PRINCE KAWANAKOA HERE

Returning to Honolulu Home from Easy-moon Trip to Washington.

TALKS FREELY ON HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS

Island Not as Prosperous on Account of Long Dry Spell and Scarcity of Labor—Governor Dole Capopular.

Royalty was represented in Omaha Friday, but none of the haughty exclusion usually associated with that term was noticeable, for, as Prince David Kawannakoa of the Hawaiian islands, son of the late King, and her only child, strode up and down the platform at Union station he chatted freely with all who approached him.

"I have been to Washington and am now on my way to San Francisco, where I shall embark for my home in Honolulu. No, my visit to Washington has absolutely no political or business significance. I was not there attempting to regain the crown lands; in fact, I never expect to get them back.

"The truth is that this journey is a honeymoon, and peculiarly romantic features attach to it. Back in December I left the islands with Colonel Sam Parker, the legal adviser of my mother, and a party of half a dozen more. The colonel and I were both unmarried then. Now we both have wives.

"You see, I was coming to San Francisco in reality to see an old playmate of mine, Miss Edith Campbell, daughter of a wealthy American planter who lives in the islands. Miss Campbell had been in this country attending school for many years. I never hoped to consummate the marriage at this time, but it all came out unexpectedly well, and we were married at San Francisco shortly after I arrived.

Parker's Venture with Capital.
"Meanwhile Mr. Parker had been pursuing a little secret mission of his own, and when I finally went to him and told him I was to be married he said he would make it a double affair. So we did, and then hastened to Washington to see Queen Liliuokalani. She will remain there till June, unless called home sooner. Her object, too, is purely a social visit, and has no political phase. We have relatives in Washington, and visited them.

"I am alone with my wife now. The rest of the party went westward from Chicago over the Santa Fe, but I was unable to secure reservations, so came over the Northwestern.

"The black eyes of the prince snapped as he talked. He was a pleasing picture, and his perfect English contrasted strangely with his unmistakable foreign blood. He is of medium height and stocky build, with a good figure, which was faultlessly clothed in American tailored garments. The coat was a double-breasted sack, the trousers a light-colored pin stripe, the overcoat a whipcord top coat, the shoes heavy extension-sole patent leathers and the hat a fedora of a light shade and recent pattern.

"The young wife of Prince Kawannakoa was not visible, she not appearing for an airing. The prince said she did not fancy the cold morning air, and then he discoursed candidly concerning his native country the remainder of the time he was waiting for the Union Pacific Overland Flyer to pull out for 'Frisco.

Governor is Unpopular.

"Governor Dole is very unpopular," said the prince. "He seems to have become especially so since his appointment. I cannot explain why. The people of the islands want a new governor, however. I had a talk with President Roosevelt about this, but he will make no promise.

"Internal affairs are not as prosperous with us just now as they have been the last two seasons. This is due to the very dry spell we experienced last year and again to the fact that all the planters are buying new machinery just now, which depletes the common purse.

"The great problem in the islands, however, is how to get labor. This is very scarce, although good wages are offered. The difficulty arose from the abolishment of the contract system when the United States assumed charge. We have recently experimented with importing Porto Ricans for the work, but they are so nomadic that they are not a success, refusing to remain in one place long.

"I am certain that the sugar beet industry in America are secretly fighting against the present free importation of Hawaiian sugar to this country, just as they are opposing the proposed abolition of the duty on Cuban sugar. It is very true that the removal of the duty from the beet industry would be desirable, but our people will not object at having it all on an equal basis for the different colonies.

"Former Consul General Hayward at Hawaii now represents the sugar interests for the islands at Washington. He is a very firm gentleman and a good friend of mine, but I do not think he understands the situation.

CONTESTS C. G. RAPP'S WILL

Woman Avers Testator Was Not of Sound Mind When Instrument Was Executed.
Mary Wolf Venable has filed in county court an objection to probating the will of Christian G. Rapp as petitioned by Luther E. Roberts, who was appointed special administrator. She avers that she and Paul C. Wolf are all the heirs at law of Rapp; that he was not of sound mind when the instrument was executed; that the instrument itself is uncertain and indefinite, especially in that clause wherein it is sought to dispose of the property in other channels than the law would dispose of the same; that it was not the will of Rapp, but was a gift to her and her husband; and that she was not present at the execution of the will, and that she was not present at the execution of the will, and that she was not present at the execution of the will.

