ombined club, family picnic and Coney sland, elevated to respectability without thereby growing dull. So 20,000 American citizens of German traditions under 20,000 German flags and thrice as many couples of the Stars and Stripes were making themselves happy and at home there with brass bands, beer, much bravery of badges and banners, to say nothing of a wedding with a real live bride and bridegroom-bride and bridegroom and all the ttendants attired in quaint Low German ostumes of the century past. The volksfest is in charge of the "Plattleutsche Volksfest Verein von New York and Umgegend," but many other vereins, dubs, gesellschaften, schuetzen corps, and whatever else these societies name themselves were represented. These societies were named for places in the old country and in the new-of Hudson ounty, of Baden, of Hesse, of Bavaria. From Brooklyn, with flags, resettes and a band, came 300 of the Plattdeutsche Volksfest Verein of that city, and all the socieies as they arrived were met by the comnittee in front of the club house and escorted around the grounds in procession with bands playing and colors flying.

Meantime the place was alive with peo ole, men, women and children, who strolled about and watched the procession and cer tain athletes in tights of pink and orange who were doing the usual things on rings and trapezes. Yet others allowed themselves to be swallowed up by clamorous side shows. All the processions stopped a moment before a stand marked "Haupquartier des Verein," whence fluttered flags and where notables sat with badges.

About 6 o'clock, however, came the pro ession of processions—the wedding march.

At the head was the committee of ushers, armed with whips; then the band, followed by two old men with ancient long coats, flowers. A watchman with a lanthorn and halberd, and the parson with book and costume, red skirts, embroidered bodices and white stockings. Then the bride and ridegroom. The bride looked proud and retty and wore a blue stomacher, a skirt

Prof. Unna, Hamburg, Germany, European authority on skin diseases, says dandruff is a gorm disease. The germ burrows under the scalp, throwing up little scales of cuticle and sapping the vitality of the hair at the root. The only hair preparation that kills dandruff germs is Newbro's Herpicide. Eastern Ministers Frown Upon the Practice and Quote St. Paul na a Guide.

Serious trouble is threatened at some of the eastern summer resorts because the women have taken up the fashion of going o church without wearing hats. The rector of the Asbury Park, N. Some of the women who have offended by appearing hatless in church declare that they will pay no attention to the lines of conduct laid down by the preachers, and they even go so far as to declare that they look upon the whole matter as "silly and summer, when Bishop Scarborough called upon to make a public address in which he denounced the fashion that has now apparently become so general as to

4508 Five Gored Petticout,

22 to 32 Waist. Woman's Five Georged Petticoat with Cicular Flounce Lengthened by a Straight Frill 4506.—Every woman knows the luxury of a well fitting petticoat. Without it, it is impossible for the gown to hang well. This one is cut with extreme care and is shaped to fit the hips smoothly and snugly while it provides graceful flare below the knees. As shown it is made of long cloth with a frill and bands of lace, but the design suits silk and all skirting materials as well as the washable ones, while the trimming can be frills of the same, of lace engthened by a narrow foot frill of the material. Over its lower edge is arranged the circular flounce which, in turn, is lengthened by a straight frill. The side gores are fitted by means of short hip darts while the back is drawn up by means of tapes inserted in a casing. The quantity of material required for the
