Phrases.

As though bent upon improving to the utmost every minute of these last few days when self-indulgence is permissible and entertainment the duty as well as the privilege of all, society has a little more than maintained its record of the last few weeks and held its devotees to a merry pace.

There has been no end of luncheons and kensingtons and afternoon card parties to which, of course, only the women were eligible, but for every one of these there has been a dinner or some other evening affair where the men figured prominently. This, according to one of the local gallants, is especially true of the skating and coasting parties to which he asserts some of the young women have taken an almost violent fancy of late. But in all this pre-Lenten galety it seems to be the visiting girl who is figuring most prominently. Everything is being done for her pleasure, and even the season's newest brides have graciously stepped back to lend a hand in ber entertainment

The country homes of those who are fortunate enough to possess those nearby retreats, have afforded temporary hospitality to numerous sleighing parties of late, and though dismantled of a part at least of that which made them so attractive last summer, afforded, with the assistance of the foot warmers, a place where a lunch could be enjoyed before the return trip.

One of the hostesses of the week afforded her guests a very pleasant diversion to which was attached a moral that will doubtless serve as a profitable lesson to not a few of those who enjoyed it. Being supplied with pencil and paper, the company was instructed to write as many slang expressions as they could think of. Accordingly they set to work, the promise of a reward stimulating their efforts to recall every slang expression they had ever heard of until not a few were surprised at the length of their various lists, and the variety of senseless and pointed and other words and phrases that they included. At the expiration of the given time the papers were collected, and after being carefully gone over the hostess returned with the handsome memento to be given in reward. Smilingly she announced the result of the contest, and then, to the astonishment of all and, it must be admitted, to the chagrin South Thirty-second street au Saturday of several, presented the prize to the writer evening. whose list was shortest.

In the parlors pink was used, five small tables crossed with broad pink satin ribbons and seated twenty-five guests in the front parwas used. In the decoration of this the same colors were employed, a tall pinkshaded candelabrum of cut glass and silver occupying the center, while on either side a cluster of pink roses and asparagus fern was supported by a base of spun sugar. In the library green and white were used. the center piece being a bank of white roses and asparagus fern, while each corner was occupied by a huge green ribbon bow. In the dining room one long table was trimmed in ferns and red carnations, the flowers alternating down the center of the table with baskets of the red spun sugar. The place cards bore the monogram of the hostess. done in gilt on a background to correspond with the table coloring, to each card was attached a little German favor. Marvelous Growth Of Hair.

A Famous Doctor-Chemist Has Discovered a Compound That Grows Hair on a Bald Head in a Single Night.

Startling Announcement Causes Doctfounded at the Wonderful Cures.

The Discoverer Sends Free Trial Packages to All Who Write.

After half a century spent in the labora-tory, crowned with high honors for his many world-famous discoveries the cele-brated physician-chemist at the head of the great Altenheim Medical Dispensary, 6576 Butterfield Hidg., Cincinnati, Ohio, has just made the startling announcement that he has produced a compound that grows hair on any bald head. The doctor makes the claim that after experiments, taking years to complete, he has at last reached the goal of his ambition. To the doctor all heads are alike. There are none which cannot be cured by this remarkable remedy. The record of the cures already made its truly marvelous and were it not for the high standing of the great physician and the convincing testimony of thousands of citizens all over the country it would seem too miraculous to be true.

There can be no doubt of the doctor's earnestness in making his claims nor can his cures be disputed. He does not ask any man, woman or child to take his or anyone else's word for it but he stands ready and willing to send free trial packages of this great hair restorative to any one who writes to him for it, enclosing a 3 cent stamp to prepay postage. In a single night it has started hair to growing on heads bald for years. It has stopped falling hair in one hour. It never fails no matter what the condition, age or sex. Old men and young men, women and children all have profited by the free use of this great new discovery. Write today if you are bald, if your hair is falling out or if your hair, eyebrows or eyelashes are thin or short and in a short time you will be estirely restored. carrie M. Claycomb has instituted sult for her 19-year-old son, Walter F. Claycomb, against Ed Barrick and the Fred Krug Brewing company. The suit has its origin in the attempt of Walter's juvenile friends to elevate his plane of living by hauling him up in a tar bucket that was being used by Barrick's roofing gang at the saloon at 316 North Sixteenth street, owned by the brewing company. The bucket was attached to a rope that passed over a pulley in a derrick on the roof and the boys played with it when the workmen were away March 31, 1898. They had Walter several feet off the ground when the derrick fell from the roof and struck him in such a way that he suffered a compound fracture of the right leg. He wants $5.00.

"Don't ask for your size. Ask to be fitted."

Fitting the feet with a combination of elegance and comfort, it was necessary that Sorosis makers use all the good points to be found in other fine lines, with many improvements, both in fit and finish Compared with any line of women's good shoes in the market, Sorosis would be selected as the higher price shoe.