Mary Wolf Venable has also filed a claim against the estate, in which she sets forth that beginning March 23, 1899, she worked for Rapp twenty-eight and one-half months doing his cooking, washing, ironing and attending his drug store when he was absent and that for these services, which were of the value of $25 per month, making a total of $712, she was paid only $10 cash and $41 worth of clothing. The drug store mentioned is the one at Twentieth and Clark streets recently closed by the special administrator because of differences arising between the clerk and another of the appraisers.

SESSION OF LIBRARY BOARD

Declines to Have Institution Made the Propagator of Any Sect or Denomination.
The Library board held its regular meeting last night. President Reed and Directors Rosewater, Haller, Perine and Deuel were present. Only business of routine character was transacted, including the receipt of the librarian's regular report; bills were audited to the amount of $1,645. Invitations to the opening exercises of the new high school were accepted.

An offer of Christian Science periodicals was declined on the grounds that the library is not to be made the propagator of any sect or denomination. The board discussed the question of the installation of the stuffed buffalo, which it is supposed has been inherited from Riverview park. The general opinion was adverse to receiving it unless it were enclosed in a suitable case.

Kaupke Appeals to Higher Court.

Louis Kaupke has filed in county court a motion of appeal of his claim against the estate of Fannie Lindsey, which was disallowed by Judge Vinsonhaller. He avers that he was engaged by the deceased to book after her property in Omaha and Council Bluffs and that he performed services in that capacity to the value of $1,100, which amount has never been paid. Mrs. Lindsey was adjudged insane some time before her death and never regained her proper faculties.

LEASING OF NEBRASKA LAND

Subject Will Be Brought to Attention of Commercial Club.

C. D. THOMPSON TAKES INITIATIVE STEP

Contents that Omaha Will Reap More Benefit from Farmers on Land Than from Lessees for Grazing Purposes.

At the next meeting of the executive committee of the Commercial club C. D. Thompson, a member of that committee, intends to bring up the subject of leasing the public land in the state of Nebraska, Mr. Thompson said.

"There is something in this question which deserves the careful consideration of every business man in Omaha and especially of the manufacturers and jobbers. At the present time the territory tributary to Omaha is somewhat circumscribed. Our jobbers reach from east of the Missouri river to the Pacific coast, but sell little goods north of the latitude of Omaha. This territory is comparatively thinly settled.

"There are different opinions on the subject of the leasing of lands even among the business men of this city, but it is an indisputable fact that the business to be derived from large areas of land devoted to cattle or sheep grazing is nothing compared to the business which will come from the same amount of land settled by farmers who cultivate the soil. It is claimed that much of the land in the state cannot be brought under the plow, and this may be true, but it is to the interests of the people of Omaha to have every foot of arable land cultivated.

Should Present Some Plan.

"We are on the border-line of what is called the semi-arid region of the west, and our people should know what is necessary for its development better than any theorists who reside in other sections. We should present some plan on our own account for the redemption and development of the country. A plan suited to our own peculiar needs, and if this plan is suitable for other sections it may be adopted by congress for all, but we should act for ourselves to a certain extent independent of all other sections.

"We have seen in recent years the effect of the development of unoccupied land upon the principal jobbing center of the adjacent country. A few years ago Kansas City had reached the limit of its trade. The territory visited by its commercial travelers was covered completely and the growth of its wholesale business in proportion to the increase in population of the states of Kansas and Missouri. In 1890 Kansas ceased to grow in proportion to the years immediately preceding; Missouri's growth has always been slow. A brief period of stagnation in trade set in in that town, but was almost immediately relieved by the opening of Oklahoma. With the most rapid development of that territory, followed by the opening of the Cherokee strip, Kansas City's wholesale trade had an immediate impetus which has carried it beyond the expectations of the persons engaged in the business. Omaha has to the west and northwest as much unutilized land as is included in the territory of Oklahoma.

