; capital stock, $15,000; incorporators, David Talbot, Edgar W. Lamoreaux; for dealing in ice and hardware.

Missouri Against Nebraska. Attorney General Prout has returned from Washington, where he appeared before the United States supreme court and asked that commissioners be appointed to take evidence in the suit of Missouri against Nebraska. The controversy arises over several acres of land cut off from Nebraska a number of years ago by a sudden freak of the Missouri river. The land and its citizens are still considered Nebraska's, taxes being paid in Nemaha county. If the change was the result of gradual accretion Missouri is doubtless right in her claim, but Nebraska urges that the change was the work of a single night. Alfred Hazlett of Beatrice is the commissioner appointed for Nebraska.

Dedicate Baptist Church. Handsome Edifice at Hastings Consecrated by Rev. Dr. Rowland of Lincoln. HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—The handsome new $12,000 Baptist church of Hastings was dedicated yesterday. Myron W. Haynes of Chicago was to deliver the address, but on account of sickness he failed to come and Rev. Dr. Rowland of Lincoln delivered the dedicating address in his place. Deacon Bennett of Lincoln had charge of the financial part of the proceedings. There were three services. In the morning Dr. Rowland delivered the address and in the afternoon and evening the resident ministers of the various churches assisted. All but $2,000 of the entire amount had been subscribed for the new church, but this balance was subscribed for before the closing of the services last night. The new church is of brick and has a seating capacity of 750. L. L. Lloyd is the present pastor.

Weyer of the Presbyterian church, in the presence of a few intimate friends. Their wedding was somewhat of a surprise to their many acquaintances. Mr. Coddington has been deputy county treasurer for eight years and was elected county treasurer in November. The bride is a daughter of Adam Baxter, and was step-daughter in the county treasurer's office three years.

LABOR AND CAPITAL MEET

Leading Representatives of Two Factions Discuss Industrial Questions.

SCHWAB OPPOSES AND HANNA ENDORSES

Former Declares Principle of Limiting Production Will Fail as Trusts Fail and Suggests Different Methods.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—Brought together through the good offices of the National Civic Federation, leading representatives of labor and capital met here today to discuss plans to minimize wage and industrial disputes. Aiding them with counsel were several prominent students of economics and leading figures in the religious world and the opening session was notable for a number of striking expressions and comments upon the problem faced by the conferees. The storm in eastern Pennsylvania prevented Samuel Gompers, John Michael and other leading members of the American Federation of Labor from reaching New York in time for the meeting today, but they will participate in the session tomorrow.

Oscar Strauss, former minister to Turkey, who acted as chairman, announced that he was planned to form a general executive committee, with representation divided among labor, capital and the general public and that it was hoped that it would become a tribunal of peace, where the conflicting interests might meet on even footing and settle their differences in a spirit of conciliation and mutual tolerance.

Prominent Men Attend.

Senator M. A. Hanna, Charles M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel corporation; Archbishop Ireland, Bishop John J. Conboy, R. C. Calloway, secretary of the American Locomotive works; E. D. Durand, secretary of the Industrial commission; Theodore Marburg of Baltimore, W. H. Pfister of Philadelphia, R. C. Kerns of St. Louis, R. M. East of the National Federation, John Phillips of the National Hat and Cap Manufacturers' association, James Ryan of the International Typographical union and Marcus Marks, president of the National Clothing Makers' association, were among the men who attended the opening meeting.

Senator M. A. Hanna, who was opposed to labor unions as they were now constituted and said that they must fail as the trusts had failed for seeking to limit the output and control prices. He said:

"I am here with a mind open to conviction, anxious to see the best of the situation as Bishop Potter has said, and ready to do that which is fair. It may be that this is a selfish motive, but I really believe upon the peaceful adjustment of the difficulties that exist between labor and capital depends the future prosperity of the United States. The decadence of trade in other countries is due to the selfishness of the trusts. I do not deny that capital has been arbitrary and unfair, I am not opposed to labor unions per se, but against them as they are now constituted."

Schwab Calls Unions Trusts.

Labor unions will not succeed, as the trusts have not succeeded, on the principle of limiting production. Conciliation for economic sake, fair wages, purchasing in the cheapest market and settling in the fairest way, are the trade principles that will stand. The labor unions have become trusts. After all the fortunes of the world are in the hands of the employer and the employed are linked together, they are the same and the two interests should stand together. I am willing to come here and give any practical ideas that I can and I hope that this conference will come to some good."

Senator Hanna expressed strong approval of the principle of organized labor, and his speech drew applause from John Phillips and John J. Donnelly, two of the labor delegates present, who confessed that they had held erroneous and unjust views as to the attitude of the senator toward organized labor.

Hanna Endorses the Principle.

Senator Hanna related an experience he had with coal miners in Ohio many years ago, and said that the experience had made him an advocate of unionism. "I saw them," he said "and I believe now that labor and capital could be brought together. I believe that if we stand for their peace and I am willing to give the best that is in me to bring labor and capital together. A settlement of the question will do more for good government, good morals, good social relations than anything that we could accomplish. To the end of all this I freely give whatever service I can render to this association."

Bishop Potter asserted that the restoration of human interest to the relation of labor and capital, the establishment of contract between the two, bringing them so close that they might see each other's position would go far toward settling the difference between them. He said that ideas and practical work were needed to bring the result which both desired.

