SINKING FUND ENLIVENS LAST MEETING

Majority Votes to Wipe Out Entire Deficit-Effort to Secure Penalties from Druggists, and Others.

The old Board of Education held its final meeting last night. After a brief adfourned session, which will be held Friday aftergoon to approve of the teachers' payroll for December, the old board will go into history and Members Black, Christie, Hayward and Nicholson will have completed their term. Members Cermak, Homan, Andreesen and McIntosh will take the places of the four retiring members when the board reorganizes next year. Before the close of the meeting last night a photograph was taken of the board. All the members were present with the exception of Levy, Nicholson, Black and Christie.

An animated discussion concerning the condition of the sinking fund was the feature of the meeting. Secretary Burgess read a statement of the board's finances. in which he insisted showed that the amount which must be placed in the sinking fund January 1, 1982, is only $27,567.99. He stated that this would wipe out all deficit. Chairman Funkhouser of the finance committee advised that the treasurer be instructed to make up the deficit the first of the year. Several members insisted that not more than $20,000 should be placed in the sinking fund at this time, but a majority of the members voted to wipe out the entire amount. The secretary was also authorized to draw warrants in the sum of $20,471 for the payment of semiannual interest on the bonded indebtedness of $875,000. The treasurer was authorized to pay a balance of $6,500 on the site of the Pacific school.

A financial statement furnished by Secretary Burgess showed that $522,650 was apportioned to the various departments of school work for the year 1901. Of this sum $368,721.52 was expended during the first eleven months of the year and a balance next Monday afternoon, of $153,928.48 still remains. Mr. Burgess' ing schools for the first eleven months of this year was $368,721.52, as against $371. 895.78 for the corresponding period of last Entertainment for Class Day.

The senior class of the High school asked the use of the new High school building for an entertainment to be given the night before the building is to be opened. The purpose of the entertainment is to raise funds for class day exercises and to purchase status for the High school. The communication was referred to the committee or buildings and property.

An application for teacher of cookers was received from Clara M. Wasweyler of Milwaukee, Wis. Bids on school desks were received from five factories. The prices ranged from $1.75 to $2.70 per deek in car lots. Upon the recommendation of the committee on boundaries, the resolution of Robert Smith providing for ninth grades in various ward schools was placed on file. The president and secretary were authorized to sign a waiver for damages in the matter of grading the alley in the rear of Omaha View school.

The board was invited to attend a Christmas party to be held at Saunders school by the kindergarten of that school, December 20.

Less Smoking at High School.

Howard B. Smith requested the board to take action to reduce the volume of smoke issuing from the chimney at the High school. The matter was referred to the committee on buildings and property, which was instructed to get bids on automatic stokers to be used at the High school. A complaint of Miss Mary A. Reid, prin-

Market house locations will not be considered by the city council until December This was the decision at which the councilmen arrived yesterday afternoon as their meeting as a general committee. Harry Fisher addressed the councilmen oncerning the market house proposition, and said that the grocers and commission men would oppose any plan which proposes to locate a market away from the present location of the commission houses. He said that the grocers do not favor the scheme to have one market house in the north end and another in the south end of the city. Representatives of the National Roofing mpany appeared before the councilmen and asked to have an alley condemned between Eleventh and Twelfth streets just north of Nicholas street. The plant of the company has been deprived of trackage, as a result of an injunction B. S. Allison secured against the Omaha Bridge and Terminal company. The company desires an alley along which a switch may be laid to accommodate its factory. The councilmen refused to consider the request for the alley, but expressed a willingness to allow a railway track to be laid along the west side of Eleventh street to accommodate the factory. An ordinance granting the right to make such use of a portion of Eleventh street will be prepared and introduced in the council tonight.

The ordinance recently drafted which requires all barbers to sterilize their cups and razors and prevents the use of soiled towels was discussed briefly. The councilmen agreed to allow the barbers a hearing on the ordinance at the committee meeting

Ministerial Union Gives Thom Renewal of Encouragement.

MRS. BYERS TO APPEAL THROUGH PULPITS

One Possibility is a United Edifice for Both the Young Women's and the Young Men's Christian Associations,

Those women in whose philanthropic minds is cherished a project for a woman's building in Omaha found what they consider substantial encouragement in the cordiality with which the Ministerial union received them yesterday.

The women have been secretly discussing plans for some time, and yesterday sent a delegation, composed of Mrs. George Tilden, Mrs. W. P. Harford and Mrs. Emma F. Byers, to the meeting of the clergymen. Their mission, however, was only to ask the privilege of laving before the congregations the work and needs of the Young Woman's Christian association and the matter of the building was brought up by the ministers themselves, without hint or suggestion from the women. Rev. Hering of the First Congregational church launched it by remarking that the time had come for Omaha seriously to consider constructing what should be distinctly a women's headquarters, and Rev. Trefz followed with a plydge that he had $100 of his own ready for the Young Woman's Christian association any day it should begin the erection of such a place. Others made remarks equally encouraging, one expressing confidence in his congregation's willingness to contribute at least $500.

Woman's Circuit of Pulpits.

Reverting to the original mission of the callers, the union adopted a resolution to allow the representatives to address their several congregations during the winter. The plan is for Mrs. Byers, the general secretary, to occupy the pulpit of each church one Sunday evening or morning and show what the association has done and is doing; other women of the committee to pass through the audience afterward and distribute subscription blanks and furnish any additional information that may be desired.

It is said that Mrs. Byers will lay particular stress on the facts that the association has made but few demands on the public before and that it has grown to such proportions that larger quarters are absolutely necessary. To substantiate the former claim she will show that while the association has spent $12,000 during the last year only $500 of that amount has been received in subscriptions. As evidence of the truth of the other claim she may tell that to Washington, where he accompanied W. 600 women are now lunching daily in the association rooms and that some special class work has had to be given up because of the United States Postoffice department.

The old lease of the association rooms, block at Sixteenth and Farnam streets, expired last October and the heads of the association decided to renew for only one tween. The partitioning was the work of the association, all apartments being in one when the place was rented.

The Omaha Water company yesterday filed with the city clerk its bill for the six months ending December 31. These bills division of the rural free delivery service are supposed to be payable on July 1 and January 1 of each year

According to the statement rendered the city has had the service of 202 hydrants at the rate of $60 a year, which for six months amounted to $6,060. In addition to these three intermediate hydrants have been placed at a rate of $10 per month, making the total bill for the six months $6,075.

The amount of the 1901 levy for water purposes was $11,443.17 and up to date over $10,000 has been drawn, so that there remains in the water fund less than $60. A city official said yesterday that order to meet the payment of this bill the city would have to go into court and confess judgment for the amount of the bill and permit the sum to be paid out of the judgment fund.
