POWER FROM THE NIORRARA

Charles E. Cornell of Valentine Plans a Perpetual Plant.

SERVE FOR BOTH DAY AND NIGHT

Equivalent of Eight Thousand Horse Power to be Developed from Dam Near Minichadza Creek.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Jan. 29.—(Special.)—An application for permission to appropriate water from the Niobrara river for a power plant near Valentine was presented to the secretary of the State Board of Irrigation today.

When operated at its full capacity the plant would require approximately 1,600 cubic feet of water per second, which amount is about the total flow of the stream at high water.

It is estimated that the plant could furnish more than enough power to supply all demands in Valentine for several years to come.

SAYS TREES WILL NOT GROW

Sand Hills Have Been Experimented on for Years, Declares Mr. Stebbins.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Jan. 29.—To the Editor of The Bee: I notice in The Bee an action of the Nebraska delegation as they called upon the president with a proposition for a forest reserve in the sand hills of western Nebraska.

They quote recommendations from men whose names they do not give, and conclude that the sand hills of Nebraska are peculiarly adapted for a forest reservation.

Notwithstanding the recommendations of Prof. Bessey, the sand hills of Nebraska have stood here since the memory of man and no tree has been known to grow on them yet.

For twenty-five years these sand hills have been planted to timber, under the timber culture law, and today, outside of bottom land planting, there is not 100 acres of live timber in the whole sand hill district recommended by the delegation.

Prof. Bessey and those other gentlemen who were fortunate enough to not have their names mentioned pay themselves a fine compliment when they recommend as a natural forest reserve a tract of country upon which the combined efforts of God and man have not been able to produce a tree since the formation of the world.

If you plant a forest reserve you have got to drive the cattle out of the country. You cannot raise timber and cattle on the same land.

If you want Nebraska to prosper, let her alone. Don't interlope foreign projects into her domestic industries, thereby destroying both.

Irrigation is a twin kid of forest reserve, both the offspring of people who want to live off their imagination, and are short on capital.

Had Nebraska remained under original irrigation laws her irrigated districts would now all be prosperous; as it is they are swamped by bonds and debts that will eventually absorb the land.

If the government would assist irrigation it must furnish the water direct to the people who use it.

The moral of all this is: If government won't assist its workers to develop the country, don't assist those who won't work, to rob those who do work; let the workers alone to work out their own salvation.

Engagement Strangely Interrupted.

PLATTSBURGH, Neb., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The marriage of Hans Keesner to Miss Dora Hanson, living near here, is to occur soon, after a strange interruption of the engagement.

Green, became so insistent that Keesner finally struck him with an axe handle. Believing that he had killed him, Keesner hurriedly left for New York and sailed for Germany, where he has since been.

After working in Hamburg for two years he learned through friends that his sweetheart was still true to him and he also learned that Green was merely stung by the blow on his head and had recovered.

Miss Hanson's parents removed to this county and the marriage has been arranged for the near future.

Platte Valley Bank at Bellwood is Thoroughly Plundered.

CASHIER GOULD ADMITS HIS GUILT

Says His Bad Notes Aggregate Fifty Thousand—Speculation Believed to Be the Cause of His Downfall.

DAVID CITY, Neb., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The blowing up of the safe of the Platte Valley State bank at Bellwood, this county, some time ago, was the occasion of the state bank examiner's going to Bellwood this week to examine the condition of the bank, which he found bad, and a large number of notes that looked suspicious.

Upon confronting A. H. Gould, cashier, with some of the suspicious looking paper, Mr. Gould confessed to having forged several notes. The bank was immediately closed by the examiner and Mr. Gould was placed under arrest and brought to this city last night by Sheriff West and lodged in jail.

Mr. Gould has confessed to forging notes on several prominent farmers in the vicinity of Bellwood to the amount of about $50,000, and it is the general opinion that it will exceed this amount.