Irrigation Not an Experiment.

"The result of irrigation is no longer a question in this part of the country. The experience of the farmers in the North Platte valley around Bridgeport and in other parts of the west shows what can be done when water is placed upon the land. It is admitted by all that irrigation would bring a large population into the sections under the ditch, but it is claimed that it is impossible to get water on much of the land. What is impossible to one age is a matter of course to another and it is foolish to say that anything is impossible until an attempt has been made. Omaha men will receive benefits from the development of the country should the most insistent upon an attempt at irrigation and it can then be determined what land may be made available for the farmer and what must be left for the cattle.

"First of all, the citizens of Omaha should realize that one way or another on the subject of leasing the public domain, for when the land has passed, even for a short term, from the control of the government it may be difficult to get the work done."

BOWLERS BANQUET AL KRUG

Omaha Men Who Won at Buffalo Receive Warm Welcome at Home.

Last evening the members of the Omaha Bowling league met at the Calumet cafe to partake of a banquet given in honor of Mr. Al Krug, one of the winners in the two-man interstate bowling contest at Buffalo. Plates were laid for sixty people and a very enjoyable evening was spent by all. In opening the banquet for Mr. Krug, C. Conrad, spoke briefly in regard to the contest, thanking Mr. Krug for representing the Omaha league there and congratulating him for winning second place and stating that if the contest had been single, instead of double, he had no doubt but that Mr. Krug would have carried away the first prize.

In response, Mr. Krug thanked the president, captains and members of the Omaha league for the honor they had conferred upon him and hoped that at the next tournament, January 20, at Omaha, he would be represented by two or three teams. In closing, Mr. Krug said that it was not through good playing that he had won the game, but more through luck.

The captains of the different clubs of the Omaha league were then called on to speak, some complimenting the other clubs and themselves. The company was favored by songs by Mr. East, accompanied by his banjo. At 11:15 the members adjourned to Clark's alleys, where arrangements were made for a two-man contest between the clubs of the Omaha league, also for the entertaining of Mr. Dyringer of Los Angeles, Cal. Mr. Krug's partner in the contest, who will pass through Omaha on his way home in about ten days. The women's clubs, the Rounders and Eccentrics, also attended the banquet.

KUBELIK GUARANTY RAISED

Bohemians Readily Subscribe Two Thousand Dollars to Secure Concert for Omaha.

At a meeting held at National hall last night the guaranty fund necessary to bring Jan Kubelik, the famous Bohemian violinist, to Omaha was subscribed. About sixty of the most prominent Bohemians of Omaha and several from out of the city attended the meeting and the proposition to bring Kubelik here was received with enthusiasm, it requiring only a few minutes to secure subscriptions to the amount of $2,000.

A telegram was sent to Kubelik's manager last night stating that his terms for a concert in Omaha would be accepted, provided the concert could be given on the night of March 18, 19 or 20, which are the only available dates at Boyd's theater.

TALKS UP THE BOER CAUSE

Jan Krige Tells of Progress of the War Against South African Republics.

Washington hall was packed to overflowing last night by men and women of Omaha, who came to hear an address by Commandant Jan Krige of the South African republic. As the people entered the hall they were stopped by women with requests to sign two petitions, one to congress asking for a protest to England on behalf of the struggling republics and another to the governor of the state, asking him to take notice of the situation of the concentration camps of South Africa and to issue a proclamation calling upon the people of the state to contribute funds for the relief of the women and children in those camps.

The meeting was called to order by J. H. Scofield, president of the local Boer Relief league. He introduced Jules Lumbar, who scored the action of Great Britain in South Africa. He introduced Rev. Charles W. Savidge, who spoke upon the moral effects of the war in South Africa and the interest it has for all civilized people.

