

CANADIANS ARE DISPLEASED

Feel Bitterly Over the Result of Alaskan Boundary Arbitration.

ASSERT RIGHTS ARE BARTERED AWAY

Senator Fairbanks of Indiana, on the Contrary, Expresses Opinion Canada Had No Valid Claim to Territory.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 19.—In an article on the reported differences on the Alaskan Boundary commission the Globe (government) tomorrow will make a point of the value to Canada of the decision in which the islands, the latter practically commanding Port Simpson, the probable terminus of the new Canadian transcontinental railway, and says the decision giving these islands to Canada is of no great importance. The Globe continues:

"No doubt the British commission shrank from the dangerous deadlock that would have ensued had both sides refused to give way in regard to the ownership of the head of the Lynn canal. The fact that Canadian goods are bonded across the coast strip makes the Lynn canal question less important than it otherwise would be. Canada will nevertheless be deeply disappointed with the decision in regard to the ownership of the arms of the sea in the disputed territory. The finding is a compromise in which neither side gets all it set out to secure. The decision is final, however, and there will be no harking back. Every foot of boundary line is now settled forever, with no possibility of further strife."

After asserting that the terms of the arbitration were most unfair and that the United States showed slight confidence in the judicial soundness of its claim by refusing to accept a neutral arbitration, the World (opposition) will say: "Imperial statesmen, as rather English statesmen, for they do not appear to have grasped the meaning of imperialism, regard the friendship of the United States as a pearl beyond price, provided this country has to pay for it."

"These easy triumphs for American diplomacy in the settlement of boundary disputes are full of dangerous possibilities. There is a broad frontier between Canada and the United States. If raising a boundary claim is to make subsequent acknowledgment a mere matter of form, the Americans are likely to make our frontier bristle with boundary issues before Canada is much older."

Did Not Expect Much.

MONTREAL, Oct. 19.—Commenting upon the decision of the Alaskan boundary commission, the Gazette tomorrow will say: "Canadians generally did not expect much from the arbitration commission. The commission was an arbitration tribunal such as could not be expected to decide on the weight of evidence, no matter which side suffered. The three representatives of the United States were hardly open to conviction."

Under the heading, "Canada is Sacrificing," Le Journal says in part: "This result had been seen from the beginning. In accepting the decision of a commission named equally by the two parties to the case England plainly indicated a disposition to no longer sustain the contentions of Canada, but to sacrifice them in the hope of securing the disappearance of a cause of constant friction with the United States. Today we had ourselves contemplating, not the decision of an arbitration commission, but a diplomatic arrangement wherein our clear rights have been sacrificed without any return."

Which is the personal organ of the Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, will say: "Lord Alverston, the representative of Great Britain, has ranged himself on the side of the Americans and decided favorably to the Americans all along the line, save for one concession, through the grace of which it is hoped to excuse this shameful capitulation. Through the treaty Mr. Chamberlain signed with Mr. Hay Canada is compelled to accept the decision of the tribunal and to submit to the voice of the majority. In a word, Chamberlain has given it up in the neck. He was the whole machine. He issued his instructions before he left the colonial office, he refused to heed the protests of Canada against the personality of the American commissioners, he gave Lord Alverston his lesson and Canada was condemned before the case was heard. We have one more instance of the betrayal of our interests to add to the long list of British defections. The decision of the Alaska commission is a rude blow to the cause of imperialism in Canada."

Comment of London Press.

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Few of the morning newspapers published editorial articles on the decision of the Alaska boundary tribunal. The Daily Telegraph expresses extreme satisfaction that an agreement has been reached, because failure would have dealt a blow to the policy, still in its frail and tender infancy, of referring differences of this character to arbitration. The paper hopes that no attempt will be made on either side to reckon up scores or claim a victory, but that the decision will be accepted in good faith. It adds that the Canadians must recognize it to be better not only for the Dominion, but for the empire, that Great Britain and the United States live on terms of friendship and cooperation than that in every frontier dispute Canada should get the better of the republic. Incidentally, the Daily Telegraph pays a tribute to the Associated Press' well earned reputation for the accuracy of its reports on international questions.

The Standard is of the opinion that each side in the Alaska boundary dispute got in essence what it wanted. It says the demand for good faith by one side and the denial of it by the other formed the very kernel of the controversy. "The mere concession or loss of land," continues the paper, "is of relatively small value to Canada. So long as she gets a satisfactory waterway she has not much reason for complaint."

