-CITY HONORS DEAD HEROES

Through Mayor Moores and Others Omaha Pays Tribute to Four Firemen.

FORMAL RESOLUTIONS ARE ADOPTED

Mayor, in His Address, Brings Out the Fact that Twenty-Two Were Killed in Past Twenty-Five Years.

In public testimonial of sorrow for the Seath of four firemen Thanksgiving day morning the city council met in formal session Friday afternoon and adopted suitable resolutions. Rev. T. J. Mackay began the meeting with a prayer. Addresses were made by Mayor Moores and Commisstoner of Fire and Police W. D. McHugh. W. F. Gurley pronounced an eulogy. During the meeting the offices in the city hall were closed. A large crowd was present.

"I have intense admiration for the heroes of the fire department," said Mayor Moores. "To my mind there are three classes of heroes-the soldier, the fireman and the locomotive engineer. None is braver than the other. But I have a special admiration for the fire boys and I love them because I see their noble work every day-noble, notwithstanding the fact that they make their living by the occupation. In connection with this sad affair I am glad to say the citizens have responded promptly to the call for relief for the widows and families. Omaha has been very unfortunate in losing firemen. In the last twenty-five years twenty-two men have been killed while performing their duty. The list is

Mr. McHugh Speaks. Commissioner McHugh said:

"Representing the Board of Fire and Police Commissioners, I wish to pay public testimony as to the worth and faithfulnes of the firemen whose loss we deplore. The were in the service of the city for varying periods, one for eight years and none much less than two years. It is but a plain duty to state that the records of the Fire and Police board show that during the time these men were on the rolls not a single charge was lodged against them. They were not negligent in the performance of their duty, guilty of misconduct of any kind and it is proven that they were faithful in discharging small duties as well as fearless and brave in great emergencies Their glory is as great as can come to any man, because they did their full duty and paid the full brice."

The resolutions adopted were as follows Resolutions Adopted.

City of Omaha, Council Chamber—Propeedings in memoriam for Herbert C. Goldborough, William Burmester, Leroy Lester and William Barrett.

Be it resolved by the city council of the city of Omaha, That it is with the most profound sorrow that we and the entire people of this community learned of the death, with its sad surroundings, of Herbert C. Goldborough, Leroy Lester. William Burmester and William Barrett, late members of the Omaha fire department, that occurred on the morning of November 25, 1963, while making an heroic effort to save the building and the vast stores of merchandise therein contained of Allen Bros., corner of Ninth and Jackson streets, this city. QUEER SORT OF PROHIBITION Features of New Hampshire's New Liquor Law and Its Blacklist Provisions. When the state of New Hampshire repealed the prohibition law and adopted a new statute governing the sale of liquor it was understood that thereafter a shrine to Bacchus might be set up here and there at which a consuming thirst might be reasonably assuaged. At least this was the clear intent of the lawmakers. Fancy their surprise, therefore, to discover that the new law has been so interpreted as to introduce a sort of prohibition compared with which the old style was a liberal license.

Ex-Governor Goodell is now clothed with the authority of a justice of the peace. He is not only a teetotaler, but one of those who believe that because they don't drink no one else should. He finds that under the law it is left to the discretion and judgment of the magistrates to determine what persons shall not be permitted to secure liquor at the saloons.

In Mr. Goodell's judgment liquor is bad for anyone, and so he has set out to apply the law as he thinks it should be enforced. Starting with the town of Hillsboro he has Mr. Graham said: presented its lone saloon keeper with a blacklist which includes all the voters of the town. Of course, the men thus posted are protesting vigorously, but Mr. Goodell remains firm. He has begun to run a little prohibition game of his own, and he proposes to keep it up until every part of the state has been covered.

When he gets into the cities his blacklist will be the city directory; in the smaller towns he will use the voters' lists. And if he should succeed the situation in that as possible state will be something like this: Saloon keepers may open their bars, well stocked with liquors, but citizens whose names happen to be on the voters' list or in the di rectory cannot buy a drink in New Hamp shire. The casual visitor or commercial traveler will have to do all the drinking. And we may fance the feelings of the thirsty native who watches the casual visitor getting artificially intoxicated, while he is bound han! and foot by Magistrate Goodell's blacklist. Could Tantalus have in the night school, against twenty-nine been given any worse torture than this?-

A Month at My Risk.