At the time the bank was robbed a great many of the citizens of Bellwood expressed opinions about the matter, but Mr. Gould insisted that the burglary was actually committed and that it had not happened the bank would have pulled through.

MORE LANDS FOR SETTLERS

Proposition to Give Homesteaders Full Sections or Over Instead of Quarter, as Now.

NORTH PLATTE, Neb., Jan. 29.—To the Editor of The Bee: I have been greatly interested in relation to your comments and criticisms relating to the proposed law which has been presented by the remaining western public lands in the United States are to be leased to cattle syndicates or owners.

It is this law in the interests of the smaller cattle owners of this country, whose herds will range over 200 to 600 acres. This is now recognized to be the imperative tendency in the western cattle business, will the proposed law favor these small cattlemen and the industry by which they are endeavoring to maintain a livelihood?

Again, is it not about time that justice was done to the western homesteader? The present homestead law as it now exists is materially the same as it was in 1862, which recognized all public lands as valuable and capable of well supporting a settler on 160 acres.

It is this law in the interests of the smaller cattle owners of this country, whose herds will range over 200 to 600 acres. Land Commands Good Price.

WOOD RIVER, Neb., Jan. 29.—(Special.)—The good crop of last year with the good prices for everything has caused land in this vicinity to command a higher price than ever before.

The farm of E. A. Murphy, a mile from town, sold for $40 per acre a few days ago. The land has been made the past week, the price being about the same price. About 8,000 acres are being fed near Wood River this season, and all the stock is doing well.

Stockmen are amply supplied with feed and they will be enabled, by reason of the mild winter, to increase their feed in the spring and put their stock on grass in excellent condition.

This has been a very prosperous year for farmers and many of them are making substantial improvements.

PLAN TO RESIST LYNCHERS

Charles Woodward May Be Given Trial for Killing Sheriff.

CASPER AUTHORITIES AIM TO PROTECT

Mayor Cantlin and Deputy Kyle Prepared to Foll Any Attempt at Mob Violence—Tubbs Has the Prisoner.

CASPER, Wyo., Jan. 29.—(Special Telegram.)—Acting Governor Chatterton today telegraphed here, asking if Charles Woodward would be given a trial in court or tried by Judge Lynch, and whether or not the local authorities would protect him.

Mayor Cantlin said today: "I am mayor of this town, and while I cannot say whether or not Woodward will be lynched, I am convinced there will be no disturbance take place in this town, and I don't need any outside assistance. I will do all I can to see that the disturbance takes place, and if any mob takes the town it will do it by force and because it is the strongest party. I will swear in half the town as police before I will see any trouble."

Deputy Kyle says he has over 100 deputies to see that Woodward is protected. The town is full of deputies, one of the most determined set of men that ever took the oath of office.

Mob talk is dying out, owing to the fact that Woodward, at the time of his arrest, had on Ricker's pistol and belt, and it is claimed he rode Deputy Johnson's horse from Woodward's ranch and had it in his possession at the various sheep camps. Owing to their faith in the positive nature of this evidence against him, the people are willing to see Woodward tried in the district court, which is now in session.

So many men have been sworn in as deputies that those favoring lynch law cannot find a leader, unless the people from the outside take a hand in the matter. On the outside, meaning the range, are many determined men, and if they break into the matter a hot time may be looked for between the deputies and the rangers.

Judge Branel has just telegraphed Acting Governor Chatterton that he will do all he can to give Woodward a speedy trial, and that he thinks the local authorities will protect Woodward.

Mayor Tubbs is expected to get back with Woodward in about four days. He is a thoroughbred, will resist any attempt to take Woodward and has done all in his power to see that he is protected. If the mob tries to take Woodward from Tubbs, he believes there will be trouble. Mayor Cantlin is a man of reputation and if a mob congregates he intends to disperse them, and if they don't disperse, no one can forestall the consequences.

Woodward was captured thirteen miles east of Hings, Mont., and Sheriff Tubbs left for there yesterday morning and expects to be back here February 7.