Archbishop Ireland said that all Europe looked to the United States to heal the breach between the two great interests. As a minister of religion, as a member of a church whose pontiff had declared that the most important duty of the church was to maintain peace between labor and capital, he was present to do his duty in a movement that made for peace and harmony and brotherhood.

He believed, he said, that the realization of what Americans owed to each other as men and children of God was needed to bring those opposed together. He approved the idea of creating some channel for an exchange of ideas and the mutual flow of the feeling of brotherhood.

John Phillips and John J. Donnelly, the latter of the New York Bricklayers' union, recorded their approval of the principle of arbitration and conciliation and asserted that for years the hatmakers and bricklayers in New York had maintained satisfactory relations with the men who employed them.

BANK REFUSES TO HONOR THEM

Stranger Passes Checks on Plattsmouth Merchants Which They Are Unable to Cash.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Dec. 16.—(Special.)—A stranger entered the general merchandise store of C. D. Long in this city and after purchasing 75 cents worth of merchandise gave Mr. Long a check on the Bank of Cass County for $10, which was signed "A. W. Willis." The check was accepted and $9.75 in cash returned to the stranger. The next day when the check was presented to the bank Mr. Long was informed that no one by that name was known there.

When Mr. Long accepted the check he supposed it was signed by A. S. Will, a wealthy farmer residing near Louisville, in this county.

At the clothing store of C. E. Westcott the stranger bought a pair of mitts for 50 cents and was given $5.00 for a check of the same kind. He tried to pass one on John R. Cox, the hardware man, for a box of shells for a shotgun, but Mr. Cox refused to accept the check. He also attempted to pass a check of the same kind at the drug store of A. W. Atwood and several of the other merchants, but was unsuccessful.

The matter was at once reported to John D. McBride, deputy sheriff, who has learned that the same party succeeded in raising $50 from parties in Red Oak, Ia., on the $10 check deal on the Thursday evening before coming to Plattsmouth, where he operated Friday evening after the banks closed. It is also learned that he was in Council Bluffs Saturday evening. About three weeks ago, in company with another person, he was successful in working the check racket on the business men in Hastings, and in each place he used the name of some wealthy prominent person as signers of the checks.

MARCONI MEETS TROUBLE

Inventor Served with Papers by Anglo-American Cable Company.

LATTER CLAIMS EXCLUSIVE MONOPOLY

Reported Established Between Steamers at Sea and Inter-course is Carried On.

ST. JOHNS, N. F., Dec. 16.—Marconi has just returned here from Cape Spear, where he experienced poor luck. The weather was rendered extremely unpleasant by fog, wind and a rainstorm, and the inventor was unable to decide on a site for his proposed station. He could not see the surrounding region and a general view of the physical features of the country in the vicinity is necessary before fixing on a site. Mr. Marconi wishes to prevent the presence of a high hill behind the station. Hills in the background are detrimental to the system if they are in the line of transmission, as they weaken the signals by causing a rebound.

On returning here from Cape Spear Marconi was served with legal documents from the solicitors of the Anglo-American cable company. These notify him that the said company possesses an exclusive monopoly of the telegraphic business with Newfoundland and its dependencies, and demands that he cease his experiments and remove his apparatus forthwith, otherwise the company will apply to the supreme court for an injunction restraining him from further trials. Marconi has not decided what course of action he will take in the matter. But he regards this action on the part of the Anglo-American cable company as the best proof of the importance of his new discovery.

Eturia and Umbria Talk.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—The steamer Eturia, which has just arrived here, was in communication for more than five hours with the steamer ship, Umbria, Long before either ship sighted the other. Their commanders were conversing by the Marconi wireless system. The position of each ship was known on the other hours before their main trucks showed above the horizon. Eturia left Liverpool on December 7, the same day Umbria steamed out of New York. They were 1,500 miles east-northeast of Sandy Hook when they passed each other last Wednesday, or in latitude 45.17 and longitude 51.07. Five hours before that, or when they were fully 100 miles apart, the receiver on Eturia began to tick warningly. The operator replied, and then the word "Umbria" was slowly spelled out on Eturia's instrument. Then followed Umbria's location. Eturia replied, giving its location, which showed it to be fully 100 miles away from the other vessel. Umbria sent its number of passengers, the fact that all was well and the latest news from New York. Eturia sent word of the burning of the great Liverpool exchange quadrangle, which occurred on December 6, while Eturia was lying in the Mersey.

Experiments Are All Over.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—A cable dispatch has been received here from St. Johns, N. F., announcing that Signor Marconi will sail for England December 19.

At the headquarters here of the inventor of wireless telegraphy it was said today by the officials in charge that the experiments at St. Johns, so far as they know, are all over. They do not expect to hear any further details until Signor Marconi arrives in London. It was said that storms on both sides of the Atlantic seriously interfered with the work, which the officials asserted, would have been much more satisfactory under normal weather conditions, the Poldhu, Cornwall station having been seriously damaged by high winds.

The officials at Poldhu refuse to confirm or deny the truth of the reports from St. Johns that messages had been received there from Cornwall by wireless telegraphy. They profess complete ignorance of the success or failure of the experiments.

Owing to fog and rain Marconi was unable to send his kite in mid-air today. He therefore went to Cape Spear to determine on the fitness of that station for the wireless telegraph station. Marconi will inaugurate the New Year by sending a special message over the Atlantic if the steamer on which he is to sail from New York reaches England in time. He will go direct to Cornwall and take charge of matters there.

By mid-summer Marconi will have a fully equipped station here for sending and receiving messages between America and England and another station on the Massachusetts coast.