W. S. Shoemaker then introduced a set of resolutions denouncing the warfare in South Africa, the burning of homes, the destruction of property, the condition of concentration camps, the deportation of prisoners of war and the execution of their prisoners on charges of treason and called upon congress to put into effect the arbitration terms of the Hague treaty, and asking the governor to take action proposed in the petitions signed by the members of the audience. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Commandant Krige was then introduced. The commandant is a fine specimen of manhood, standing over six feet tall and as straight as an arrow. He has a fair knowledge of the English language, and spoke in an unimpassioned manner, showing considerable knowledge of American and English history. He drew a parallel between the opposition in the British House of Commons at the present time and the opposition of Pitt and others during the war of the American revolution.

The speaker said he did not like the idea of mixing the Boer and Filipino in the minds of American people. "Keep your eyes and noses at hand and we will do the rest," he said. In a history of the events leading up to the present war and its progress so far he said that as far as fighting ability is concerned the Boer army was never in better shape than it is now. The rebellion has spread all over South Africa and has taken its toll of many commanders, with from 1,000 to 3,000 men under each one at times. Every time a commando is scattered it is strengthened, the dispersed men bringing in others when they return. The English soldiers have no spirit to fight and that is why the Boers are able to make headway. Father Edward Hayes of Imogen, Ia., was called for at the conclusion of Captain Krige's address, and he spoke enthusiastically of the Boer cause.

COOK FIGHTS A CONDUCTOR

With Kitchen Utensils as Weapons Pete Davis Attacks Fred Dalley.

Passengers on an incoming train from Chicago yesterday morning were treated to a question in this part of the country. The experience of the farmers in the North Platte valley around Bridgeport and in other parts of the west shows what can be done when water is placed upon the land. It is admitted by all that irrigation would bring a large population into the sections under the ditch, but it is claimed that it is impossible to get water on much of the land. GRIP, CONSUMPTION

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey Cures Grip, Consumption, Malaria, Bronchitis, Asthma and All Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

Grip is an infectious disease, which attacks weak and strong alike, especially if the blood is starchy, and generally involving the mucous membrane of the air passages from the nostrils down to and including the lungs. Serious complications are liable to develop in the course of the disease, as grip settles in the weakest part of the system, sometimes the kidneys, the brain, the stomach or the heart, resulting often in heart failure, but the most dreaded of all when it settles in the lungs. Consumption is sure to follow and certain death if prompt action is not taken and Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey administered.

CURED

The fatalities resulting from this disease within the past few years have sufficiently aroused doctors to the importance of giving the disease the closest investigation. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only absolute cure for grip, malarial, asthma, and all diseases of the throat and lungs; it prevents complications and bad after-effects that grip often leaves in the system. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey not only kills germs but stimulates the blood, aids digestion and tones the action of the heart. The voluntary testimony received from thousands of our grateful patients is proof positive that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the greatest known remedy for the grip and all diseases of the throat and lungs and all wasting diseases from whatever causes. Doctors, ministers, public speakers and a number of the leading temperance men praise Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for the great good it has accomplished in saving lives.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

Dr. Willard H. Morse, the eminent practitioner and world-renowned therapist, after careful study of grip in all its stages, says: "Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is the only absolute cure for the grip. It builds up the system and enables it to throw off the grip germs and prevent bad after-effects, because it is chemically pure and contains great medicinal properties."

Amusements.

"The Burgomaster"—For the second time during the present season this popular hodge-podge of comedy and musical melange opened an engagement of two nights and a matinee at the Boyd theater Friday night. That it has caught on with local theater-goers better than any other entertainment of its kind offered here in some time is proved by the exceptionally large patronage accorded it, nearly, if not quite every seat in the theater being occupied at last evening's performance. There have been practically no changes made in the company presenting the piece since it was last seen here. Herbert Cawthorne and his Bavarian dialect continue to make Peter Stuyvesant one of the most laughable of musical comedy characters, while Edward S. Doodle on Kull is productive of a goodly number of smiles. Harry de Lorme's E. Booth Talkington, actor of Shakespearean roles going out and "Uncle Tom's Cabin" coming in, is the same splendid bit of character work that has pleased the actor among those in the front rank at this class of work.
