As the terms of office of Supervisors Hansen and Matthews close at this time. I desire on the part of the officers of this county to bear testimony to their worth and to give expression to the esteem in which we have held them.

The duties of their office have been trying and exacting; they have discharged those duties with great faithfulness and ability and have spared neither labor nor sacrifice in performing them.

They have brought to the public service not only first-class ability, but sound business judgment, and their services to this county have been invaluable.

They have always been courteous and agreeable, straightforward, fearless and honorable, and for all of these qualities were approved. A rough estimate of the cost of the bridge on stone abuttments placed it close to $10,000.
