PYTHIAN SESSIONS ENDED

Project by Big Majority.

SHELDON WINS UNIFORM RANK DRILL

Rathbone Sisters Elect Officers for Ensuing Year and Also Conclude Their Business and Adjourn.

After one of the most successful meetings in its history in point of attendance and in other respects the Iowa grand lodge, Knights of Pythias, concluded its business vesterday afternoon and adjourned. Before dissolving the delegates by resolution expressed extreme satisfaction at the manner in which they had been entertained while in Council Bluffs and tendered their sincere thanks to all who had assisted to make their visit in the city a pleasant and profitable one.

The Pythians of Iowa will not establish sanitarium for the members of the order at Colfax, at least not for several years, and it is doubtful if the project will ever be revived. The sanitarium proposition, although backed by large and influential delegates from Colfax and Des Moines, met with decisive defeat at the morning session, at which it had been made a special order of business. Its defeat was a surprise to those who had been boosting the project, as surface indications were that it would carry at this meeting of the grand lodge. Its supporters, however, were doomed to disappointment, as the proposition on being put to a vote was defeated by two to one.

The defeat of the proposition was due to the fact that those who opposed it did so fearing that the management of such an institution would lead to more or less disagreements and ultimately prove source of never-ending trouble to the order and the grand lodge in particular.

The greater part of yesterday's session was devoted to considering the revised constitution and statutes as printed in the journal of the last year's meeting and recommended by the judiciary committee. They were adopted with but a few amendments of minor importance.

The matter of formulating a plan for changing the method of electing the grand lodge officers was referred to the incoming judiciary committee to report on at next year's meeting. The bond of Grand Master of the Exchequer O'Connell was placed at $30,000. J. M. Butler of Muscatine was appointed by Grand Chancellor Molsberry a member of the grand tribunal to succeed J. B. Wheeler of Adel.

The newly elected officers were installed by Past Grand Chancellor E. W. Weeks of Guthrie Center.

Young Man Makes Mistake. Ed Doolan, a young man living at Third street and Fourteenth avenue, rushed breathless into the police station last night at 9 o'cleck with a story of how two bold, bad highwaymen had attempted to hold him up about a block from his home. Doclan said he was walking in the middle of the street pushing his bicycle in front of him when the two men jumped from a dark spot and called out to him to stop. Doolan, instead of stopping jumped on his police station. Later it developed that the two bold highwaymen were Detectives Harding and Moore, who were on the lookout for a couple of men and in the darkness mistook Doolan and his wheel for two men.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) DES MOINES, Aug. 13.—(Special.)—In-junction suits brought by those who were not satisfied with the assessment of railroad property by the state executive council recently appear to have all come too late to secure a test of the questions at issue in the manner contemplated by the injunction seekers. The owners of the interurban railroad from Waterloo to Cedar Falls asked for a restraining order to prevent the secretary of the executive council from certifying the assessment of the property entire as an interurban line, as it was claimed that the portion within corporation limits should be treated for taxation purposes as a city railway. But the notice came after the assessment had been made and the certification was complete. The company has since filed an amended statement of its business, in which it is stated that the taxes paid last year amounted to $248, and that the receipts amounted to $85,636.14, and the expenses to $46,089.60.