The Daily Mail regards the decision as a most serious blow to the progress of international arbitration. It says that not even in the United States was such an ignominious climb down on the part of the British commissioners expected, nor perhaps will it be admitted. Canada has some small cause for complaint, says the Daily Mail, and the sole concession to her is an aggravation of the whole affair.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 19.—Senator Charles Fairbanks, who was the Senator of the American contingent of the United States and British High commission that met in 1885 in Quebec to take up the Alaska boundary question, is well pleased with the decision reported in the dispatches from London. In commenting on the decision tonight, Senator Fairbanks said: "The decision of the Alaskan boundary commission is highly satisfactory. It contains the entire American claim and essentially a complete justification of the position taken by the American members of the United States and British High commission in Quebec in 1885. The United States will be permitted to hold all the territory in Alaska purchased of Russia in 1867 without further dispute. Our title, which was never disputed until within the last few years, since the gold discoveries, is now quieted.

"The press report sent from London indicates that two small islands at the mouth of the Portland canal are conceded to Great Britain and that the boundary line runs along the northwest side of the islands and not along the canal at the southeast side. This is a matter about which there has been some reasonable ground of dispute. The islands are small and are known as Wales and Pease islands. They are of no great commercial importance. They were originally claimed by the United States, but if by conceding them the more important contentions of the American commissioners are granted I feel that the United States has every cause for satisfaction over the terms of the settlement."

Canadian Claim Groundless.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Governor George E. Chamberlain of Oregon, who is on a visit east, arrived in Washington tonight. The governor always takes a great deal of interest in the Alaskan boundary question, and in discussing the conclusion reached by the arbitration commission in London spoke as follows: "The object of this special meeting is the taking of some action on the patrol box system. The Nebraska Telephone company has submitted a contract and this contract has been approved by the board unofficially. At the special meeting to be held this afternoon, the board will be asked to take action on the contract. There is a general desire to see a new school house erected, and especially a high school with ample accommodations, but some business men cannot understand why the board wants to go ahead and excavate at this time of the year, when the contracts for the building have not been let."

No Meeting Tuesday Night.

There will be no meeting of the Fire and Police board on Tuesday night, as announced, on account of the absence of Chairman Vansant. Mr. Vansant said last night that he expected to return home Wednesday, and if he deemed it necessary he would call a meeting for Wednesday night. The object of this special meeting is the taking of some action on the patrol box system. The Nebraska Telephone company has submitted a contract and this contract has been approved by the board unofficially. At the special meeting to be held this afternoon, the board will be asked to take action on the contract. There is a general desire to see a new school house erected, and especially a high school with ample accommodations, but some business men cannot understand why the board wants to go ahead and excavate at this time of the year, when the contracts for the building have not been let.

Excited Over Bank Failure

Closing of International Leases Many in Sore Financial Straits.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 18.—That portion of the community doing business with the various American banks in this city has been excited over the International Bank and Trust company's failure, which had an office in New York and here. Recent rumor has pointed to trouble coming for the institution and President Hunt in an interview says that the cause of the closing was nothing more or less than enormous withdrawals of funds by depositors. Within the last week depositors took out more than $500,000.

The bank's insolvency was demonstrated on Friday, when the German Transatlantic bank of this city sent in a check for $5,000 for collection, and the International Bank and Trust company was compelled to say it had no funds to meet it. The check was sent to the bank's cashier on Saturday, hence the officials decided to close and announce voluntary liquidation. Many people are in financial distress on account of the locking up of their funds. The amount due depositors is some $200,000. All other American banks are prepared for the emergency, but any extensive lack of confidence is not anticipated.

There is some talk among American residents to the effect that all American banks would have been again presented at the San Jacinto Hall, an old and respected lawyer here, was appointed receiver of the broken bank. The bank is expected to make a detailed statement of its resources and liabilities tomorrow.

INSTALL SUCCESSOR TO WISE

Notable Gathering of Leaders of Jewish Thought Attend the Ceremony.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 19.—The installation of Dr. Kaufman Reich until the coming of New York, as successor of the late Dr. Wise, in the presidency of the Union Hebrew college, was witnessed here today by many prominent visitors. Following the installation at Mount Street temple in the afternoon there was a banquet tonight at the Cincinnati club, at which many addresses were made. Among those present were: Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago, Dr. Joseph Stolz of Chicago, Dr. Meyer Messing of Indianapolis, Rabbi I. Kline of Cincinnati, A. Hirschberg of Chicago, Morris Fewer Hite of Lafayette, Ind., W. Marcuse and E. Manheimer of Davenport and Dr. E. Cohen of Fort Wayne.

The opening invocation was by Dr. T. Schanfarber of Chicago, followed by the address of Hon. J. Bernard Bettman of Cincinnati, president of the board of governors, commending Dr. Kohler as a worthy successor of Dr. Wise, the modern leader of Judaism, and tendering him the administration of the institution.

