isting in the section of country proposed to be improved by the construction of large drainage ditches by the authorities of the two counties. He takes the stand that the proposition according to the plans decided upon is impracticable and further that the cost will be enormous. The cost he contends, will far exceed the estimate made by the engineers appointed by the ers and will prove such a burden on the abutting property that it will practically confiscate It.

Regarding the cost of the proposed ditches Mr. Crawford asserts that it will reach $250,000 in place of $100,000 as estimated by the county authorities. The excavation alone, he insists, will cost $90,000, while the levees will entail the expenditure of $70,000 more. Then, he urges, no account has been taken of the expense of constructing bridges, culverts and floodgates, which, he says, will mean the outlay of yet $80,000 further.

Mr. Crawford also contends that the procoedings of the county authorities in establishing the drainage district and ordering the improvement made have been irregular from start to finish and not according to the law provided in such cases. He further insists that no proper survey of the district to be drained has been made and in support of this assertion alleges that Engineer Testevin, according to the report of the commissioners, was appointed March 14, 1903, and that on March 17, three days villisca, president of the insurance branch, later, he made his report. Committee of Knights of Pythias Formulates Favorable Report.

Session of Assembly-Attendance Increases Largely During the Day.

One of the important matters to come ng here this week is the proposition to last night. establish a sanitarium at Colfax for the Chairman Stewart of the committee to the order. The committee having the matwill report favorably on the proposition and urge its establishment. The report formulated by the committee and which will be presented to the grand lodge is as follows:

Favors Sanitarium.

We, the committee on Pythian sanitarium, beg leave to report that we have investigated as to the advisability of locating and building a Pythian sanitarium at Colfax, Ia., and find the location admirable. Colfax, Ia., and find the location admirable.
Colfax is centrally located; it has two lines of railroads and electric line connections with Des Moines, giving hourly service. The curative properties of its mineral waters are generally recognized as equal to any in the United States.
Thousands of people annually visit Colfax for the benefits of its waters, and the records for the last two years show that a daily average of a trifle more than thirty-one knights visit the various hotels located one knights visit the various hotels-located there.

We find that similar institutions in other states are maintained by various orders, and are not only successfully operated, but are a great benefit to the respective fraternities. We are therefore heartily in favor of establishing a sanitarium at Colfax to be owned and operated by the Knights of Pythias of the grand domain of fowa, and herewith submit a sketch for a modern building of forty rooms, the architect's estimate of which is $24,800. We recommend that a statute be passed asrecommend that a statute be passed as-sessing each lodge $1 per member, which assessment shall be payable in semi-annual payments of 25 cents each, to erect said building.

Plan of Operation.

The citizens of Colfax propose to donate such location as may be selected and provide medical attendance for one year after its occupancy. The object is to provide a sanitarium for knights desiring to avail themselves.

POSTOFFICE AIDS PUBLISHERS

Baggagemasters to Deliver Newspapers When Trains Carry No. Mail Clerk.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Postmaster General Payne has decided to try the experiment of employing baggagemen on rains which are not provided with mail clerks to take charge of and deliver and open newspaper mail. This decision has been reached after much consideration, and in response to a petition filed by many of the leading newspaper publishers of the country, who asked facilities for distributing open bundles of papers along lines where trains only carry closed pouches. There are a large number of such trains and as the department is not represented by an employe on them the postmaster general declined to assume responsibility Second Assistant Postmaster General Shallenberger then suggested the expediill from an old trouble which returns to ent of employing the baggageman to take charge of the mail in such cases, and the at the head of the military department at suggestion has been adopted. The plan contemplates that the baggagemasters shall be sworn in as postoffice employes and paid for their services. It is intended that they shall deliver the papers to those to whom they are addressed along the line from the our doors, thus saving much time which would be lost in case the papers were enclosed in the pouches, as this would necessitate their being taken to the local postoffice before they could be delivered to agents.

It is estimated that the cost of the service will be much less than if postoffice employes were supplied for all such trains.
