Meads of County Departments Argue Against Retrenchment.

SHERIFF INSISTS ON ASSISTANT JAILER

Superintendent of Poor Farm Objects to Making One Man Parmer and Undertaker-County Attorney Demands Messenger.

The Board of County Commissioners changed its plans yesterday and heard the heads of departments in their plea for immunity from the axe a day earlier than had been expected. The hearing was private, which was another feature that the is heavy, will do inestimable good. public did not expect and which was at Hofeldt's suggestion. The special hearing of the heads of descheduled was left until 9:30 this morning. County Clerk Miller will then appear and later will be followed by Clerk Broadwell of the district court. Mr. Milltold Mr. Miller when the latter took the office there was not one employe who could be spared.

The arguments of those heard yesterday which prevailed here yesterday. are reported to have been only partially in the nature of protests. County Treasurer clal.)-Snow commenced falling in this Elsasser reminded the board that it was that body and not he himself who had proposed that the personal tax man be put on and he said that he was willing to have the office discontinued, as the special checking that the man had been engaged in was well

Willing to Have One Less Deputy.

Sheriff Power thought he could worry slong with one less deputy on his staff, but made a stiff stand against the removal of one assistant jailor, asserting that the jail is now kept in a more sanitary condition and its inmates better and more successfully guarded than before, and that the safety of the jailers themselves demands that there be always a guard on the outside of the cages when there is a guard moving around within them.

E. J. Bodwell, superintendent of public instruction, is willing to try doing without an assistant in his office for a while, with the understanding that he may ask for one if the work gets too heavy for him. Former Commissioner Hoctor's sister-in-law has had the place, though attached to the auditor's department.

Surveyor Edquist insisted on the retention of a draughtsman and wished one deputy, as he finds the records, he said, in a very bad condition.

Sacrifice One Male Nurse.

Superintendent Canon of the poor farm is willing to see the sacrifice of one male nurse at the hospital, but thinks that the plan to combine in one man the offices of farmer and undertaker will be hardly practicable because of the inconvenience that is bound to be experienced should it occur that a hurry call for him should come while he has a load half way up the hill.

Ed Dee, superintendent of the courthouse, has finally secured an engineer's license, so that now the special engineer can be sacrificed, although it is said by some of the commissioners that a night fireman should be put on.

It remained for County Attorney Shields hen he won in the attempt in Judge Dickinson's court a year ago to have his messenger cut off, and that they must leave that messenger on the payroll. A member of the board stated last night, however that Mr. Shields' declaration didn't settle the matter and that the board would do little reading on its own account.

The commissioners are refraining from expressing themselves until all the heads of departments have been heard and it cannot be told to what extent the arguments yes terday influenced them. It will be known after Saturday's business meeting, however, for it is promised that the new list will then be finally made up and approved.

Details of Business Session.

Before adjourning to the star chambe to hear the officials' defense, the board held a business session, the principal accomplishment of which was the letting of the contract for the new emergency hospital near South Omaha to Ed J. Brennan. whose bid of $989 was the lowest received S. B. Clark was appointed constable of Benson precinct and Hans Schneider of Jefferson precinct.

TWO MEN HANG THEMSELVES CUBAN PLANTERS TO BENEFIT

Paul Kroeder and Henry Dreier End Their Earthly Ixistence.

ONE IN A HOTEL, THE OTHER IN A BARN

Kroeder Had Been Dismissed from Government Service and Was Despondent, but Dreier Had No. Apparent Reason.

Paul Kroeder, draughtsman, and Henry Oreter, farm laborer, each took his own life yesterday afternoon by hanging. The body of the former was found in a room at the Thurston hotel and the body of the latter in a cattle barn on the farm of his employer, Ernest Holmester, near Benson. Kroeder had roomed at the Thurston for the past three weeks. Sunday night at $ o'clock he went to his room and that was the last seen of him alive. At 7 o'clock Monday evening the chambermald reported to the night clerk that the door of Kroeder's room was locked and had been locked all day. Carl Eyre, a porter, was sent up to investigate. Eyre looked over the transby a rope suspended from the gas fixture in the middle of the room. The clerk was notified and the door forced. The gas jet was less than six feet from the floor and the head of Kroeder was one and a half feet below the jet. His feet were doubled back and his knees were not more than $2 to $10 an acre. The testimony before three inches from the floor.

Dr. Mack was hastily summoned, but the man had been dead some hours. He cut the body down and notified Caroner Brailey. and the body was removed to the morgue. Near the body was a chair, as though the man had swung himself from it. The rope was a quarter of an inch thick and cut into the flesh at least an inch. The tongue and eyes protruded, and from the appearance of the body it is supposed the man had hanged himself Sunday night.

