Colored Man Accused of Highway Robbery Escares from Jail.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION IS QUIET

Pens at Stock Yards Being Cindered and Paved-Uvick Hearing Comes Tuesday-Magle City

Gonnip.

Through the carelessness of J. M. Fowler city jailor, Mox Terrell, colored, who was being held at the jail for highway robbery, escaped yesterday. Last April Mrs. Susan Laymon of the Delione hotel completined to the police that Terrell had called at her home and while pretending to look at a room snatched her purse from her hand and got away. Terrell was arrested in Omaha for another offense and was only Omaha for another offense and was only released a few days ago. As soon as he returned to this city he was taken to jail BLIND FROM BIRTH' HE SEES and would have been tried Monday on a charge of highway robbery.

The escape came about in this way: Jaifor Fowler wanted some cleaning up done in the jail office and brought Terrell out from the cell room and put him to scrubbing. For just an instant Fowler the steps like a frightened deer. Across who had been blind from birth, has gained the street and through a livery stable he the use of his sight, provide a most cu top of the stairs Terrell was out of sight. Before Fowler got around to notifying the officer on the beat Terrell had a good half hour's start. In his flight Terrell made straight for the home of his sister, Twentyseventh and L streets, where he obtained some money and was gone again. Chief Briggs and Detective Elsfelder lost the trail at the L street viaduct and for all they know the negro may be running yet. Fowler was roundly censured by the chief for permitting Terrell outside of the cell room, especially when he knew that a charge of highway robbery had been preferred against him. Friday evening one of the prisoners in the jail told Turnquist, the night jailor, that Terrell had a razor concealed in his clothing. Turnquist made a search and secured the weapon. It is now asserted that Jallor Fowler did not search Terrell carefully when he was arrested. Chief Briggs has announced that he will make a complaint to the commissioners about numerous acts of carelessness on the part of

The chief intends calling the attention of the board to the condition of the windows of the jail on the north side. These barred windows open onto an areaway and as the bars are about four inches apart it is an easy matter for friends to pass whisky and tobacco through to the prisoners. Nearly every night the jailor finds contraband articles in the jail which have been passed through the bars. The chief thinks it would be a good idea to have heavy wire netting placed over the bars to prevent piration, and he was at once cognizant articles being passed in to the prisoners. As the expense will not be great it is thought that the commissioners will favor the idea.

Yesterday's Celebration.

The Fourth passed off without any serious accidents and was what might be called a quiet day. From early morning until about noon the downtown streets were crowded and the noise was almost deafening. Fuller details of the surgical work by Dr. A. Maitland Ramsay of Glasgow, as turned his head and Terrell bounded up the result of which a man 30 years old, By the time the jailor reached the rious and interesting story, says a London dispatch to the Brooklyn Eagle.

The batient had developed in an extraordinary, degree the blind man's power of distinguishing things and of finding his way about the world by the senses of sound, smell and touch One of his sisters lost her might at the age of 2 years and died blind at 35. Another sister, now :3 years old was born blind and was educated in the blind asylum; but he was allowed to run about as he pleased, no attempt to educate him having ever been made. Dr. Ramsay says:

"He became so familiar with the coun try district (a few miles from Glasgow) in which he resided that he could go about without the slightest fear; and his hear ing was so acute that he knew at once if there was anything unusual on a road along which he was walking, and thus he never had any difficulty in keeping himself out of danger.

"Experience taught him to find his way about the garden in which he worked and he learned to pluck flowers, to arrange them in bunches and to pack them in boxes for the market. He distinguished different blossoms partly by touch, but chiefly by smell, and by asking questions he got at last to know so much about their form and color that he could arrange them in a bouquet. He recognized the presence of strangers in the house chiefly by the sense of hearing-for example, he could discriminate persons whom he knew by the sound of their resof any breathing with which he was unfamiliar.

"Occasionally he worked in the harvest field and he could bind the corn and arrange the stocks as well as any of the other Inborers.