Dr. Kohler's reply in acceptance was a vigorous acceptance of the views of Dr. Wise.

Samuel Wollner of Peoria congratulated the college on securing Dr. Kohler and pledged his support. The installation address was delivered by Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago, one of the defenders of Judaism.

CHARGES AGAINST THE AGENT

Held Responsible for the Killing of Indians on Blackfoot Reservation.

BUTTE, Mont., Oct. 19.—A Miner special from Great Falls says: As a result of the killing of seven Indians on the Blackfoot reservation a week ago by Little Plume, Miss Helen P. Clarke, former county superintendent of schools for Lewis and Clark county, has preferred charges of maladministration against Major J. H. Monteth, agent of the Blackfoot (Piegans) reservation. Miss Clarke is a daughter of Malcolm Clarke, the pioneer friend of the Piegans, who married one of the tribe and was later murdered.

Miss Clarke, in affidavits, charges that whisky is being freely sold on the reservation and that gambling is common. Miss Clarke attributes the recent massacre to Little Plume being crazed by liquor.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Board of Education Scheduled to Meet in Adjourned Session.

BIDS FOR EXCAVATING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Fire and Police Board Will Not Meet on Account of Absence of Chairman Vansant from the City.

This evening the Board of Education will meet in adjourned session, the purpose of the meeting being to receive bids for the excavating at the new high school grounds. Bids for this work will be received at the board rooms up to 8 o'clock tonight. The contractor who secures the work will be required to take up the sod and replace the same. City Engineer Beal has gone over the plans of the architect and estimates that about 6,000 yards of dirt will have to be moved. This dirt will be left on the school property for the purpose of filling in low places when the building is constructed. In these bids for excavating the Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

On the issue of $100,000 of bonds for a high school the district has received $30,000. The balance of the amount will be forwarded as needed. The city engineer has made an estimate of the cost of the excavating, but he will not make the figures public, as he wants to see what the board will bid with the bids.

There is a general desire to see a new school house erected, and especially a high school with ample accommodations, but some business men cannot understand why the board wants to go ahead and excavate at this time of the year, when the contracts for the building have not been let.

CAPTURE ALLEGED DYNAMITER

Routed by Watchman, is Followed into Mountains and Arrested by Detectives.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 19.—Imaac Gravelle was brought here tonight by a posse of Northern Pacific detectives and lodged in jail on the charge of being connected with the dynamite outrages on the Northern Pacific. Last night while a watchman was patrolling the track about fifteen miles west of Helena he ran across a man digging a hole under the rails. On being detected the man ran away and the watchman fired at him twice and missed. This morning at 7 o'clock Captain Keowan and two others took the trail of the man from the railroad track and followed it twenty miles into the mountains and finally captured the man at his cabin. He was armed with a rifle and a revolver. He said his name was Plumber, but he proved to be Isaac Gravelle, a former convict, released from the penitentiary in July. He is this kind of a detective name and viaduct ordinances now being enforced against the vacating of the streets proposed, but this will probably be placed on file. A portion of the council seems determined to push the ordinance through and intend to do so unless the court determines otherwise.

People Not Alarmed.

An uptown sheet yesterday printed an item to the effect that in case the vacating and viaduct ordinances now being enforced against the vacating of the streets proposed, but this will probably be placed on file. A portion of the council seems determined to push the ordinance through and intend to do so unless the court determines otherwise.

No Arrangements Yet.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral of Mrs. J. F. Coad, who died suddenly at her home, 901 North Twentieth street, on Saturday night. Mark Coad stated last night that some arrangements would most likely be made this forenoon. Yesterday Frank Coad received many messages of condolence from friends in Omaha, South Omaha and from out in the state, where he is well known. A large number of beautiful floral offerings were sent to the house along with messages of sympathy.

GOSSIP OF THE POLITICIANS

Republicans Are Actively and Harmoniously at Work for the Ticket.

PLAN TO ORGANIZE FOURTH WARDERS

Systematic Arrangements Made to Get Republicans on a Working Basis for Present and Future Campaigns.

Plans for the thorough organization of a working republican organization in the Fourth ward have been set on foot by N. F. Dodge, Jr., the ward chairman of the county committee. The Fourth ward at the present time has no republican club that meets regularly, and owing to the fact that it contains hundreds of young men who live in hotels and boarding houses the success for a hunting organization is obvious. The following letter explains the situation and the project in view:

OMAHA, Oct. 19.—To the Editor of the Bee: For present working of a campaign under the new primary rules it is essential that the organization of the republican party be by precinct organization, and as a natural result greater responsibility will fall upon the separate members of the new county committee than has ever been their share in former campaigns.