Upon Kroeder's trunk was a sheet of paper, upon which was written: "There is no key to lock it; please fasten trunk with rope and ship to Atlanta, Ga." No other note of explanation was found by the authorities. Kroeder had been employed as a clerk in the adjutant's department, at the army headquarters for some years. Papers found in his trunk showed that his salary had been reduced from $1,200 to $1,000 July 1. A month ago he was discharged from the government service for alleged theft of engineering instruments. Since that time e has done nothing. The employes at the Thurston say that for several days he has been despondent, and the despondency was more noticeable Sunday.

Kroeder has a wife and seven children living in Atlanta, Ga. He was 41 years of age. The family was notified.

The body of Dreier was found at 4 o'clock by other employes of Hofmester. He was about 28 years of age, and has a mother residing in Grand Island. He had been a work on the Hofmester farm for the las six months. Yesterday morning he brought a load of corn to Omaha and left town at were also hauling corn, returned to the farm at 4 o'clock they found Dreier dead. The coroner was notified and the body

Williams was in a house, 118 North Ninth street, trying to sell a pair of ST. JOSEPH, Jan. 20.-After several days shoes to one of the inmates. The officers, of Indian summer St. Joseph is storm who were passing, saw Williams and asked him where he got the shoes. Instead of answering, Williams rushed from the house heavily. Snow is general throughout this and started down the street at a twominute pace. At the corner he turned down Douglas street, and Officer Taylor attempted to head him with a couple of shots They flew wild and Williams gained a little more speed. He then turned south or Tenth and ran to Farnam.

Several people who saw the men running and heard the shots joined in the chase, all yelling "Stop, thief!" Williams turned north on Eleventh street and dodged into the alley between Douglas and Farnam streets. Taylor, however, had turned in the alley on Tenth street, and the fugitive ran into his arms. He was taken to the station. The shoes were new Taylor said someone had given them to him to sell. He said he belonged in Denver and had no room in Omaha.

Committeeman Tawney Says Tariff Reduction on Sugar Would Not Help Any Other Class.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20 .- Since the Cubans appeared before the ways and means committees there have been some candid expressions as to the course to pursue toward Cuba. Mr. Tawney, of the committee, says: "I am only reciting from the testimony of these owners when I state that the proposed reduction of tariff would not inure to the benefit of the consumers of sugar. The gentlemen who came before us in the course of questioning admitted that outside of Havana all the labor of the island was employed. The railroad between Havana and Santiago is advertising for help. Mr. Atkins, the owner of one of the largest plantations in the Island, assured us that the price of sugar was fixed for the world in London, f. o. b. in Hamburg. In answer to an inquiry from me he stated that no benefit would likely result from free trade or lower duty, except to the planters themselves. The inquiry further develpoed, as other gentlemen were heard, that 90 per cent of the plantations of the island are owned by Spaniards. the most of whom will retain their citizenship with Spain. And about 10 per cent of som and saw the body of Kroeder hanging the plantations are owned by Cubans and A great deal is being said around the capital about the effect lower duties would have on the price of lands in Cuba, "Many Americans have purchased real estate in Cuba," continued Mr. Tawney, "for from the ways and means committee demonstrated that the average crop of sugar was two and a half tons per acre. If we remove this duty of $35 a top, now enforced. the value of the same land will increase something like $90 an acre. If we reduce the duty 25 per cent the enhancement will be just one-fourth as much.

"At present the production of sugar in Cuba is about 15,000 tons," asserted Mr. Tawney. "That is more than the estimated production of beet sugar in the United States for next year. From question put to some of the witnesses during the hearing, the information was gained that during the next ten years the plantations of Cuba could be developed to produce 3,000,000 tons of sugar and within the next twenty years the island could be developed easily to produce 5,000,000 tons and thus supply the world." There is naturally much interest in the coming of Governor General Wood, who is expected to testify before the ways and means committee next week, in favor of reduction of duties. With the impression the sugar planter made in their own behalf, General Wood will have something FIGHT of a task to help their cause materially. Mr. Tawney said yesterday that the testi mony showed many of those who appeared before the committee to be stockholders in the sugar trust, notable among them being Mr. Atkins.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—The fight between Benny Yanger and Kid Herrick at the American Athletic club tonight was stopped in the third round by Referee Hogan, who gave the decision to Yanger.

Herrick was on the verge of a knockout as he had been knocked down several times, taking the full count each time. Herrick was floored three times in the second round, the bell saving him from a knockout. A straight right to the pit of the stomach when the men came together in the third round put the Rochester man down for nine seconds. He got up with difficulty, only to go down again from a similar blow. This was repeated five times, Herrick taking the full count each time. Finally the referee interfered.
