

STATE SHORTAGE MADE GOOD

Bureau Company Pays Nebraska in J. N. Gaffin's Case.

STATE EMPLOYMENT BUREAU'S WORK

Department is Handicapped by Lack of Facilities—H. S. White of North Platte on Fair Commission.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Dec. 17.—(Special.)—The shortage of former Oil Inspector J. N. Gaffin was today made good by the payment of $12,000 to the state by the fidelity and deposit company of Baltimore. The settlement was brought about by the state board of compromise, of which the attorney general, state treasurer and state auditor are the members.

The failure of Mr. Gaffin to make a complete settlement with the state at the time he retired from office was discovered by Oil Inspector E. R. Sizer a few days after he assumed his duties and was promptly reported to the attorney general. The bonding company was notified and a representative was sent here to check over the records. The investigation proved that all money received by Gaffin had not been accounted for and an offer on a compromise basis was made to the state.

The state board of compromise was created by an act of the last legislature. The chief object of the law was to enable state officials to settle the balances due to the bondsmen of former Treasurer Bartley, but by its terms the board is authorized to settle other claims which are in dispute.

J. N. Gaffin was one of the organizers of the people's independent party and for a time acted as chairman of its state committee. He was appointed oil inspector by Governor Poynter to succeed J. H. Edmetson.

Few Seekers After Work

"No, we're not having many applications for employment these days," said R. A. Hodge, chief clerk in the state employment office today. "We have reasons to believe that there are a great many without work, but they do not communicate their condition to this department."

"An erroneous impression prevails among the unemployed that the crop damage was general all over the state for this season. There are some localities in this state where employment may be had for the winter. We have an application here from Dodge county for a man for steady, continuous employment, but know of no one to fill the position."

ashas, Agent Maules' furniture was removed, but was damaged. The citizens turned out in numbers and with buckets carried water to the fire, but owing to the strong north wind nothing could be done. It looked for a time as though the Brainerd high school and the Nye & Schneider elevator and lumber yard would catch on fire, but the wind changed enough to save them. The fire originated in the dwelling part at the north end of the building.

DIVORCE OF HON. G. A. MURPHY

By Mutual Arrangement He Gives His Wife Seven Thousand Dollars Alimony.

BEATRICE, Neb., Dec. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—A divorce was sprung today in the district court when S. Rinker, an attorney of this city, filed a petition for Mrs. Clara E. Murphy, wife of Hon. G. A. Murphy, for a divorce upon the ground of cruelty and the failure of the defendant to treat her as a husband and to support her, claiming that he frequently went on journeys without the formality of bidding her goodbye or telling her where he was going; that he had written her that their marriage was a mistake once when away from home and that he never could live with her as his husband any longer.

Mr. Murphy did not appear against his wife and the decree of divorce as prayed for in the petition was granted by Judge C. B. Letton.

Mr. and Mrs. Murphy were married at Fort Wayne, Ind., twenty years ago last June and are highly respected in this community, where they have lived for a number of years. Mr. Murphy has served as county attorney of this county, was elected to the state senate in 1895 on the republican ticket and was the running mate of Judge Hayward four years ago when he was elected for governor. Mr. Murphy accumulated quite a snug fortune, and by a mutual agreement Mrs. Murphy receives an alimony real estate in Jefferson and Gage counties valued at $7,000.

BANK BURGLAR ALARM SOUNDS

Waste Paper Thrown Against Wires Causes Excitement at Fremont.

FREMONT, Neb., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—A lively time occurred around 5 o'clock this morning. The burglar alarm went off, awakening John France, an employe of the American Express company, who sleeps in the office of the company, in the rear of the building. France saw that he had some one at the door and fired two shots, one of which came uncomfortably close to the ears of a boy who was delivering the morning papers. The boy at once called a policeman. The bank officials were summoned, and while some guarded the doors of the bank others with lanterns and revolvers went through the building without discovering anything out of the way.

When they reached the basement, "old John" Hasset was cleaning out the furnaces and he dropped the poker and called out, "What's the matter?" It was found that some waste paper had been thrown up against the wires, completing a circuit and setting off the alarm. Albert VanAnda, the boy who was delivering the papers, was hit in the mouth by a splinter of wood from the door and the bullet evidently passed within a foot or so of his head.

FARMERS' INSTITUTE CLOSES

Universal Interest Shown by All and Beneficial Result is Experienced.

BEAVER CITY, Neb., Dec. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—A two days' session of the Farmers' Institute closed here tonight. Governors and commissioners from other states in the Louisiana territory have also been invited to attend.

At this morning's session of the court the case of the state against George Van Buren, who was convicted in Cherry county of stealing cattle and sentenced to four years in the penitentiary, was argued and decided. Robert C. Clancey, private secretary to the governor, and Deputy State Treasurer Hilman will go to Norfolk tomorrow to sell the stock of the Hospital for the Insane in that city at public auction. Mr. Martin thought the story rather thin, so consulted Deputy Game Warden Simpson. Deputy Carter left for Genoa last night.

TIME TO DISCARD EARLAPS

This Day to Be Perceptibly Warmer in Omaha.

FIFTEEN ABOVE ZERO THE ESTIMATE

Wind Not Likely to Be Bothersome and Clouds to Be Invisible—Forecaster Rejoices with People.

By 3 or 4 o'clock p. m., today the temperature in Omaha will be perceptibly warmer. To go into details, it may be said that a season of higher temperature was predicted by Forecaster L. A. Welsh yesterday and that the conditions and changes since that time have been precisely those he anticipated in his cards. He had said that yesterday would be cold and it was. At 3 p. m., the mercury was at zero and it fell to below by 9 p. m.; then it took a turn in the other direction and reached 2 above at 4 o'clock, after which it began its regular night decline, going to 5 below at 9 p. m., when the last reading was made.

The readings made elsewhere at 7 p. m., meant to indicate the coldest weather then was in the upper Mississippi valley and the Missouri valley. It was 5 above zero at St. Louis and 2 below at St. Paul. Valentine reported 3 above; North Platte 16 above; Cheyenne 32 above; Denver 45 above; Kansas City 4 above; Davenport 12 below; Des Moines 2 above; Bismark 12 below and Huron 5 below.

The only snow falling at that hour was at Williston, N. D., but during the day there had been slight furies at St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Detroit and Rapid City.

Over this final termination of the Arctic season, which began early last Friday morning, Forecaster L. A. Welsh of the local bureau will be quite as rejoiced as will the public, for he has had little peace during the last few days, and particularly Monday evening. One cold snap trailing the other closely—the coldest weather—commission men and other shippers were at a loss to know what to do, and they kept the bureau's phone ringing continually. To make matters worse, a report was circulated Monday afternoon that the most violent blizzard in years was raging in western Nebraska—and this in general public took hand in the indignation. All sorts of questions were asked and by the time Mr. Welsh and his staff had answered them they were ready to dispute the last census report for the city of Omaha.

WYOMING WARMS UP AGAIN

Late Reports Fail to Confirm Rumors of Loss of Stock and Lives.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Dec. 17.—(Special Telegram.)—Today dawned bright and warm and reports from all sections of the state indicate that the storm is broken. During the day the snow melted and formed a crust which prevented its blowing into the railroad cuts, and unless more snow falls the railroads will experience no more trouble.

Reports of the condition of stock have been received from Douglas, Glen Rock, Casper, Guernsey, Rawlins, Laramie, Rock Springs and Green River and all tell the same story of no losses.

Late reports fail to confirm the rumors of loss of lives and it is probable no persons perished in the storm other than those at Cheyenne, Hanna, Rawlins and Point-of-Rocks.