The chairman of the county committee has wisely subdivided the committee into ward organizations, with a ward chairman at the head of the different members of the county committee. From each ward these chairmen having been impressed with the necessity for their working up a complete and thorough organization will fall upon the chairman of the county central committee of the ward who are ready and willing to work for the ticket in the present and future campaigns, and this meeting will take place on Tuesday evening at 8 p. m. in the office of the Midland Guarantee and Trust company, 124 Van Horn street.

The Fourth ward presents a unique condition. It is the great boarding house ward of the city. It contains more young men and strangers than any other ward, and without a united effort it will be impossible to get all of these men registered for the coming election. In every city the size of Omaha there is a large class of men who have moved from the country within a short time and obtained regular employment in the city in our business offices and large department stores. These men as a rule need only a start in order to take a permanent interest in our civic life.

It is the purpose of this communication to you to ask you to join with the committee in bringing out the new element in our local politics by advertising this meeting tomorrow night and extend to every man in the ward a cordial invitation to be present at the meeting, to meet those who are already engaged in the work to become a permanent member of the republican organization in the city of Omaha. The time is now ripe for the organization of a thorough and complete republican party in the city of Omaha, without reference to past disputes or factions, and to make this organization not only for the present campaign but for those to come.

Two Men Lose Clothing

Rooms Are Entered at Night and New Suits Taken Before They Know It.

The police have a report of the entry of a room at 813 South Sixteenth street, which resulted in the loss to George Yager, the occupant, of a new suit. This suit was stolen Sunday night shortly after the home of A. C. Olson was entered and the police believe they may yet trace the commission of both crimes to the same party. The residence of A. C. Olson, 246 South Tenth, was entered Sunday night and a suit of clothes belonging to Mr. Olson taken. The report to the police stated that the burglar effected an entrance through a rear window which he found unfastened and raised several inches. He did not take time to lower the window, which indicates to the police that he left the house in a hurry.

Bankers Reach the Coast

Nebraska Delegation Among the First to Arrive at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 19.—The delegates to the twenty-ninth annual convention of the American Bankers' association are beginning to arrive, and it is estimated that by Tuesday evening 2,000 bankers, women and guests will be here. The first special of ten cars arrived this morning. It was chartered by John F. Hamilton of Hooper to bring out 113 of his financial friends, fifteen of whom are wives of bankers. To the train was attached the special car of George A. Boggs, treasurer of the Rock Island railroad, carrying a party of New York bankers. In addition to the special 109 bankers and their ladies came in on regular Pullmans.

A special carrying 300 bankers from Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska reached here at midnight, also a New York Central special that carried a New York delegation.

All the visitors were met up the road by members of the local reception committee.

Chairman C. C. Bullard of the democratic city committee has called a meeting of the organization at the Jacksonian club rooms Wednesday night to fill vacancies in the school board ticket. It might be called a renomination meeting, as three of the five "nominees" have resigned and declined the empty honor of competing for a place on the Board of Education. The first man to pull out was James B. Sheean, the bachelor railroad attorney, who knows nothing about children and schools, and doesn't hesitate to admit it. Alfred Millard, another Fourth warder, quit and pulled out, an old Frank Harkley, who when he retired from the council declared he was out of political life for good.

According to Chairman Bullard the reason the two last named resigned was because of "the lack of insufficient time to make the campaign and for being nominated without consultation." No names are mentioned by the democrats by means of which they hope to make the ticket whole. City Clerk Elbourn has not yet received the sworn resignations of Millard and Harkley, and will not drop their names from the ballot until he does.

I said a democrat Monday who played a prominent part in the city campaign: "There is at least one man on the democratic county ticket certain of defeat, though he is ranked as one of the strongest nominees. That man is Frank J. Broadwell. He will not get the mandated support of his party, because a powerful part of that party is determined to beat him. The friction came about because some of Broadwell's appointees fought the democratic ticket in the municipal campaign last spring. Mr. Broadwell has been asked to assure certain democrats that he would not reappoint these men and to put certain others in their places, but he has declined.

"For this reason a quiet war on Broadwell has been declared, and unless I am far wrong he will lack the necessary votes to give him the district court clerkship again."

The Danish vote, also, is said to have an axe ready for Mr. Broadwell. It is alleged that in the last campaign he promised to appoint a Dane to a place in his office and then failed to do so.

City Engineer Rosewater and Mrs. Rosewater have gone to Ann Arbor, Mich., where their son, Stanley, is ill with typhoid fever. They will remain at his bedside until the crisis is passed. Last week the young man, who had just entered the University of Michigan, wrote that he was sick. The letter alarmed his parents and Friday night they left for Ann Arbor. Their fears were found to be warranted when the illness developed into typhoid.
