DIGS INTO DRAINAGE MATTER Coming Meeting at Iowa State Agri cultural College Proposes to Draw It off.

AMES, Ia., Dec. 24.-(Special.)-Arrangenents have been made for an exhaustive investigation of drainage conditions and drainage laws of Iowa at the Drainage convention to be at the Iowa State coland 16. During the winter there will be short courses in corn judging, stock judging and butter making, to give those in attendance at the short courses an opportunity to take in the drainage convention Prof. W. H. Stevenson of the department of soils at the college has made a thorough investigation of Iowa drainage conditions and will present data of the conditions existing. John Hammill of Britt, In., and J. F. Ford of Fort Dodge, will discuss the present Iowa drainage laws, and the drainage laws of other states will be presented by C. G. Eiliott, drainage expert in the United States department

Several drainage engineers and men interested in land drainage will discuss the eeds of Iowa in this regard. Drainage laws probably will be drafted embodying the changes desired by those in attendance at the convention.

From present indications there is to be an unusually large attendance at the corn and stock judging courses January 4 to As a result of a conference yesterday is inclusive. About $5,000 in prizes, premawards in corn judging contests and corn exhibits. Several fine cattle and horses

Supreme Court Docket. The first docket of the supreme court of Iowa under the new rules was issued today. The method of getting at the cases has been radically changed, as the court will have four periods in the first term, each period being one month long. The cases from the Third district, which includes Decatur, Clarke, Adams, Union and Ringgold counties, will be called beginning January 12. The cases from the Fifteenth district, which includes Pottawattamie Mills, Shelby, Fremont and Cass counties will be called April 5. The plan is to have the cases heard and decided the same month in each and every case. Author is Penniless. David C. Bangs, claiming to be an author and a lecturer or reader, whose home is Nashville, appeared in district court here today to answer to a petition for divorce on the part of his wife, and declared that he is penniless and wholly unable to pay the allmony which she desired him to pay. She accuses him of cruelty, and he will fight the case on the ground of her desertion, alleging that she is here wholly for the purpose of securing a divorce. In his answer to her petition he further atates that she has written to him gushing letters about particular men in Des Moines to whom she went for osteopathic treatment and of the form and features and many virtues of her favorite professor; that he has received many anonymous letters telling of indiscreet acts on the part of Mrs. Bangs, all of which would excuse any charge of infidelity.

Puneral of Mrs. Cummiss. The funeral of Mrs. T. L. Cummin mother of the governor, was held this afternoon from her late residence, only the family being present. The services were conducted by Rev.