With me it is a risk of $5.50, the price of six bottles of Dr. Shoop's Restorative. I will ask the druggist near you to let you use the Restorative a month on trial. He will not complain, for I will tell him to bill the cost to me if it fails in your case.

Just take the Restorative a month, then decide for yourself.

If you say to the druggist, "it did not help me," that relieves you of all expense. But you won't say that.

You will be glad to say, like thousands have said and are saying, "It is the greatest remedy I ever used.

Live Stock Exchange Makes Stringent Rules for Its Members.

UNFAIR COMPETITION ALLOWED

To Abolish Resident and Traveling Solicitors, Free Telephone and Telegraph Messages and Free Meals Partly.

At a meeting of the South Omaha Live Stock exchange held yesterday, this rule was adopted and takes effect at once: "No member of this exchange who engaged in the live stock business shall be allowed to use his partners or his employes who are now or shall hereafter become engaged in some other business to solicit or influence shipments of live stock to his commission firm. Any violation of this rule shall be punishable as provided for in rule 9, section 1." Following the adoption of the above rule the exchange took up the discussion of the recommendations made at the Fort Worth convention. The recommendation to abolish both resident and traveling solicitors was concurred in, as was also the recommendation pertaining to free telegrams and telephone messages. As for the free meal recommendation, the exchange concurred in that with the exception that the right was reserved to take shippers to dinner if the members so desired. These three recommendations will come up for a vote and final disposition at a meeting of the exchange to be held on Monday at 2 p. m. While yesterday was the date set for nominating officers it was decided to postpone this matter until Friday, December 11.

Report Cards Issued.

Principal Graham of the South Omaha High school wishes to announce to patrons of this school that the monthly report cards were given to the pupils yesterday.

"Recently a number of complaints reached me that parents were not receiving the monthly report cards, Inquiry shows that the cards were given the pupils, but for some reason were not shown the parents. At first the parents thought that the failure to receive cards was neglect on the part of the corps of teachers in the high school. I want to correct this impression. Report cards are issued as soon after the close of the school month

The high school now has 284 pupils.

Omaha View Club Has a Nice Neigh borly Jangle Over a Street Settlement of Macedonian Question May Involve More Than Russia and Austria.

The Omaha View Improvement club had one of the liveliest sessions of its history last night. The trouble grew out of th report of the street committees, which had been directed to see if some relief could not be given Mrs. Lyon's property on Maple street, that had been damaged by a fill in the street to such an extent that her property is badly flooded during heavy rains. The committee, through its chairman, Mr. Olson, reported that arrange ments had been about concluded whereby Mrs. Lyons was to obtain the relief asked, and had wanted the club to vote on the proposition as to whether the members favored having the dirt removed from in front of her property. Before the vote was another Macedonia uprising in the spring. put, Dan Callahan, president of the club, esigned the chair to Vice President Frank Forbes, stating that he wished to speak on the proposition.

Chairman Olson, of the street committee, charged Mr. Callahan with being opposed to the proposition, and that he had on Monday last threatened to enjoin the removal of the dirt at this location as it would work an injury to his property, and this started the fun. Mrs. Lyons, the aggrieved party, ac cused Callahan of double dealing in the matter, and was supported in the statement by Olson and a wordy wrangle ensued. Callahan maintained that his property would be greatly damaged by any attempt to change the grade of the street, and stated that he had already paid over $2,000 to put his property in shape from former grades on Maple street, which he thought was about his share and that he could not submit to any further changes in the grade, even though Mrs. Lyons' property was damaged. Olson charged Callahan with signing the petition for the former lowering of the grade, and that he had been partly reimbursed for what damages he had sustained. This Mr. Callahan indignately denied and then came charges and counter charges of double dealing and unfairness. Compliments were exchanged and it required the peaceable offices of several of the members to quiet the matter down. Mr. Callahan left the room with the observation that his relations with the club ended there and forever. The incident had a rather cooling effect on the remainder of the meeting, but the regular order of business was resumed. The club went into a committee of the whole to discuss the building proposition and it was finally decided, after some discussion, to leave its further consideration for a special order of business at the meet ing of the club to be held December 18. On that same evening the annual election of officers will take place, and it was decided to hold no meeting on Christmas night.

The sidewalk committee reported that repairs had begun on the sidewalk near the brick kiln property. Home desultory talk was had on the park and boulevard question, but nothing definite was decided upon and the club adjourned.
