all of the Twenty Dead Are to Have a Joint Funeral Service Today at the Expense of the Company.

OSKALOOSA, Is., Jan. 25 .- (Special Tele gram.)-The coroner's inquest held over the remains of the twenty miners killed in the dust explosion at the Lost Creek coal mine, southeast of this city, Friday afternoon, was held this afternoon and a large number of witnesses was examined. The taking of evidence occupied the greater part of the afternoon. The witnesses included State Mine Inspector John Verner, who had made a critical examination of the mine during the forencon, and the miners in the pit at the time of the explosion gave evidence that the men came to their death on account of a dust explosion in the mine, caused by a shot fired by a miner named said the senator. "I do not believe trees Andy Pash, one of those killed. John Zaeber was the only man on the east side of the mine who escaped with his life. Eight men were killed in the room where he was. He stated that at the of the explosion he heard several shots in rapid succession, then a rumbling noise like distant thunder, next a hissing sound, and a great flame of fire rushed past him, the force of the flame knocking him forward, and he fell upon his face to the ground. He realized an explosion had occurred, but was able to scramble to his feet and run to the entry, and thence to the shaft, where he was rescued. He was rendered ill, but made his way out to the surface. None of the miners working on the west side of the pit were injured in any way. The force of the explosion was not great enough to carry the flame to that

Faulty Shot Causes Explosion.

Coroner Fohoelinger found the disaster was caused by an explosion of dust ignited by a shot too heavily charged. It proved to be what miners call a 'screamer," or a "squealer." To be more clear, the shot when exploded, instead of knocking down the coal, fires straight out into the room, This kind of a shot causes much dust, and, the flames coming into contact with the dust, usually furnishes an

The first man to enter the mine was Jap Timbrell, general superfollowed by many others, who took their turns in going to the relief of the victims. As soon as the mine was fully explored twenty dead bodies were found.

Coroner Fohoelinger of Oskaloosa was on the ground, took charge of the bodies, and aused them to be taken to the company's store, about a mile distant. Here an improvised morgue was established and the podies were received wrapped in blankets. The coroner did not deem it advisable to expose them to the view of the crowd.

The mine has been successfully operated a number of years. The shaft where the accident occurred is No. 2 and has been op-erated about eighteen months and it was thought perfectly safe. The ventilation is perfect, the only possible fault ever found being that it was a little dusty at times. The explosion occurred east and north of the shaft, in the east entries, and almost all in that part of the mine were killed or hurt. All the miners on the west side escaped injury and got out of the mine; in fact, some did not know of the accident till called on for help.

The mine was examined today by a state inspector, who said the mine was in as good condition as any in the state.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 25 .- (Special Telegram.)-Senator Millard is opposed to seting apart three forest reserves in Nebraska, as contemplated by the Department of Agriculture. He has refused to join the members of the Nebraska delegation in ecommending the action proposed by the department upon the ground that the sand hills of Nebraska are fitted only for grazing purposes. PRESIDENT UPHOLDS BULLOCK Says Supervisor is Right in Selection of Black Hills Rangers.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.-President Roosevelt had a talk today with Captain Seth Bullock, the first supervisor of the celebrated Black Hills forest reserve, and The conference related to the appointment of rangers in the Black Hills reserve. These rangers have been appointed by the secretary of the interior without consulting the supervisior and Captain Bullock desires authority to select his own rangers. He told the president that the reserve was the most important in the country, largely by reason of the great value of the timber, and he would not like to be wholly responsible unless he could name his own subordinates. There are seventeen to thirty rangers under Captain Bullock.

The president agreed that Captain Bullock was right and the secretary of the interior will be asked to appoint such men as the supervisor can select.

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 25 .- At today's session of the United Mine Workers' convention President Mitchell announced special committees "on Chinese exclusion" and "on organization and care of miners in districts 2, 5, 19, 20 and 23." The committee on resolutions first reported a resolution to the effect that all employes in national and district offices shall be sons or daughters of mine workers in good standing. The committee reported the resolution again and it was sustained by the convention.

A resolution was reported that no employe of a national or district office shall be discharged without notice of the cause of dismissal. The committee also submitted, with a refusal to concur, a resolution prepared by Delegate John P. Reese, president of the Iowa district, to the effect that the dietrict of lows be permitted to take part in the interstate joint conference between miners and operators to be held in 1903.

It is said by delegates that the operators of the lowa district are not opposed to having the Iowa miners take a part in the joint conference, but that F. L. Robbins, one of the most influential operators of the east, is opposed to letting the Iowa min-

John P. Reese, president of the lows district, made a forcible speech in favor of admitting Iowa. He said it was only the powerful opposition of Robbins that kept it out. The mine workers were strong enough said, to dictate to the others, and not to be dictated to by a single man.

Illinois delegates took Reese's side in the argument and argued strongly in favor of letting lowa into the joint conference. The only opposition to the resolution in the convention came from Vice President T. L. Lewis, who said he did not believe the present situation demanded the admittance of lows or that the state of the organization depended on the admittance of the state. The discussion of the resolution was not finished, but was continued until Mon-

George H. Maxwell of Chicago, executive chairman of the national irrigation association, was introduced by President Mitchell and addressed the convention on the necessity of the labor organizations of the country uniting in a demand that congress take steps toward irrigating the great arid lands of the west for the purpose of saving the lands for homes. He spoke against letting vast tracts of western land to capitalists who, he said, fenced it in and held it

Brings Smiles to Women

Thousands of women are heroically suffering in silence while even relatives never guess the real truth about their condition. It is a living death to an ambitious woman to see her beauty fade and realize that slowly and surely, day by day, she is nearer an untimely grave, to know that the pangs of suffering are not only blighting her beauty but exhausting her physical strength and nervous and mental vitality. No hope comes from the doctor because he cannot cure—little sympathy from friends because they do not understand, but Wine of Cardui has brought a smile—the seal of health—to thousands of such faces. The Wine regulates the menstrual flow and strengthens the womanly organs. The relief from it comes quickly and naturally. A delightful feeling of security from the tension of pain tells the patient health is returning. Mrs. Turner suffered five years and no doctor could cure her.

WINE OF CARDUI

brought a speedy cure. You may be cured as well as she if you will secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui from your druggist. Do not buy a substitute. It was Wine of Cardui which cured Mrs. Turner.

Durant, I. T., January 12, 1901.

I feel so proud that my wife is a well woman that I want to tell it to the world. Her menses were so irregular that she was in misery all the time. Two prominent physicians treated her for nearly five years and after the doctors falled to do her any good she commenced to use patent medicines. At last she began using Wine of Cardul, which seemed to help her from the first bottle. After using seven bottles she is a sound and well woman. Her weight was 90 pounds when she began your treatment, to-day she weighs 130 pounds. She does her own housework—something she has not done for five years before I write you this testimonial unsolicited, because I want to let suffering a humanity know what a great remedy Wine of Cardul is. You are at liberty to use my name. JACK TURNER, Stockman.
