ENGINEER AND FIREMAN ARE KILLED

Though Seven Cars Are Overthrown, Not a Single Passenger is Fatally Hurt - Locality is at Victor, lows.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Jan. 18 .- (Special.) -At 6:50 o'clock this morning at the town of Victor, which is on the line between Poweshick and lowa counties, about sixty miles east, occurred one of the strangest railroad accidents ever known in Iowa. It was the explosion of the boiler of one of the Rock Island's big locomotives while the train was at full speed, the killing of the engineer and fireman, overturning all but one of the coaches of the Denver limited train, but with no fatalities among the

The accident was caused by the explosion of the boiler of engine No. 1413, which was pulling the train westward at a teriffic rate of speed, but which had been brought into check for a few seconds while the train was passing through the town of Victor. The explosion awoke the slumbering village and farmers for miles around. Immediately hundreds of people rushed to the scene of the accident and discovered that Engineer W. Williams and his fireman. Wilbur Hoare, had been instantly killed, their bodies being horribly mangled, almost beyond recognition. It was at first feared that many in the train had been badly injured, as seven of the eight cars had been hurled from the track and over on Spurting Down the Grade.

Train No. 5 does not stop at Victor except to unload passengers from Chicago, or going east to take on passengers for points at which the limited stops east of the Mississippi river. This morning there was no one to leave the train at the station. The train was on time, and was making a speed of forty miles an hour until the station was in sight, when a slackening of speed was made, according to the rules of the company, for passing through. Three hundred feet east of the station begins a slight down grade, which extends almost a mile to Carnforth, where the Rock Island crosses Bear creek, and then the Northwestern branch running north to Belle Plaine and south to Muchicanock. Engineers have a habit of spurting down this grade for at least three-quarters of a mile, and the supposition is that Williams intended to let his big mogul take a few fast steps between Victor and Carnforth. He had just started on the grade when the explosion which killed both himself and his fireman and demolished the engine

Whether the explosion was the result of negligence on the part of the trusted employes may never be known, as the force of the ex-

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are a discovery of great value to the medical profession and the public. They are an unfailing specific in all cases of dyspepsia and ordered digestion.

Almost everybody's digestion is disorfered more or less, and the commonest thing they do for it is to take some one of the many so-called blood purifiers, which in many cases are merely strong cathartics. Cathartics irritate the sensitive linings of the stomach and bowels and often do more harm than good.

Purging is not what is needed. The thing to do is to put the food in condition to be readily digested and assimilated. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do this perfectly. They partly digest what is eaten and give the stomach just the help it needs. They stimulate the secretion and excretion of the digestive fluids and relieve the congested condition of the glands and membranes. They put the whole digestive system in condition to do its work. EXPLOSION WRECKS A TRAIN plaster so shattered every part of the engine that it is impossible to tell anything about the mechanism. The main section of the botter was hurled into the air and forward of the train for a distance of 200 feet along the right of way and imbedded in the frozen ground along the track. Other parts of the machinery and pleces of the tender were found scattered along the main track and the siding for an eighth of a mile. One thing peculiar in onnection with the explosion, which must have been terrific, is that the cowcatcher did not leave the track, but is still standing at the head of the train.

Seven Cars Leave the Track.

Every car in the train, and there were eight of them, left the track immediately the engine exploded, except the last car, a vestibuled sleeper. The train is vestibuled from end to end and is the pride of the Rock Island rolling stock. The wildest confusion reigned on the train when the cars jumped from the heavy steel rails and bang aroused the sleeping passengers. Occupants of eleeping car berths were hurled violently from their beds into the aisles of the car or across into the opposite berths. Men and women rushed frantically back and forth in their night clothing trying to find whether anyone was burt and rubbing their arms and limbs and noses to see whether they were hurt themselves. hundred or more men from Victor who had rushed down to the scene of the accident to render any assistance possible found that no one needed help. Two or three women were found wrapping handkerchiefs about their heads, but the wounds were trivial. There was not a passenger on the train in any way seriously injured. Train No. 5, wrecked at Victor this morning was in charge of Conductor Fox of Davenport, who would have taken the train through to Omaha.

Dyspepsia Cure

Starvation seems a strange remedy for any disease. Yet starvation by rigorous diet was once generally resorted to in cases of indigestion or other stomach trouble. Even yet it is sometimes tried. Such a remedy is worse than useless. Every day of life consumes a portion of the tissues of the human body. The food we eat serves to repair this waste and you can't build up the system by withholding material for the purpose. If the stomach is in such condi-tion that it cannot furnish it the task must be performed without the stomach's assistance. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only preparation which accomplishes this. There are others which act on certain kinds of are others which act on certain kinds of food, but Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only one which digests them all as the stomach digests them. Man is so constituted that he needs a variety of food and to reduce this variety always produces bad results.

tion is due to lack of some of the elements which constitute the natural digestive juices, usually to the absence of hydrochloric acid from the stomach. It is by the action of these juices that food is reduced to a form in which it can be transformed into living tissue. With any of them lacking it is easy to see that the process of digestion cannot be perfectly performed.

With the single exception of Kodol Dyspensia Cure all preparations for the relief of pepsia Cure all preparations for the relief of indigestion lack certain of these elements. Consequently they cannot digest all classes of food. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure contains them all. It will digest anything that the healthy stomach can digest. It is nature's own cure.

Don't resort to stimulating tonics. drugs simply urge the already overworked stomach to renewed exertions. It is like spurring a tired horse. For a moment he responds. Then outraged nature reasserts itself and he falls in a heap. Sedatives are equally ineffective. At first they deaden pain but afterward comes the reaction and keener suffering than before.

What the stomach needs is rest. To obtain it a substitute must be found for the natural digestive juices. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is the only substitute which accomplishes nature's results by nature's own methods. It gives the stomach perfect rest oy digesting what you eat. No dieting is necessary. Eat all the good food you want, build up the system and at the same time relieve the stomach from all responsibility.
The rest will restore it to its natural condition and soon effect a complete cure. This is the only rational and common sense rethod of aiding nature.

No dieting is necessary.
